VICTORIOUS TRANSWAAL

Captures the British Expedition.

Financial Uneasiness Over the Situation.

The Home Government Will Not Support the British South Africa Company.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 2.—Dr. Jamieson, commissioner of the British South Africa company, who marched into the Transvaal republic Tuesday, was today met near Johannesburg by a large force of Boers and defeated.

Jamieson's forces consisted of 1,000 men, largely Kafirs, with six Maxim guns. His mission was ostensibly, to make a demonstration before Pretoria, the Transvaal capital, for the purpose of securing equal political privileges in the Transvaal for British subjects with the citizens of the republic.

The Boers had been expectant of the raid and a large force was in readiness at Johannesburg under General Joubert. The attack of the Boers was in the nature of a surprise and a sharp engagement resulted in the rout of the British column and the capture of a large part of its strength, as well as the cannon.

LONDON Jan. 2.—The Colonial office has received a confirmation of the reported defeat of Dr. Jamieson. After sustaining a great loss of life he surrendered. Secretary of state for the colonies Chamberlain, telegraphed President Kruger asking for generous treatment for the prisoners and wounded.

Secretary of state for the colonies, Chamberlain, has issued the following statement regarding the events in the Transvaal: "The high commissioner is leaving Cape Town this afternoon for Pretoria to deal with the situation in the furtherance of a peaceful and satisfactory settlement in obedience to my requisition.

(Signed) "CHAMBERLAIN."
The chartered company directors have telegraphed to the managing director at Cape Town directing him to immediately inform Dr. Jamieson that the company dissents from and objects to the action he has taken and requires him to return immediately to the company's hands.

THE USUAL DEFICIT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The monthly comparative statement of receipts and expenditures of the United States shows that during December the receipts aggregated $26,288,937. The figures for the first half of the present fiscal year ended December 31, shows a deficit of $15,394,707, as against $27,564,465 during the first half of last year. For the last six months the receipts from customs show an increase over the corresponding period of last year of $12,377,000. There was during the same months a loss in returns from internal revenues of about $5,276,000.

THE SUPERVISORS' CLERK.

No Choice Made to Succeed I. N. Cox.

There seems to be tribulation around the court house these days. The board of supervisors was in session yesterday, the first meeting of the new year, and made great destruction in the piles of county bills that awaited their attention. Assistant Clerk Brent Kirkland was the only member of the clerical force present. Clerk I. N. Cox had tendered his resignation. The reconstructed board has two Republican members and the G. O. P. is consequently now in control; Major Cox is an old-time, dyed-in-the-wool Jeffersonian Democrat. It is said his resignation was asked by Chairman Priest. Yet, somehow, the board did not accept it when it materialized and as yet there is no other clerk.

As candidates for the office there are but two individuals apparent. One is "Phil" Sheridan, late deputy county recorder, and the other is Deputy Clerk Kirkland. But there is some hitch in the business and the appointment, if there be one at all, will be made in the opaque futurity.

A TOTAL LOSS.

Quick Destruction of a South Side Dwelling.

About 2:30 yesterday afternoon the residence of W. S. Hadley on Center street, a half mile south of the city, was totally destroyed by fire, together with its contents. The loss on the building is $1,000, with insurance in the Phoenix of Brooklyn of $500; loss on contents nearly $1,000, insured in the Scottish Union for $450.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Mrs. Hadley had left the building but a few minutes before and was at a neighbor's. She states that the blaze first appeared in an inside room, wherein was a heating stove that had been in use during the morning. The house was a four-roomed frame structure and burned as would a mass of shavings. Nothing could be taken from it and the distance was too great for any results from the fire department, though an alarm was turned in and the fire companies responded.

TO MARK THE BOUNDARY

The Venezuelan Commission's Plans.

Justice Brewer Interviewed on the Subject.

Fred Coudert Chosen a Member—The Commission is to Be Entirely Unfettered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Justice Brewer, who heads the Venezuelan commission, was seen today by a representative of the Associated Press.

In response to inquiries, Mr. Brewer said he had no doubt the sessions of the commission would be held in Washington, as it was the most accessible point and moreover much of the documentary evidence, maps, etc., which would initiate the inquiry, were there.

