High Life

Two-reel Century Comedy

Featuring* HARRY SWEET

HARRY SWEET, the owner of one of those trick Fords, goes a-courting in it. The innocent victim of his "Fordish" whim happens to be Bartine Burkett, and not having the heart to refuse—she accompanies Harry on his "rattling" good ride.

During the journey his Disney flies from the car, and lands among some steel girders. As he advances toward the hat, he steps on one of the steel beams—and up it goes with Harry hanging on for dear life. It carries him far above the dizzy street level, and there he involuntarily becomes one of the "high lifers."

Bartine, tiring of her long wait for Harry, looks among the steel girders for her lost lover. And as she steps upon a girder—it rises! She joins her "Sweet-y" up among the clouds, and it is there that a minister is sent them so that they can safely be married. After several hairbreadth escapes Harry and Bartine return to earth as man and wife.
