

AFCCC-LOWLA

Lowlands of Holland

Collection

Selected and converted. American Memory, Library of Congress.

TextRobertson, Sidney [md] collectorGraham, George Vinton [md] singerAsmussen, Ella [md] transcriber of textRecorded at San Jose, CaliforniaDecember 1938Lowlands of HollandUC WPA Disk
No. 4E-A2

Lowlands of HollandI had just got into my bed;I had not been asleep,When there came a noble captain.He stood at my bed feet,Saying, "Arise you jolly rovyer,Arise and go with meTo the Lowlands of HollandTo fight mit Germany." "Oh, oh, my dearest daughter,Why mourn and so lament?Ain't there lords enough in Galloway.Could give your heart content?" "Yes, there's lords enough in Galloway,But there is none for me,For I never had but one true love,And he's drowned in the sea."He is drowned in the salt, salt sea,And he has left me here behind.'Tis enough to break a fair maid's heartWho was lately been a bride.That so lately been a bonny, bonny bride,So charming to behold.In the Lowlands of Holland,My love lies dead and cold." "Oh, oh, my dearest daughter,Why mourn and so lament?Ain't there lords enough in GallowayCould give your heart content?" "Yes, there's lords enough in Galloway,But there is none for me,For I never had but one true love,And he's drowned in [the?] sea."No chain shall go about my neck,No comb go through my hair,No fire bright or candle lightShall evermore shine there.They sailed into Holland,As I have heard them say;In the Lowlands of Holland,Their ship was cast away." 1 Page 1. When you [??] [are gone baby?] This [? type an erra Pardon?] on onion skin[.] [mark it for?] Mrs. McDonald & put on [my?] desk[.] SR 4E A2

LOWLANDS OF HOLLAND.

This song as near as I know is the LOWLANDS OF HOLLAND. [Me?] My sister [md] I canremember my sister and brother use to sing it at school when I was verysmall. They had an old song book that they called the "Song King" and Ithink they took [md] I think they got this song [out??] of it. I'm not sure, but itgoes something like this:

I had just got into my bed [;?] I had not been asleep , When there [came?] [an?] a old wolf noble ?
captain.He stood it my bed feetSaying, "Arise you jolly roveur,Arise and go with meTo the Lowlands of HollandTo fight with mit Germany."[

He rovyer rovyer

?] " OH! Oh! my dearest daughter,Why mourn and [??] [in them?] so lament? Ain't there lords [enough in?] [?] [Galloway?] Could give your hear heart content? " Yes, there's lords enough in [Gullaway?]

Galloway, But there is none for me , For I never had but one true loveAnd he's drowned drowned in the sea. ["]

[?] [67?] [check with?]?

2 Page 2. LOWLANDS OF HOLLAND.["?]He is drowned drowned in the [Salt salt ,Salt salt Sea sea, ?]And [he has?] left me here behind[.?"Tis enough to break a fair maid's heartWho was lately but been a bride[?]That [so?] lately beer ? [a?] bonny bonny bride, A bonnie, bonnie bride[?] So So charming to behold.In the Lowlands @f Holland , My love lies dead and cold.[" ?] " Oh, oh, my dearest daughterWhy mourn and ? of them[.] so lament? Ain't there lords enough in [Galloway?] y[?] Could give your heart content? " " Yes, there's lords enough in [Galloway?] ? But there is none for me , For I never had but one true love , And he is he's drowned drowned in the sea. " No chain shall go about my neck , No comb go through my hair , No fire bright or candle lightShall evermore shine there[. # ?]They [sailed sail'ed ?] it to home into Holland As I have heard them say,In the Lowlands of HollandTheir ship was cast away. "

Lowlands of Holland