OCT -9 '22 ©CLL 18289

"DOCTOR JACK"

Story by: Hal Roach - Sam Taylor and Jean Havez

Dr. Ludwig von Saulsbourg had a good thing. The good thing was the father of the Sick-Little-Well-Girl. Ever since a slight illness the eminent physician had been the family doctor and he faithfully saw to it that the girl would not get well but would continue under his care with a substantial return for himself. The family lawyer suspected the doctor's game and sent for a young friend of his, Doctor Jack. This young physician believed in restoring health more by sunshine tre than by medicine. An accidental encounter previous had brought Doctor Jack and the Sick-Little-Well-Girl together, but both were equally surprised upon the meeting in the sick room. And both already were attracted to one another to no small degree. While making an examination of the patient, after breaking all the rules of Doctor von Saulsbourg, Doctor Jack accidently placed a kiss upon the girl's lips, resulting in her father telling the young man it would be necessary for him to leave the houshold in the morning. Hardly had this happened when a guard from a nearby institution appeared breathlessly and announced that a violent lunatic had escaped. The Sick-Little-Well-Girl immediately became animated and the color of roses filled her cheeks. Doctor Jack noticed this--excitement--that was what she needed. And so, by means of an oddly constructed make-up, terrible to look at, Doctor Jack became the lunatic and set the entire household upside down. His gyrations made the patient become an entirely different person. Doctor von Saulsbourg was frightened to death and begged to leave. The result was--after numerous hair-raising antics--the Doctor Jack's methods were of such a quality that not only did the young lady become ~~without~~ a new person, but also could not do without her new doctor--and father approved.

This document is from the Library of Congress
"Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, 1912-1977"

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004

Class M Finding Aid:
https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress