

STROLLING ALONG

By EFFIE O'KELLEY

Music Arranger

Curtis Gray, music arranger and booking agent has been missed in the Phoenix area. He is at present, in Sacramento, working as chief arranger, for a Latin American band. They are playing during the week, mostly for theatre stage shows, and play for dances on the week ends. They made a tour of Colorado, Nebraska, and New Mexico, before going to Sacramento. Their next engagement calls for tours of Kansas City, Chicago, and Detroit, after which they will return to Sacramento. Curtis wrote that during the entire tour, he only encountered discrimination in Yuma, Arizona. That's one strike against our homestate, when a talented young man runs into difficulty finding a place to eat in Arizona. We pray that the day will soon come when intelligent proprietors will serve all, regardless of race, color, or creed.

Becky and Gus are considered among the best Junior ice skaters, and plan to take ice skating lessons in Pasadena, at the Pasadena Winter Garden for a month.

by his wife, Mrs. Ella Mae Trimble, sister of Leola Willis. The body will be sent to Dallas for Burial. Our deepest sympathy to the Willises and family.

For Gertrude My Goddaughter

Having no son or daughter whose small face might bear my face's likeness past the grave, I seek through you for that momentous grace Of memory. And, too, I seek to save For you in song the things that I desire To leave you down the years, the things I know Should swirl before you like a golden fire When you are suddenly fourteen or so.

I leave you, then, the beauty of the world; its winny hills; its nights of murmuring rain; Wise words; long laughter; and the autumn curd Brown leaves; the stars; and always in your pain The hands and eyes of love; swift roads that sweep Around blue mountains; sunsets; little towns; home; the joy of sleep; The glory of your crosses and your crowns; And so I give them, not at some brief whim, But with my heart, and hope that you may see I gave them to you with the love of Him Who made them and Who gave them all to me.

James E. Warren, Jr.

"PRAY FOR ME"

"Pray for me!" the pastor whispered

As he climbed the altar stair; "I shall preach a better sermon If your thoughts are raised in prayer!"

"Pray for me!" the sinner pleaded.

"Lest in weakness I should fall There is hope that God will help me

When He hears you earnest call!"

"Pray for me!" The cry is uttered Like a hand that reaches out, Pleading for the strength so needed

In the war with fear and doubt "Pray for me!" O brother, sister,

Yours the honor thus to serve, Bringing stores of grace to others With a faith that does not swerve.

"Pray for me!" Oh, heed the summons;

Other's burdens you may bear, And the God of all compassion Will reward you for your prayer.

BAPTIST LEADERS PLAN "JERNAGIN" MEMORIAL

The National "Who's Who" committee met in Omaha, Nebraska during the 53rd. Annual Session of the National Sunday School and B. T. U. Congress on June 20th. and made some sweeping changes in its organization. It re-named itself a more appropriate name, "The Jernagin Memorial Committee," and enlarged its scope from mere biographies of leaders as originally planned to include the following sections:

1. A Youth Section, 2. An Institutional Sectional, and 3. A Lay section.

The Committee re-affirmed its determination to publish a volume of historic significance that will be worthy of the memory of the late President of the National Sunday School and B. T. U. Congress. Dr. William Henry Jernagin, who labored so long and gave so much to the Baptist cause.

Earn all you can; save all you can; give all you can. This, I think, was John Wesley's saying. It embodies much of his shrewd sense and consecration. Some take firstly and secondly, but thirdly is too much to them; giving foes against the grain. Spurgeon
