OCT 12 1921

©CLL 17087

"ROUGH SEAS"

By Hal E. Roach.

This comedy tells the story of the unsuccessful love affair of Gaylord Lloyd and Beatrice La Plante. the girl's father seems to object. An elopement is planned, with the girl dressed in boy's clothes, and the two young people successfully elude the irate parents. As they are making their escape, they find seclusion among the wharves on the water-front. Here a pirate drew is seizing candidates for deck-work on their ship, and the two elopers fall into their hands. Many amusing situations follow when the ship puts out to sea, until a terrific storm comes up. The ship is wrecked and Gaylord and the girl find themselves on a desert island. Eventually the father arrives for hisdaughter and completely spurns the advances of his aspiring son-in-law. An uproarious comedy finish brings the offering to a laughable close.

This document is from the Library of Congress
"Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, 1912-1977"

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004

Class M Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress