Normal Disbands, Leaving Braves Without Anybody to Fight for Republican Cup—Meet Regulars Saturday

Under Lemuel Yukku, the new captain, the Indian Braves will meet the Phoenix regulars at the Indian grounds Saturday afternoon, for it was learned late yesterday afternoon the scheduled second game with the Normal school for the Republican cup had to be called off. The Normal nine has disbanded. The Normal nine has disbanded. The Normal nine has disbanded.

In a phone talk with Pittman last night, Coach Venne arranged a game between the two teams for the Indian grounds Saturday. It is not yet known whether or not the Phoenix team will play Mesa here Sunday afternoon.

Manager Hester left yesterday morning for Nogales to attend the league's first meeting.

Word was received yesterday that Dowling was on his way from Indianapolis, headed in the general direction of second base.

Homer King has got out his garden tools and started fixing the park. Everything will soon be lovely, for in spite of the fact Nogales is very anxious to land the Phoenix franchise, it is now certain that Phoenix won't let 'em.

REPUBLICAN'S EXTRA SCORES

Twenty-four Hours Ahead of Phoenix Competitors, This Paper Recounts the Filling Up of Great Roosevelt Lake

Always out ahead!
With customary energy, The Republican reported the filling of the reservoir, in an extra edition, that went on sale last night ten minutes after the first official water had flowed over the spillway.
With this extra was published a photo, reproduced this morning that sets new records for quick action in newspaper work. The negative was made at the dam in the morning, showing waves sloping over the walls, was rushed in a fast car to the Republican office, and there prepared for engraving by Harry Robertson of the Phoenix Engraving company.

R. P. Holliday, of the editorial staff of the paper, was the official filler of the jug that will be used in christening the battleship Arizona, and just as soon as this work was done, he rushed to the power house to report over the government phone line. Not since The Republican scored a big beat with the account of Theodore Roosevelt's dedicatory speech at the dam in 1911 has such a story "broke" in such a way.
By giving the people of Phoenix full accounts of the facts, carefully prepared and lightened with features of the preliminaries to the celebration, and by again scoring this morning with exclusive "staff," the paper feels justified in crowing a little over the achievement.
Circulation Manager El Powell had drained the city of its newsworthy promise of "something doing," and the scene at the office as the first extras were handed out is quite undecipherable.

AMUSEMENTS

GREAT OVERFLOW AT THE EMPRESS

The great overflow at Roosevelt last night had to divide honors with the Empress theater, for just about the time the first drops of water were lapping over the spillways, the overflow of mirth began at Manager Purvins' amusement place. The bunch of "C. O. D.'s" and their wives taking a vacation long to be remembered, will be remembered longer by the audience which saw this picture.
"C. O. D." is a mirth provoking comedy that is not of the slap-stick kind of which so many grow tired; but quite another order. A chain of circumstances, peculiar and intensely interesting, supply the fun, it is too good to be missed, and they broke the mould when they made this one.
Shows how dogs are trained and used in war and another good one completes the six-reel program.
"Everything good at the Empress."

BLUE RETURNS — Blue, the big Maltese cat that for a score of years has made his home at the Central Pharmacy or other drug stores occupying the northwest corner of Washington street and Central avenue, and which had been strangely missing for ten days, returned last evening, within a few hours after the carpenter making the alterations to the pharmacy had completed their work. Blue appeared to be half-starved and had a faraway expression in his eyes, but after being given a good beefsteak and some warm milk, sought out his favorite corner and settled down to a snooze as though nothing had happened.

FINAL BANQUET OF THE SCHOOLMASTERS

Senator Ashurst, Congressman Carl Hayden and possibly Vice President Marshall will be the guests of honor of the Schoolmasters' club when that organization meets at the final banquet of the season at the Adams hotel next Saturday evening.
Senator Ashurst and Congressman Hayden have definitely accepted the club's invitation, and it is hoped by the committee in charge that the vice-president will also be able to attend. The dinner hour for the pedagogues' dinner, which will be followed by a feast of reason and flow of soul, is set for 7:30 p. m.

boat that has served to tow the barge since water became too deep on the ford for its passage. Half cut the tow line and whirled the launch alongside while the passengers were transferred. Two of the men, one named George Lockhart, were unable to make the shift before the large went under, and were cast afloat. They swam to some bales of hay that happened to be in the barge, and clung to them until picked up out of the choppy "sea" fifteen minutes later. Two of the four horses were cut loose and brought to shore, while the other two were drowned.

the original New York production, that of a "Dutch" tramp, while Eddie Young and Bob McCreep will doubtless prove lively foils as Vaek's confederates. Earl Hall who is said to be one of the best "Route" character actors on the musical comedy stage will have a part in his liking as the Jaytown Sheriff, and a feature of the production will be his singing a song especially written for him entitled "I'm the sheriff."

Alice Lewis will again be seen to advantage in a comedienne part, while Rena Vivienne and Irene Barker will both have opportunity to wear fine clothes and sing pleasing songs.
The bill calls for an unusual number of specialties, a new one to Coliseum patrons will be a song and dance trio by Vaek, Young and McCreep, while Anita Wellers and Charlotte Barrett will both add to the novelty of the performance by offering numbers in addition to those usually presented.

Exploits of Elaine

The ninth episode of the "Exploits of Elaine" will be shown at the Lamara theater today. In this picture the wonderful power of the Infra Red rays is brought out in a very edifying manner. These rays are much heard of these days, but they are on a recent discover. Of course they have always existed, but only recently have they been isolated to such an extent as to be either serviceable or destructive. As is to be expected "The Clutching Hand" uses them first and in finding out what is the cause of the immediate destruction resultant from their use, Kennedy runs on to the fact that they are being used for a nefarious purpose. It is stated in connection with these remarkable rays that they destroy anything they cannot penetrate—that is as far as life is concerned—hence their use in killing people by "The Clutching Hand." But this killing is not done except to throw a scare into Elaine, Kennedy and Jamison. In addition to the two reels of the Exploits there will be shown also a three reel Balboa Pathe drama, "The Coveted Heir," made at Long Beach. The acting in this is especially good. The story is wholly American and well worth seeing.

Redmond's Goodbye

As the day for the farewell performance of the Redmond company at the Columbia draws near, the many friends of the popular players seem inspired with a desire to pay them another visit before they say good-bye. In spite of adverse conditions their season here has been a good one and the last week of their engagement bids fair to be as prosperous as any to date.
There are good reasons for this. The company is the best stock organization that ever came to the valley and the play this week's bill is one of the very best examples of comedy melodrama before the public today.
Replete with novel situations, it is just one laugh after another with a thrill sandwiched between every laugh until one wonders what the climax can be, and when that does arrive it sends the audience home in a howl of laughter.

"Stop Thief" will do you good besides helping you," as Mrs. Partington used to say. Drop into the Columbia and see it.

Mabel Normand at the Arizona

Those who are interested in dancing will make no mistake in seeing the bill at the Arizona this week. "Tillie's Punctured Romance" has, without doubt, the greatest collection of stars ever gathered in the silent drama, Marie Dressler, Charles Chaplin and Mabel Normand are the leads. This program, which is scheduled for the full week, is attracting large crowds to the Arizona, and it is safe to say there has never been such laughter heard in a Phoenix theater, nor has there been a picture which more thoroughly meets with the approval of all as does "Tillie's Punctured Romance."
Charles Chaplin, funniest of all movie comedians, has the audience in his grasp from the moment of his first appearance and the combination of his peerless funmaker and Marie Dressler is one that has never been equaled anywhere.
If you want to drive away the blues "take a peek at Tillie."

"The Murdock Trial"

The Plaza has "The Murdock Trial," an intensely interesting four-reel drama, as its headliner for today and not content with a winner like this, it adds the Lubin "A Bargain Automobile," and the one reel Essanay comedy, "Sophie Finds a Hero," for good measure—six reels of the very best obtainable pictures.

Besides all this there are the Harts, that family of entertainers who have become household words in Phoenix entertainment circles. This family was formerly at the Wigwam and is more popular today than ever, and every day finds the theater filled with their many friends.

FEMALE MASONRY TO BE EXEMPLIFIED TONIGHT

All is in readiness for the performance of Female Masonry a la Sereetch, whatever that is, and there is every indication that a crowded house will greet the Eastern Star's mystery production this evening. All the things that have never been exemplified anywhere before, as well as the seven ages of men as Shakespeare never dreamed of them, will be shown at this entertainment. Such a production as will be given tonight at the Masonic temple, it is stated, has never been seen before anywhere, and a royal good time is promised all who attend. The program follows:
