JUL -5 1921

Story by Ward Hayes and Frank Kingsley

Directed by Ward Hayes

©CIL 16731

"While New York Snores"

One-reel Star Comedy

Featuring BILLY FLETCHER

DOWN in Chinatown things are as quiet as a church yard until Billy, who is a stranger in the city, happens along. Just then a white girl runs out of one of the houses followed by two Orientals. In attempting to rescue the girl, Billy is made the target for a small-sized mob, and an interesting riot is in progress when he is hit on the head with a club.

He dreams that he is taken a prisoner and thrown into the dungeons of a Chinese tong. Seeing the girl in another room, he attempts to reach her, but the way is barred by two Chinese guards armed with battle axes.

The next thing he knows he is dropped through a trap door, and is engaged in another fight with the guards. He goes down under the blow from one of the clubs, but is immediately yanked to his feet again.

Opening his eyes, he sees two cops holding him up, and the small street is deserted. They send him home and advise him to seek his excitement further uptown.

This document is from the Library of Congress
"Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, 1912-1977"

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004

Class M Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress