DID HE SHOOT HIMSELF?

A Sheep Herder Named Elario Meets His Death in a Mysterious Manner.

Strong Evidence of Murder Contrary to His Dying Statement That He Shot Himself.

A mysterious shooting occurred on Saturday last at the sheep ranch of Wm. Nellis, seven miles from Williams. A Mexican herder named Elario commenced work for Mr. Nellis on that day and in the evening he came to the ranch cabin and stated to the Mexican in charge that he was shot and that he did it himself. The ball entered the left side of the nose and passed downward and lodged in the shoulder. The wounded man was placed in a wagon and started for Williams, but he expired when about half way there. On the arrival of the party in Williams the story told of the self shooting was not believed, as the nature of the wound was such as could not be produced by accident, or such a one as a suicide would likely inflict. On Sunday morning a party headed by Deputy Sheriff Frank Morales visited the camp and followed the trail the herder had taken the day before but could not find his gun, hat or coat, which were missing. A strong belief exists that the man was murdered, but for what reason is unknown as he had no enemies so far as known.

Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s market review says: Much has happened of late to depress business and shake confidence and yet confidence is not shaken and the volume of business is still close to the greatest ever attained. Prices are settling downward with enormous production, but the fact that such production continues shows that the low prices are not ruinous. Alarm about the money market has passed and no disturbance is apprehended this year. The industries are on the whole well employed and it is especially noteworthy this week that there is a better tone in branches of trade which have been most embarrassed. The money market of the country is well supplied for legitimate needs, but in some points "speculative money" is tight. Exports of merchandise from New York in three weeks of November has been $25,251,719 in value, an increase of 33 per cent., while imports for November thus far are about 19 per cent. smaller than a year ago, which amounts to an enormous balance to be settled by other countries in specie. One danger is that a great quantity of wheat is now buried abroad as well as in this country, on margins and loans and there is a possibility that much of a decline might ensue some trouble.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Col. Brodie, First Regiment N. G. A., has ordered Co. A., of Prescott, to surrender all uniforms, guns, ammunition and accoutrements, for failure to comply with the militia laws. The property so surrendered is to be held by the Territory for such military organization as shall comply with the laws of the land.

The suit for $25,000 damages by Captain Kingsbury, formerly post trader at San Carlos, who brought action against Captain Bullis and Colonel Johnson for above sum, for causing the closing of his place of business last spring; has been changed from Gila to Graham county, and will be tried at Solomonville at the next term of court.

Superintendent McInerney, who was in Phoenix today, reports his Yuma institution in good condition, with 155 boarders. The United States has been reelected to pay $1.50 per day for her prisoners, instead of $1 at which price the prison loses money.—Phoenix Herald.

A gentleman lately from Bisbee reports that the Copper Queen company at Bisbee, will, it is said, erect eight more roasters to handle the base metals which are plentiful at the 400-foot level. They also contemplate at no distant day, the placing of a refinery at the works and ship refined copper instead of the base product as at present.

A barefaced swindle being perpetrated throughout the east by Walter J. Raymond has just been exposed in San Diego. Raymond is operating from Dayton, O., and by means of plausible circulars is selling what he claims to be fine fruit lands situated near Cactus station on the Southern Pacific Railroad for $100 per acre to gullible easterners.

Three handsome naval oranges from the Improvement Company's orchard at the Arizona Falls, will be shipped today (Wednesday) to Hon. W. J. Murphy, at Chicago, to show the early maturity, fineness of texture and excellent flavor of citrus fruit in this valley. Some of the largest oranges were not plucked; the aim being to give a fair average sample of our product.—Herald.

A Redwill, the well known piano leader, has been indicted by a grand jury in Penix, charged with having committed a criminal assault on a young lady. The date of the alleged assault was September 6, 1889. Mr. Redwill claims that it is a black-mailing scheme, and the time allowed to elapse since the alleged crime was committed seems to corroborate his theory.—Journal-Miner.

The Nogales Monitor is a new daily issued at Nogales and published in both English and Spanish. It is strong for statehood. The first copy contains a few interesting items of interest to the Tombstone public. It states that Jo Pascholy has rented the Bonanza building there, also that Collector Christ stated just before leaving for Washington last week that he was going to have Consul Smith removed.—Prospector.

Charley Merritt, while going to Fort Mohave over the old government road, ran across the place of the Indian massacre of the whites in 1857, and brought in some relics of floured chinaware. The remnants of wagons, harness, chains, etc., were scattered about promiscuously, and many marks of the strife are still visible to the eye.—Journal-Miner.

A Wallapai Squaw called Zuligy was arrested last Monday for being drunk and disorderly. The sheriff brought her into the Miner office for trial before the justice of the peace, and she started in to clean out the entire establishment. She calmed down somewhat after having the handcuffs put on her wrists, but became hysterical again on perceiving an iron "side stick" lying at her feet. She grabbed the weapon and undertook the job again, but after being handled a little roughly by the sheriff, decided to let the matter drop. She was given twenty-five days in the county jail.—Courier.

NEVADA AND ARIZONA.

A strong effort is being made to advance the cause of statehood in Arizona by citing what Nevada has done in the way of maintaining such a form of government on a population of 46,000 people and a total tax roll of about thirty million dollars. The fact that for every dollar that Nevada owes Arizona owes four is carefully concealed. Yet, with this small indebtedness and with a larger assessment roll than Arizona, Nevada, during its existence as a state, has found it necessary to raise the enormous sum of two million dollars by a direct tax upon the output of its mines. Every ounce of gold, every ounce of silver, every ounce of metal mined has and is to-day paying this tribute. Statehood made such a tax necessary in Nevada and it will do the same in Arizona. Nevada's decadence as a mining state can be traced in the annual collection of this tax. From the first year of its imposition when it amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars it gradually declined into thousands because mines and mining capital could not afford to become interested in the development of a country where, in addition to paying a tax on all their property similar to that paid by the merchant or farmer, they had to pay a tax on what their labor and capital produced. It is for the miners of Arizona to say by their votes on the constitution whether such a state of affairs shall be brought about in Arizona. If Nevada, with a larger tax roll than Arizona, and with a smaller indebtedness, was forced to impose such an additional burden on its miners will not Arizona be compelled to do the same? It is simply a matter of computation. So much additional will be required for government expenses. The stockman, the merchant, the rancher and the miner are to-day forced to strain every nerve to meet the present burden of taxation. What will they do when the taxes now existing those of statehood are added? Already the rate of taxation in Arizona is higher than in any other territory or state in the Union. It is so high that capital is frightened by it. With some of the richest mineral country in the world money cannot be obtained to open our mines on account of it. Let a new tax of even a mill be placed on the product of our mines and men will grow gray, bald and die in despair before Arizona will ever become the mining country that nature intended. To no section in the territory would such a tax be so disastrous as to Yavapai county, and the men who are now urging statehood should see it. A vote for statehood in Yavapai county means simply a vote for new and higher taxes, and the sooner its citizens realize the better.—Journal-Miner.

TROUBLE IN BRAZIL.

Fonseca's Ships Unable to Pass In-surgent's Obstructions at Porto Allegro.

The Rebels Preparing to March Upon Rio Janeiro with 50,000 Men—The Ports to be Blockaded.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 21.—The government has issued orders for an additional force of troops to proceed at once to Desterro, the capital of Santa Catharina. At San Palo a popular outbreak is momentarily expected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Herald's Montevideo special says: "Passengers from Desterro says that the three generals sent by Da Fonseca to Rio Grande have returned. They found it impossible to land troops at Porto Allegro owing to obstructions placed in the bay by the insurgents. There is a general movement to form a new republic throughout the northern part of Brazil among those who oppose Da Fonseca. Volunteers from Montevideo are flocking to the army of the Junta.

"Gen. Allisto, with a large force of troops, has left for Rio Grande to engage the insurgent army in battle. Gen. Ossorio, chief of the forces of the Junta, declares his intention to march upon Rio Janeiro, overthrow Da Fonseca and restore liberty. Within eight days the army of the Junta will amount to 50,000 men. The Junta has six ships stationed at the entrance to the Rio Grande.

An official dispatch from Rio de Janeiro this afternoon says the government of the dictator is continuing to take active measures to suppress what is termed the "anarchical movement" in the state of Rio Grande do Sul. It is proposed to establish a close blockade at the ports of the Rio Grande and to attempt to cut the state off from communication with the outside world.

It is said the government will use moderation in its treatment of the seceded states. The dispatch says nothing about Da Fonseca's reported illness or the possibility of plots to make away with him.

A Diplomatic Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Senator Mendonca, Brazilian Minister here, today received the following from the Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs at Rio Janeiro:

Telegrams daily received confirm the reports of complete tranquility in all the states except Rio Grande, where the constitutional authorities have been deposed and a provisional Junta proclaimed, presided over by Dr. Brazil who declares himself hostile to the federal government. The government is taking measures to suppress the anarchical movement. A blockade of the port of Rio Grande will be decreed. The government proceeds with all moderation.

Don't Like It.

EL PASO, Nov. 21.—The Associated Press agent at Denver has seen fit to state that only three or four score of delegates will attend the southwest silver convention at El Paso, when the management here has assurance that more than 2000 delegates will be present, and unlike Denver, El Paso and her business men have put up $6000 to entertain the visitors. The people of El Paso are indignant that the Associated Press agent of Denver should attempt to belittle the El Paso convention simply because the Denver convention was a failure.

A Just Verdict.

Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 20.—The trial of Frank Alma, for the murder of his sweet-heart, Christie Warden, was concluded today. A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree and sentence to be hanged on the first Tuesday in December, 1892, was handed down.

Grain Shipments.

Baltimore, Nov. 21.—There are now under charter about 50 steamships to load grain at this port during the months of December and January. The aggregate amount of the cargo is 3,000,000 bushels of grain.

The Wheelbarrow Man Dead.

La Junta, Colo., Nov. 20.—W. H. Brotherton, the man who attempted to trundle a wheelbarrow from San Francisco to Chicago on a wager, died here this morning of mountain fever.

High Wind.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 21.—A strong wind blew over Denver all morning until noon when it subsided and a heavy snow storm set in. It is snowing very hard at 2:30 o'clock.

The Wool Market.

The following report from Boston shows the condition of the market at the close of the week:

The total receipts of wool at this port during the past week comprise 8304 bags and bales domestic and 2530 bales foreign, against 10,088 bags and bales domestic and 960 bales foreign for the same time last year. The total receipts since Jan. 1, 1891, comprise 504,869 bags and bales domestic and 148,738 bales foreign, against 452,653 bags and bales domestic and 100,702 bales of foreign for the same time in 1890.

The sales for the week comprise 1,382,800 lbs of domestic fleece and pulled, and 555,500 lbs foreign, making the week's transactions foot up 1,937,300 lbs, against 2,470,200 lbs for the previous week, and 2,075,000 lbs domestic and 284,000 lbs foreign for the corresponding week last year.

The demand for wool is still very quiet, and the transactions the past week have been the smallest for some time. There are no buyers on the market operating to any extent. Some representatives of the large mills have been looking around the past week, but have bought very little. Notwithstanding the quietness prices cannot be said to be notably lower, though they lean rather in favor of the buyers, but as yet they are not wholly in their favor. The presence of these large buyers on the market has something to do with the steadiness of prices, for most dealers believe that they are going to buy some wool before a great while and consequently are holding their stock for present quotations. This is the tendency with most dealers just now, but the continued dullness is rather discouraging. Some of them have given up hope of any improvement either in business or prices and are shading prices to effect sales. That seems to be about the only way by which wool can be moved just now and at concessions buyers do not take hold. In fact they do not seem to want any great quantity of wool, confining their purchases to such small lots as they have immediate need of and nobody seems to be buying ahead.

As a general thing dealers are asking the prices quoted but these are being shaded and doubtless many of the sales reported this week on private terms are at a grain under quotations. As we said last week, there is nothing apparent to indicate any serious break in prices, while on the other hand it will take an improved demand to keep prices on a steady basis.

