

YOU HAVE BEEN READING ABOUT THESE PERSONS AND SCENES IN THE NEWS

(Photographs by Underwood & Underwood, International Film Service and Central News Service.)

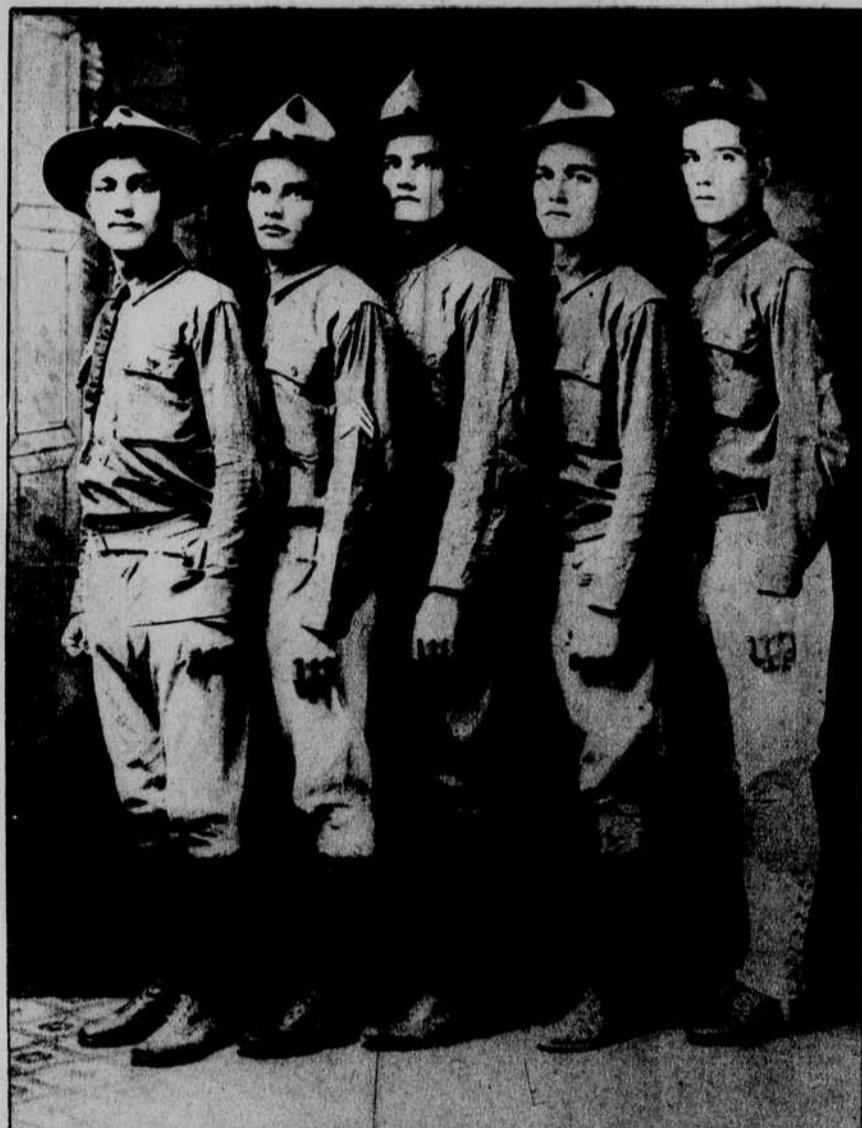

The Japanese Commission as It Came to Washington. Left to Right, Commander M. Ando, M. Hanihara, I. Takeshita, K. Ishii, A. Sato, M. Nagai and S. Tamkawa. This Photograph Was Made in Front of August Belmont's Home in Washington, Where the Distinguished Visitors Are Housed.

Two German Leaders of Whom America Now Is Hearing Much. At the Left, Matthias Erzberger; at the Right, Karl Helfferich.

This 16-Year-Old Girl, Miss Lucille Meusel of Green Bay, Wis., Called the "Khaki Kid," Won the Women's Trapshooting Match at Chicago with a Score of 46 Targets in a Possible 50.

A Mother of German Descent, Mrs. Strickland of Houston, Tex., Gives Five of Her Six Boys to the War, Including the Two Sets of Twins, Aged, Respectively, 19 and 25. The Other Son Is 21.

King George of Late Has Been Seeing Things at First Hand, Both in France and in England. Here He Is Enjoying a Call Upon the Pet of the Red Cross Hospital at Netlev.

The Head of the Belgian Commission, Baron Moncheur, Has a Chat with "the Colonel" on the Lawn of the Roosevelt Home at Oyster Bay.

When the Dancing Teachers Held Their Convention Recently in a New York Hotel They Performed a Lot of Unusual Stunts, Not the Least of Which Was This Rather Perilous Balancing Feat on the Edge of a Roof "Several Miles Above the Street."