Justice Brewer when asked if the commission was likely to go abroad to pursue its investigation, said it might, but that the state department had prepared certain features of the evidence regarded as essential and which would serve as a groundwork for the investigation. In any event, doubtless this would be gone over, and the commission would determine what further steps were required to ascertain the facts. It might be that Venezuela and England would be asked to present their respective cases. Certainly in a question of this character there would be a desire for the fullest information from all available sources. When this documentary evidence was all in hand the question might then arise as to the desirability of verifying certain features of it by a personal inspection of the original of the documents in the archives of Holland, Spain and other countries. This would involve a trip abroad and there was the possibility that it might become desirable personally to view the locality of the contention along the Guiana line.

OUR PET FIGHT.

An Independent Commission—Fred B. Coudert a Member.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—It is authoritatively stated in behalf of the administration that the Venezuela commission will be absolute master of its own procedure, fixing time and place of its meetings and determining for itself whether or not it shall go to foreign countries, what class of evidence may be taken into consideration and how the interested governments may be represented before the tribunal.

This independence of action is deemed necessary to secure the commission's finding of that degree of weight and respect among other nations that can be attained only through a knowledge that the body is free from any restraint or obligation to the United States government. Our government will occupy the status of exact neutrality in the proceedings.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Frederick B. Coudert, Jr., said today that his father had formally accepted the Venezuelan commission tendered him by President Cleveland.

The committee on foreign relations of the chamber of commerce today adopted a strong resolution appealing to the common sense of those interested in both nations to arbitrate the difficulty between the United States and Great Britain.

BREWER FOR PRESIDENT.

Kansas Brings Him Forth as a Candidate.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 2.—A special to The Star from Topeka says:

Ex-Chief Justice Albert H. Horton has entered Associate Justice Brewer in the Republican race for the presidency. He says, "He is a big man and his appointment by the president to be the head of the Venezuelan commission makes him a bigger one. It is a proper recognition of his worth. He is decidedly the biggest man Kansas has ever given to public life and you will find that he will distinguish himself in the Venezuelan investigation."

IMPRESSIONS OF PHOENIX.

What an Eastern Visitor Thinks of the City.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 2.—Approaching Phoenix from the wastes of southern New Mexico, the barren wilderness of the Pecos, and the stretches of cactus fields east of Maricopa, the stranger is not encouraged to expect much of his destination. The stories of unfortunate victims of the desert and the occasional carcasses of cattle which he can notice en route through New Mexico, along with the heat, often sicken him, and destroys what little illuminated ideas he may have had regarding the two territories.

But striking north through the 10,000 acres of waving alfalfa and corn, between Maricopa and the capital, and seeing the orange groves and semi-tropical trees of Salt River valley, his fallen estimate experiences sudden rise and his illuminated hopes re-illuminate. He is surprised to behold a metropolis of brick business houses, trim cottages, shady walks and broad smooth streets.

He sees freighters of six-in-hand, bringing bales of alfalfa into town, he hears of new enterprises, new churches, new schemes of various kind and business, all evidencing a phenomenal and steady growth in every department of life.

He meets the miner, the farmer, the capitalist and the merchant and imbibing the spirit of enterprise finds himself unconsciously interested in their affairs.

A city's future is in herself; and the wandering northerner, especially if he is a Chicagoan, feels a sort of fellowship in company with Phoenixians—feels that they are of a type like those at home and having the same bustle characteristic of the Garden City.

Personal effort of the citizen as an individual builds up the city at large. As the citizen prospers so prospers the city. Unity of purpose will do all things. Here is the territorial hub; the distributing center of Arizona; here are the moonlight nights, the sunny days, and the happy climate; here are the benefits of irrigation, and here is the future metropolis. Metropolitan by nature, born with the spirit of a Spartan, supplied at birth with the features of modern life, her history is a tale, the half of which has never been told, nor ever can be.

There is a play called "Phoenix, or Rising From the Ashes." Milton Noble plays it, it is a drama of courage and final success. And Phoenix though subject to the adversities which nurture the infancy and boister the maturity of all cities, may though risen from the ashes, and a child of the desert, become one of the first in the great sisterhood of American centers.

ADVANCING INSURGENTS.

The News That Leaks Through Spanish News Bureaus.

HAVANA, Jan. 2.—An engagement between Spanish troops and insurgents has taken place at El Estante, south of Alfonso, not far from the frontier of the province of Havana.

An official announcement says the troops captured the insurgent position, but the loss to the enemy is not known. It is admitted that two Spanish officers and four soldiers were killed and nineteen wounded. The insurgents, following their usual tactics, did not attempt to come to a decisive engagement, but proceeded westward devastating the country.

The authorities here in announcing this skirmish added the significant statement: "The troops were moved closer to the province of Havana," which would indicate that the Spanish forces are once more in retreat.

