©CIL 17798 DOWN AND OUT. APR 27 '22

By Hal E. Roach

"Snub" is in the fruit business, but the continued raids of the small boy and others not so small but garbed with the uniform of official duty make life a burden. In revenge Snub puts on a uniform which does not belong to him and attempts to do likewise with the result that he finds himself pursued and after hot-footing it for many blocks, takes refuge in a little hall where revival meetings are being held. Here he finds temporary safety and comfort in the presenceof a sweet faced Sister. The sound of the organ and the plaintive voices of the singers (Snub and the Sister) create a feeling of home-sickness in the breasts of a number of the worlds' strays in an adjacent cafe, and the revival meeting place is soon filled to overflown. In retaliation, the cafe proprietor seeks official assistance for the return of his vanished trade and an officer is called in; and as chance would have it, the officer is the one who had pursued Snub. Love of worldly things and attempts to drown care are quickly dispelled and the revivalists and Snub win out.

This document is from the Library of Congress
"Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, 1912-1977"

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004

Class M Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress