THE INVADERS.

1.(7) In America's early history life was just one invasion after another.

2.(9) They each took a sock at the first American, the noble red man, who never had a chance.

3.(9) Times have changed. But the invader still comes seeking conquest and glory.

Meadow Brook, L.I.

4.(11) In place of the Indian he finds our great pale-face garrison, 100,000,000 strong, ready to defend all fields.

5.(7) British Pole invaders ride "hell-for-leather", but they ride in vain.

6.(4) Hand-to-hand struggles, but all in fun -

7.(5) The Prince of Wales sees his countrymen turned to rout.

8.(6) The Indians had no "Big Four" riding in the nation's defense.

9.(10) Australia sends her great veteran, Norman Brookes, upon a 12,000 mile assult.

Longue Vue - Hastingson-Hudson/C

(Note to factory-- this title tobe made over on account of wrong spelling of location-- should be Hastingson-Hudson instead of"Hasting " as infilm)

10.(9) France, one of the first invaders, storms our ramparts now with a volley of tennis balls.

11.(8) Jean Borotra, one of the most picturesque of the over seas talent, tries his luck,

12.(3) Something new in service form -

13.(14) Spain was one of the early invaders with a wallop in either mitt. Today Manuel Alonzo plants his king's standard on our tennis courts.

THE INVADERS.

14.(6) He comes with skill and valor but the charge is driven back.

15.(10) They come with man and horse. Epinard's hoof-beats sound their challenge on the track.
Belmont Park.

16.(5) Repulsed, still a loser after four attempts.

17.(10) England, our chief opponent in old days of war, is still our main invader in games of peace.
Philadelphia, Pa.

18.(9) The "Incogniti" made up of her leading cricket stars, attack the Philadelphia Cricket Club team.

19.(4) It is now the battle of friendly enemies.

20.(7) Cyril Tolley led British golf in the last drive for the Walker Cup.
Merion, Pa.

21.(9) The Babe Ruth of the links fired his heavy artillery but it failed to break through.

22.(3) But Blooie -- how he can sock!

23.(14) Back in another century we had many a merry party with the British Men-o-War. Now the contest is a matter of hull designing.
City Island, N.Y.

24.(7) They came with their six-metre yachts, the sportiest craft afloat.

25.(7) Chasing the international trophy over the blue seas.
Long Island Sound.

26.(4) Here it was nip and tuck to the finish.

27.(4) But the British at last did some nipping.

28.(9) Sport leads on to friendship. But the defense must be ready for war as well as peace.

29.(3) At sea as well as on the land.

30.(4) In the sky above home waters and home soil.

31.(16) But some day the big guns will be spiked and the only invaders will come to prove their skill and valor upon the friendly fields of sport and fellowship and peace.

32.(3) THE END.