Later in the day it was announced here that further fighting between the Spaniards and Cubans is taking place in the vicinity of El Escante, which leads the people here to believe the insurgents have been in pursuit of the Spanish troops in that vicinity.

It is announced that Felipe Rodriguez, the insurgent leader, has been killed in the battle.

REAVIS CONSPIRATORS.

PHOENIX WINS ONCE MORE

Her Prowess with the Pigskin.

Yet the Boys of Prescott Played Well.

Details of One of the Hardest Fought Games of the Season.

The game of football between Prescott and Phoenix, which has been advertised for some time past, came off on New Years day before an enthusiastic audience of 500 spectators.

The lineup of the two teams was as follows:

Prescott.	Phoenix.
Pace .....	Byrnes
Ternon .....	r. g. Sullivan
Giles .....	l. g. Wynkoop
Bullenger .....	r. t. Evans
Campbell .....	l. t. Smith, J. E.
Desmond .....	r. e. McLaughlin
Meyer .....	l. e. Cooley
W. DeLanty .....	q. b. Butt
Court .....	r. h. Robinson
Allen .....	h. h. Fowler, H.
Capt. DeLanty .....	f. b. Capt. Willis
Substitutes, Prescott,	Hatcher, Boulder, Ferguson; Phoenix,	Linville, Pinney, Hughes, Rock, Hanny.

Mr. Hall of Prescott acted as umpire, Mr. Siston of the Indian school as referee, and Mr. Reno of Prescott and Mr. R. Fowler of Phoenix as line-men. Phoenix won the toss-up and chose the western goal. Prescott took the ball at kick-off and DeLanty kicked. Butt dropped on the ball.

Phoenix kicked the line for ten yards' gain and then ran around left end by Willis for twenty yards' gain. DeLanty tackled Willis so hard that the ball was lost to Prescott. Prescott bucked the line for a few yards' gain until the 25-yard line. Court then took the ball for a left end run, but was tackled and downed on the 15-yard line. Court again went around left end, but was tackled by McLaughlin on the 5-yard line. Prescott then lost the ball on the fourth down, and it went to Phoenix. Phoenix went through the Prescott line for ten yards when the ball was given to Fowler, who broke through Prescott's line, upset DeLanty and had a clear field for a touchdown when he was tackled on the foot by a Prescott man. He went down after a thirty yard run. Prescott was penalized ten yards for foul tackle. Rogers through the line for six yards for five and then Evans, by a center struggle went through ten yards for a touchdown. Willis kicked a goal. Score, 6 to 0. Prescott again kicked off. McLaughlin secured the ball in touch and Phoenix carried it out fifteen yards. Willis went around left end for six yards, Robinson through center. Cooley made a five yard run. Time was called for the end of the first-half. Score, 6 to 0 in favor of Phoenix.

In the second half Phoenix had the kick-off. Willis kicked to right field and W. DeLanty secured the ball, gaining five yards. Prescott hammered at the line, but gained but little. The ball went to Phoenix on fourth down. Willis goes around left end for three yards, Robinson through the line for four. McLaughlin goes around left tackle for five yards. Willis goes around left end and loses two yards. Fowler goes through center for five yards. Ball goes to Prescott on fourth down.

Prescott worked its wedge, but gained little. DeLanty kicked on third down. Ball secured by Willis. Phoenix bucks line for four yards, when time is called. Phoenix, 6; Prescott, 0.

The teams averaged almost the same in avoirdupois. Prescott averages about 173, Phoenix 175. The game was hard fought, but clean and manly. No serious injuries resulted to anyone. Phoenix excelled in line bucking, the Prescott team seemingly unable to prevent the making of holes to crawl through. Prescott line held up well and their interference was good.

Fowler's playing was wonderful in view of the fact that he went into the game with a lame leg. Butts' playing at quarter was perfect. Willis and Robinson made good gains through the line and under interference Willis cleared the end twice for a good gain. Evans and Smith played at tackle splendidly and to Evans belongs the honor of the only touchdown. Byrnes, Sullivan and Wynkoop proved too much for Prescott and made havoc with them. Cooley and McLaughlin played end tackle like veterans and stopped end runs successfully. McLaughlin saved a touchdown at one time after Willis fell off in tackling. Willis was dazed by DeLanty's fierce tackle and partially lost the power of his arms. The game was well fought. Phoenix has much to be proud of and Prescott nothing to be ashamed of.
