"THE UNUSUAL COMEDY"

"HER MAJESTY THE WIDOW"

Concerns an aristocratic Widow with a sense of humor, who displays her shrewd diplomacy in protecting her son from the enchantment of a Gold Digger. The Son, Robert, being an impressionable young man, is swept away by his infatuation for a scheming platinum blonde, who sees in the lad a solution to her momentary troubles. To save her son for the charming young girl to whom he is engaged, the Mother calls in an old admirer for assistance. This only complicates matters more. But in the end "HER MAJESTY THE WIDOW" Reigns Supreme.

FROM THE AUTHOR TO YOU

In all sincerity I can say that I think the Play was done better from every angle than it was originally. May I have the pleasure of congratulating and commending those who were responsible in giving the play its gorgeous surroundings and splendid rendition.

Sincerely Yours,

JOHN CHARLES BROWNELL,

Author.
