If Republicanism be dead in this county, the Democrats will find it the biggest job they ever undertook when they attempt to bury it.

We believe that no attempt has as yet been made to establish schools upon the Maricopa and San Carlos agencies for the education of the Indians.

A little hanging of the first stage robbers caught would probably have the effect of lessening occurrences of that kind. We don't generally advise lynch law, but we must sometimes use evils to rid ourselves of others.

The Black Canyon stage robbers seem to have entirely escaped, which fact doubtless instigated the Cedar Springs robbery. Officers are in pursuit of the Cedar Springs robbers, but, of course, are not likely to come within gunshot of them.

WHAT THEY SAY OF HIM AT HOME. We clip the following extract from the Albion Chronicle, published at Albion, N. Y., Judge Porter's old home.

We are glad to hear that ex-Judge DeForest Porter heads the Republican Territorial ticket for Representative in Congress. We have long known the Judge, and can say nothing but good of him. He was born in this country, and graduated in the Can on University in the State of New York, studying law in this village with the eminent lawyers, Church & Davis. He was admitted to the bar in 1865, when he removed to Lockport, Niagara county, N. Y., and entered into the practice of his profession with great success. He was nominated for District Attorney, and ran several hundred ahead of his ticket in the election. In 1868 he formed a law partnership with Hon. Gaylord J. Clark, formerly State Prison Inspector, and opened an office in Omaha, Nebraska, and here he was elected to the Nebraska Legislature, in which body he soon became a leader, and prominent in his opposition to the schemes of jobbery and speculation before that legislature. The Judge was appointed one of the managers on the impeachment trial of Gov. Butler, and made the closing argument for the State. He was afterwards appointed Associate Judge of Arizona, which office he held for nearly eleven years, resigning the same May 6, 1882.

The Judge is a man of quick perception, unswerving integrity and fine ability, and it would be strange, or to Arizona, as well as to Judge Porter, for him to sit in the councils of the Nation in the interest of the Territory. With his large acquaintance of the representative men in Washington, and throughout the East and West, it seems to us that he is particularly qualified to fill the high office to which he has been nominated, and if the people consult their own interest the Judge will be overwhelmingly elected.

HON. A. E. DAVIS

An Outline of His Speech at the Mineral Park Mass Meeting

We give today a few excerpts from the eloquent and able speech of Hon. A. E. Davis, at the mass meeting in Mineral Park held last night. We regret that our time and space will not permit us to quote in full: "There has never been a time in the history of Arizona when she had greater need of the best services of her best citizen to represent her at the National Capital than she has today, for Arizona is in a transition state; the construction of two great transcontinental railroads through the Territory is just commencing to do its work of revolution, and in less than two years Arizona will be transformed from an obscure Territory into a great sovereign State.

We already see what the building of the Southern Pacific railroad has done for Southern Arizona, mining districts have been opened up; population has poured in; new counties have been organized, and a stream of metallic wealth poured out and suddenly from almost no production we find Arizona today standing at the head of the list of the bullion producing States and Territories and hence of the world. (Applause.) Now, sirs, what the South rail has done for Southern Arizona the North rail will do for Northern Arizona.

Yes, sirs, the dawn of prosperity is upon us; its heralding banners of golden light are already lighting up our sister counties, and with the completion of the railroad to Wallapai valley, which will come to pass in a few months, the sunrise of a new era will be full upon us. For nearly twenty years many of us old "Hassampers" have watched and waited for this day, in full confidence of the great mineral resources of this country bringing prosperity upon us when once our isolation should be broken by the steel rail. (Applause.)

And now, fellow citizens, it is important that the agent we send to Washington should be a man who can and will be active and influential in securing to Arizona at least its fair share of appropriations for improvements, public buildings, postal facilities, and such favors from the parent Government as is wont to bestow upon the Territories and in which Arizona has been so much neglected. The choice presented you is Judge Porter, on the Republican ticket, and Hon. G. H. Oury, on the Democratic ticket. As far as either gentleman's politics are concerned it makes very little difference to us, only so far as his being a Republican or a Democrat may affect his usefulness to us at Washington. Whatever the political situation may be two years hence, none of us can tell, but we do know that for the next two years it will be Republican, and I submit to you that a representative who is in accord with and of the same political creed as the party in power has a better chance of being useful to Arizona than one who is bitter in his feeling of opposition to the party in power. So far as the two candidates' personal qualifications are concerned, I know both men. Judge Porter is a learned and polished gentleman, a man who would reflect credit upon our constituency; possessing those genial and social qualities that win friends wherever he is known, and an intelligence, eloquence and ability that will make him the peer of his associates in Congress and command the attention and respect of governmental departments. (Applause.) Fellow citizens, the Republican Convention has done me the honor to nominate me for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. I had not sought it nor did I expect it, and I say to you tonight that if I am elected I shall feel a deeper sense of responsibility to the boys and girls than I shall to you who may vote for me. Sirs, I feel an attachment, a veneration for our public schools. They have been my friend, my aim mater, and although the massive colleges and imposing institutions of learning that adorn our land from Maine to California are grand and beautiful to behold, yet the little school houses on the hill, in the valley and at the cross roads are the true jewels in America's crown. (Applause.)

The speaker then reviewed the history and status of the public schools of Arizona, and concluded by assuring his audience that if the sacred trust of caring for the public schools of Arizona should be committed to his hands that he would do his utmost to make them a faithful servant. Major L. S. Welton, joint nominee of both Democratic and Republican parties for District Councilman for Yuma and Mohave counties, was repeatedly called for by the audience and came forward and said: Ladies and Gentlemen:—We are assembled here to-night to ratify and endorse the action of our Territorial Convention, recently held at Phoenix. I hope and believe that Judge Porter will receive the almost unanimous support of the people of Mohave county. When I heard of the nomination I wanted to see the man, and his conversation today on topics which interest the people of this country, I find he fully understands our wants, is alive to the interests of the people, and in my opinion no man who votes for Judge Porter will ever have cause to regret it. Hon. A. E. Davis, who has been nominated for Superintendent of Public Instruction, I know to be a competent man for the place. You all know him. He has been an ardent worker in the cause of education, and his office in his hands will be well filled. A few years ago Arizona had only a very small population, now from a very few up to 20,000. Now this number has increased to 80,000 and upwards. Formerly our population was so small that our Delegate found it more difficult to obtain recognition in behalf of the claims of the Territory for assistance at the hands of the General Government, but during the last two to four years our population has been large enough to entitle the Territory to a great deal of consideration, and yet she has had none—why? The echo comes back to me and says, why? I answer that, in my opinion, it is for want of proper and efficient representation at Washington. The Government has always taken good care of its Territories, except Arizona; but no one obtains anything in this world without asking for it, and I do believe that if Mr. Oury had asked for a reasonable amount of assistance for the Territory the request would have been granted.
