Lynch Law in Colorado.
The hideous affair at Lake Station, Col., where the negro Preston Porter was surrendered by the authorities to a mob of "best citizens," is of course open to condemnation as a violation of law, but in several ways the crime was more than a mere violation of law. Its most revolting feature was its medieval barbarity, and its worst effect will be its degrading influence upon society at large. The horrible character of Porter's crime and the fact that Colorado has no death penalty might have been pleaded in extenuation had the mob contented itself simply with the execution of the criminal. Even then the plea would be of doubtful force, since a people who have legislated against the death penalty naturally should be the last to try to enforce it without warrant of law. But the Colorado mob was not content with killing the criminal; it chose to follow the methods of the boxers and inflict prolonged torture upon him. The man was taken from the unresisting sheriff and burned, not by a mob acting under the spur of a present provocation, but deliberately and in accordance with a carefully prearranged programme. Arrangements for the torture were perfected with as much care as a jailer builds a scaffold, and it is unpleasantly significant that none of the onlookers seems to have sickened at the spectacle which followed.

It will be urged by the defenders of the act that it will have a powerful effect in deterring other criminals from repeating Porter's dastardly crime. That is by no means certain. Few criminals like Porter ever expect to be caught. Men of his stamp belong to the irrational class of creatures who rarely reason from cause to effect or plan their present acts with a view to future possible consequences. But even conceding that the scene at Lake Station might have some exemplary effect, how about its effect on society in general? Setting aside the legal phases of the question the Colorado mob, instead of applying an effective remedial agency for the suppression of crime, has merely followed one criminal performance with another. It has added to the degrading fact of Porter's crime the intolerable spectacle of an entire community engaged upon the infliction of torture.

The brutalizing effects of a few repetitions of the affair at Lake Station would have an influence which no number of crimes upon the part of individuals could exert.
What is the state of Colorado going to do with its white savages?—Chicago Record.

Civil Service Examination.
The United States civil service commission announces that on December 12, 1900, an examination will be held at Tucson, Nogales, Phoenix and Prescott, Arizona, for the position of railway mail clerk in the eighth railway mail division.
This examination is open only to legal residents of Arizona. All such persons who can comply with the requirements are invited to apply, and such applicants will be examined, graded and certified with entire impartiality and wholly without regard to any consideration save their ability as shown by the grade attained in the examination.
Persons who desire to compete should at once apply to the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C., for application form 304 and a copy of the manual of examinations. The application should be properly executed and promptly filed with the commission.

Two years ago the people of North Dakota adopted a constitutional amendment to permit the establishment of the state dispensary system of supplying liquors, after the South Carolina method. This year, by a large majority, the people have repealed it.

A Philadelphia "Joke."
Here is an extract from a police court report in the Philadelphia Telegraph:
"Thirty days for illegal voting—no, vagrancy," said the magistrate, with a smile. "Wait a minute. What ticket did you vote—republican or democratic?"
"Republican," replied Rouse, promptly.
"Oh, that's different. I'll reduce that sentence. Ten days," said the magistrate, amid the laughter of the court room.
That's what they consider a joke in ring-ridden Philadelphia.

A Long Time Coming.
Geo. Hamlin, the well known mining man of this city, received a letter on Sunday from the dead letter office, at Washington, which letter was written to him Nov. 24, 1868, nearly 32 years ago. It was addressed to him at Fort Wallace, Kansas. At that date Mr. Hamlin was a government scout working with W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). The papers were of considerable value, one being his discharge for a previous term of enlistment. Mr. Hamlin came to Prescott late in 1868, hence the letter was returned to Washington labeled "unclaimed." As it contained papers of value it was not destroyed. Some six weeks ago he wrote to the pension department for certain information, and that letter disclosed his present address. No doubt a footnote in connection with his military record told of the old letter that for 32 years had remained without a claimant.—Phoenix Enterprise.

New Trusts to be Formed.

The announcement is now made that several new trusts are soon to be formed. The most powerful of these combinations is now being perfected. It will be known as the tin can trust and will be capitalized at $50,000,000. Those familiar with the industrial conditions in the country declare that during the last four weeks 20 other enterprises have been preparing to go into trust combinations.
Individual enterprise is fast becoming a thing of the past. The avenues of individual opportunity are being closed and unless something radical is done to stem the tide the laborer will soon find himself absolutely at the mercy of these illegal combinations, which aim at the complete abolition of all competition and the control of all industrial and commercial enterprises by one power.—Bradford (Pa.) Record.

Total Indian Population.

The census just completed shows there is a total of 134,158 Indians not taxed. The population by states shows the following distribution of the Indian population:
California, 1,549; Colorado, 597; Idaho 2,297; Minnesota, 1,768; Montana, 10,746; Nevada, 1,665; New York, 4,711; North Dakota, 10,932; South Dakota, 10,932; Utah, 1,472; Washington, 2,531; Wisconsin, 1,657; Arizona, 24,644; Indian Territory, 56,033; New Mexico, 2,937; Oklahoma, 5,927. The total Indian population in "the states" is 44,617; in the territories, 89,541. No other state or territory outside of the Indian Territory has as large an Indian population as Arizona. Furthermore, the greater portion of the Arizona Indians are self-supporting and receive no government annuities.—Native American.

Growing Demand for Silver.

Speaking of the possible future demand for silver, the London Statist says: "As the silver in the reserve is now at an irreducible minimum, the whole of the further demand for rupees will have to be met by purchase of new silver.
If India absorbed 66,500,000 ounces of silver in the past year of famine, what will it require in a year of prosperity? The world's production of silver is not much over 160,000,000 ounces and India's requirements in the past year have been equal to nearly 40 per cent of the total output.
From the closing of the Indian mints until the current year India purchases of silver were not more than about 15,000,000 per annum.
Now we have the prospect that the demand may be 60,000,000 ounces a year. It will be evident therefore, that the Indian government will be a large buyer of silver and that the price in the future will probably rule at a much higher level than it has done since the closing of the Indian mints."

Pension Commissioner Evans has lately stated that 34,000 applications for pensions on account of the Spanish American war have already come in. This number equals, says the Pittsburg Dispatch, the whole number of men we had in the field in that war. Shafter took 14,000 to Santiago, and reinforcements brought the whole number sent there to 20,000. Gen. Miles took 6000 to Porto Rico, where there was no fighting, and most of them soon returned. Merritt took 11,000 or 12,000 to Manila. These are all who went out of the country and got into the vicinity of actual war. But there were about 160,000 more who spent more or less time in camps in various parts of the country. It is improbable that the pension claims are all in yet. New claims on account of the civil war have been coming in ever since. On the other hand, not all of the claims made will be allowed at first, but the pension agents will not let them die. In one form or another they will be kept before the pension bureau or congress. The claimants on account of the Philippine war have yet to be heard from. They will probably be at least as many more as those on account of the war with Spain.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion, first soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's pain balm twice daily; rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, pain balm is unequalled. For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.
