Synopsis [illegible]

DAVE MARTIN [illegible] conscientious [illegible] receiving tell[illegible] offices of a Wall St[illegible] erick Vibart, whose [illegible] Adele, is married to [illegible] of the office. Dave [illegible] home to dinner. Whi[illegible] in another room, Vibart ma[illegible] advances to Adele which are pointedly ignored by her. She dare not say anything to her husband, for she fears to jeopardize his standing at the office.

The following Saturday Adele and Dave leave for a vacation. Despite Adele's protestations that he has chosen too elaborate a hotel, Dave insists on spending much more than she thinks he can afford. Immediately after Dave's departure from the bank a shortage of $50,000 is discovered. Circumstances point to Dave [illegible] he is arrested and in his possession are several thousand dollars and the wrapper that was around the lost money.

He is given a third degree by the detectives, but refuses to account for the possession of the money except to say he won it on a ho[illegible] He is sentenced to one ye[illegible] prisonment. After his depar[illegible] Sing Sing, Adele is offered h[illegible] job as Vibart's secretary, which [illegible] accepts.

A year later, on the ev[illegible] Dave's release, he sees Adele and Vibart in a news reel which is being shown in the prison recreation center. He suspects the worst and is confirmed in this belief by the fact that his wife's letters to him have become very infrequent. He is discharged from prison the next day, and, with jealous rage spurring him on, sets out to wreak vengeance on Adele and Vibart.

He is followed by a detective who hopes to locate the missing money. He arrives just in time to see Adele leave the bank to meet Vibart on the boat which is to take them both to Buenos Aires.

He follows her and sees her meet Vibart. As the pair step aboard, Dave rushes forward to attack Vibart. Adele sees him coming and, seizing Vibart's grip, rushes to meet her husband, who is still being followed by the detective. Adele hysterically tries to explain to Dave, while Vibart, seeing he has been double-crossed, attempts to escape, but is caught by the detective.

Adele explains she has "landed" Vibart. The bag is opened and in it is found the stolen money. She explains she knew of Vibart's hatred, because she had refused his attentions in the office prior to her marriage; that she had woven a web 'round him and brought him to the point of fleeing the country with her, to obtain the money, risking her husband's faith in her by doing so. Vibart goes to jail, Dave is given Vibart's place and once again the couple are happy together in their little home.
