Special Notices.

☞ Card.—In consequence of the various articles which have recently appeared in the public prints, the DIRECTORS of the PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY deem it incumbent on them to announce that they have not authorized any combination with any party for the purpose of establishing higher rates of freight and passage money between the Atlantic ports and California—nor do they contemplate any such combination—their purpose being to confine their attention solely to their own business, and to the transportation of passengers and specie in the safest and cheapest manner practicable. The time consumed by land carriage across the Isthmus of Panama has been lengthened by the greatly increased bulk of the mails and the measures necessary for the safeguard of the specie. A remedy for this will be provided by the early completion of the Panama Railroad, and with this consequent saving of time the Directors have always anticipated a reduction in cost of freight and passage between California and Atlantic ports. By order of the Board of Directors.

New-York, July 1, 1853. WM. H. DAVIDGE, Secretary.

☞ Weare Wonderfully Made.—When it is known that each human being throws out several pounds of the refuse of animal matter every day, through the pores of the skin, the conditions under which these functions are placed become subjects for serious consideration. The best articles suited to insure health and vigor, to the whole animal system, are BOGLE'S HYPERION FLUID, for the hair; BEARD'S ALMONA, for removing tan and eruptions of the skin; and AMOLE, for shaving. This last is a most delicious article, and leaves the face as smooth as a piece of satin, and all of them operate to purify the skin, and to protect it against the influences of change in the climate. To be had of WILLIAM BOGLE, No. 277 Washington-st., Boston. Also, by A. B. & D. Sands, No. 100 Fulton-st; Wm. H. Cary & Co., No. 245 Pearl-st; Rushton, Clark & Co., No. 273; Ring, No. 192, and Burton & Steel, No. 433 Broadway, New-York, and by druggists generally.

JUST PUBLISHED—THE CRIMES OF THE HOUSE OF HAPSBURG AGAINST ITS OWN LIEGE SUBJECTS. By F. W. Newman. Price 37½ cents.

"Original research is excellent in calm times; but after the recent horrors it is but reasonable to expect more to the standard historians than to any new researches concerning ancient affairs. In respect to them, I have acted the part of a mere extractor and abridger from common books. On the recent events I will only say that I have taken pains to inform myself aright from the various sources. The Hungarian facts are now quite beyond dispute."

Third Edition of

THE ATTORNEY; Or, THE CORRESPONDENCE OF JOHN QUOD. ONE ILLUSTRATED VOLUME, LARGE 12MO.

THE ATTORNEY was first published in the Knickerbocker Magazine in 1841, and in 1842 was issued in book form in two volumes. The work has been out of print several years.

THE ATTORNEY is a regular story, and not a series of Sketches, as some wise Editors, who have not read the book, have styled it.—The scene is laid in New-York City, and many of the characters are drawn from real life.

SOME OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"The hero is, of course, a villain. What 'Attorney' upon the pages of a romancer, or the prompt-book of a dramatist, was ever otherwise! He is a schemer, in a Nassau-st. den, who forges a will, wherein he is himself executor and legatee, to the disinheriting of the testator's daughter. He is compelled, under the statute, to find two witnesses, and they exist in the persons of two precious rascals, who too often hunt honesty, with an intriguing pettifogger to start the game. After many triumphs, the Attorney is compelled to murder one of his witnesses, and attempts it only to fail, and discover that there is an original will (of later date than the one he used in his own) which the testator made in a distant city a few weeks before he returned home to die. The under-plot is equally stirring, and every character is elaborated with the minuteness of one who has profoundly studied and carefully estimated human nature. The Saxton purity of style and the finish of the rhetoric does no discredit to the author's name—for his initials to the opening chapter proclaim it J. John Quod, M. John T. Irving, a nephew of the humorist of Sunnyside."

[Literary World, N. Y.

"It is elegantly written—some of the characters are drawn with a power we have rarely seen equaled. Crime is pictured with a demon aspect. Suffering virtue is exhibited patient, submissive, and in death peaceful. Remorse absolutely shocks us by the horrid dance it leads its victims."

[Northern Budget, Troy, N. Y.

"The story of the plans and machinations by which the dishonest lawyer sought to defraud his client of his patrimony, form a train of incident complete with interest, and furnish a masterly delineation of character."

[Daily Advertiser, Detroit, Mich.

"To be original without absurdity, and spirited without exaggeration, are not easy achievements—yet the author of 'The Attorney' has succeeded in doing both, and will be read with delight by all who can find pleasure in lively and skilful delineations of character drawn from all conditions of town life, by a writer well in good humor with mankind, as few men indite in these days of rapidity and rapidity of composition."

[John G. Saxe, Editor of Sentinel, Burlington, Vt.

"There can be no manner of doubt as to the merits of the work; it is thoroughly American, and great ability is perceptible on every page."

[Evening Chronicle, Pittsburg, Pa.

"Such a book will be a great relief to those especially whose daily duty it is to dive into the mysteries of the common law, and to unravel the intricacies of Chitty's Pleadings."

[Republican, Savannah, Ga.

"It is full of humor, and as a composition infinitely above seven-eighths of the modern works of fiction."

[Dollar Newspaper, Philadelphia, Penn.

"It is from the pen of a relative of the first of living American writers, and not unworthy the pen of the author of the Sketch Book. The author is a man of keen perception, and throughout the work, never allows the attention of the reader to flag. Such a book-maker will not be allowed to remain idle."

[Golden Rule, N. Y.

"Upon a repersusal, after years of forgetfulness, we find the language as quaint, rich, racy, and amusing, as is to be found in the works of the elder Irving. Besides, the plot increases in interest as the story progresses, until, like the best works of fiction, it becomes absorbing."

[Daily Times, Louisville, Ky.

"It is an ingeniously-plotted, handsomely expressible, well-sustained tale, containing some exquisite passages, and pleasant throughout with real feeling. We can honestly say we like the book."

[Morning Express, Buffalo, N. Y.

"There are few of our later publications which comprise a greater degree of stirring incident, or exhibit a more enviable literary power and talent."

[Journal, Beloit, Wis.

"The Attorney furnishes its author, a nephew of Washington Irving, an opportunity of portraying some of the absolute horrors to which law and lawyers are sometimes subservient."

[American Courier, Philadelphia, Penn.

"The story is deeply interesting, and the style admirable. It is a work that can be read over and over again with renewed pleasure."