The market on fine fleeces is very dull and no sales of any consequence are reported this week. Owing to the lack of demand prices are rather easy as stocks are liberal, but most dealers are holding their wool, the general asking price of XX and above Ohio being 30@31c and Ohio X at 29c. Michigan and other fleeces are very quiet also, but Michigan X is held at 26@27c and No. 1 at 33@34c. Delaine fleeces hold very steady, but sales are limited. No. 1 clothing and combing grades, however, are in moderate supply and firm. One good sale of Ohio delaine was made this week at 35c, an outside price. Unwashed wools are very quiet and prices are easy except on blood. Pulled wools have been moving fairly, but nearly all sales are in small lots and at easy prices.

There has been a moderately good movement in territory wools this week but prices are only fairly steady. The dull trade causes holders to feel more like moving their wool and undoubtedly concessions can be obtained on large lots. The scoured basis for fine and fine medium strong warp wools holds at 58@62c, with medium at about 53@55c. Off grades have to sell down through these figures as to quality. These wools are now staple in the market, and in many instances have taken the place of fleeces to a great extent. Texas wools are very quiet probably owing to their high cost. Very little doing in California wools.

Threats Against Barillas.

TAMPICO, MEX., Nov. 21.—Telegrams recently received from Guatemala say the political excitement is increasing there, and that no day passes that President Barillas does not find a note threatening him with death.

Adjourned.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—The Methodist general missionary committee finished their business today and adjourned sine die, having apportioned the $1,200,000 at their disposal.

SHOCKING SUICIDE.

An Unknown Solves the Great Problem of Life by the Dynamite Route.

Becoming Despondent He Seeks a Secured Spot and Makes Preparations for Self Destruction.

On Friday last a stranger, who represented himself to be a miner applied for employment with the bridge gang at work on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad near Challender twenty-five miles west of this place. He worked for half a day, and not returning to duty the following day, search was made for him, which resulted in the finding of the body mangled in a terrible manner. Near by the body was a stick of dynamite. The circumstances go to prove that it was a case of determined suicide, as his head was blown entirely off.

It is supposed he had become despondent, and seeking a secluded spot placed a stick of dynamite in his mouth and thus ended all his troubles. Near by his coat was hanging on the limb of a tree but nothing was found on his person whereby he could be identified.

General Grant's Body.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A Washington special to the Tribune says: "The effort to remove the body of General Grant from Riverside to the Arlington national cemetery will be renewed at the coming session of congress. The friends of the removal have been quietly but actively and zealously at work. Some of the objections then raised have been overcome and considerable confidence is expressed that the attempt this winter will be crowned with success. That there is a strong sentiment in favor of the movement among the veterans of the union armies as well as among the officers of the regular army who served in the war of the rebellion, is manifest.

Killed by Wolves.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Nov. 20.—Word reached this city late last night that wolves had killed three children of Andre Gulick yesterday afternoon at the iron rolling mills near New Brighton, 18 miles from St. Paul. During the great fires in Pine county in September great droves of wolves were driven south into Ramsey and Anoka counties, and they have been subsisting on sheep in the neighborhood of the Twin City stock yards at New Brighton. A drove of 125 wolves were seen together in that vicinity Monday afternoon. The Gulick children wandered away from home in the woods at noon and were attacked and devoured by the wild beasts.

Cattle Men Meet.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—One hundred men representing many cattle breeders associations, and nearly every section of the United States met at the Grand Pacific today, for the purpose of forming a national cattle breeders association. The object is to provide a medium through which the cattlemen of the country may speak effectually to the United States agricultural department for the protection to the industry, and also to act in connection with that department in enforcing the rules and regulations already enacted, in regard to inspection, inspected districts etc.

Some Distinguished Prisoners.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A local news bureau says: "United States district Attorney Gilchrist and his assistant were today engaged in drawing up indictments against six or eight railroad men whom the federal grand jury has decided to hold responsible for the manipulations of freight rates in favor of Swift & Co., the packers. The indictments will be returned this evening or tomorrow morning and the United States marshal will have some distinguished prisoners in his custody to-morrow.

Springer for Speaker.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—The "101" democratic members of the Illinois general assembly, who achieved national reputation in their loyalty to General John M. Palmer in the long senatorial contest of last winter, announce that they will leave for Washington on December 1 to assist William M. Springer, of Illinois, in his canvass for the speakership. Speaker Crofts said today: "We want Springer elected, and if the democratic house follows his leadership we can carry Illinois next year."
