BAND CONCERTS TO BE HELD AT STATEHOUSE

Beginning next Sunday afternoon, weekly concerts will be given at the statehouse by the First Regiment band, according to an announcement made last night by Adjutant General Charles W. Harris. The capitol grounds with their spreading trees and attractive walks form one of the city's most attractive parks, and it is expected that with the added feature of a band concert every Sunday afternoon hundreds will be drawn to the statehouse. The circle in front of the building affords ample space for a large number of cars, and, with the musicians grouped on the balcony, the effect will be that of an outdoor amphitheater. The concerts will begin at 3:30 p. m.

IOWA PICNIC ODD PROGRAM

Hawkeye Staters to Be Entertained at Original Sort of Outing at Riverside Park Tomorrow—Sells is on Program

Though outnumbered by the Missourians and Texans, the members of the Iowa society in Phoenix are not going to be outdone in originality. For their annual picnic at Riverside park next Saturday, from eleven in the forenoon till five in the afternoon, they have arranged one of the most unique programs of sports ever put on at an affair of that character.

The picnic dinner will be served on community tables at 12:30. The program is to commence at 1:30.

First Dr. J. C. Norton, president of the Iowa society, will give a brief history of the organization. He will introduce Judge George W. Barrows, one of the most loyal Iowans now living in Phoenix, who will recite some early reminiscences of his native state. Mr. Barrows will be followed by Andrew Downing, who has written an original poem "Hawkeye," for the occasion. Hon. Cato Sells, United States commissioner of Indian affairs is expected to be present and deliver a short address. Mr. Sells was born in Iowa.

The musical part of the program will be especially enjoyable. A quartet, assisted by a chorus, is to sing an Iowa song by Mr. Downing.

The sports. Prizes are to be awarded the winners in all events, some of which are as follows:

Boys' turning contest. The participants run 100 yards, turning around all the time.

Ladies' potato race.

Boys' somersault race.

Girls' rag-chewing contest. The hands of the contestants are tied and one end of a piece of string a yard long is placed in the mouth of each.

The first girl to get her string in her mouth is declared the winner.

Men's laughing contest. The one who laughs longest wins the prize.

Ladies' whistling contest. The idea is to whistle one tune as long as possible.

Men's potato race.

Young ladies' smiling contest. (Sweetest smile, not the longest, wins.)

Boys' bear race. Participants race on all fours.

Ladies' spoon and egg race.

Iowa spelling match, with mixed entries.

Boys' peanut race. Winner is first boy to roll a peanut 10 yards with a toothpick, shell and eat it.

Fat men's race.

Ladies' nail driving contest.

It has been arranged to have the Riverside swimming pool filled for the Iowa picnic and it is possible that some aquatic contests will be added to the program.

Autos and buses will make regular trips between the city and the park during the day.

THE LITTLE JOURNIES OF COLONEL BANTA

Delays and Vicissitudes Parts of the Great Game

A. F. Banta, better known as "Charlie," is one of the pioneers of northern Arizona, where since 1882 he has been a mail carrier, Government scout cowboy, prospector, newspaper editor, and many other things of interest to himself and to the historian. He spent last fall in Phoenix and left here November 18 with a couple of burros, more or less indefinitely bound eastward, still looking for the same Glendale he has hoped to find for the last fifty years. He has just been heard from, in camp on the Blue River fourteen miles above Clifton, with Elbe in Northern Greenlee county, as his destination.

As may be judged by his slow progress, he has had some delays on the road, generally due to the condition of the streams which he has had to ford, particularly the Gila river, which he declared has been "too full for utterance." For fifteen days he lay at Sheldon, waiting for the flood to pass by and thereafter was weatherbound on the San Francisco river for an additional sixteen days. Starting again, Banta tells that he forded the San Francisco thirty-one times in the space of about a dozen miles and at a number of crossings had to dig away the banks to get out of the river bottom; and this with only passing reference to quicksand. The thirty-second crossing was found impassable, so he made camp and there has remained since January 28.

Banta takes such vicissitudes as all in the course of life and probably utilizes any spare time he has in sampling the crops on every nearby hill. He has long experience in the school of patience and finds little at which to cavil in the 300-mile journey, on which he will consume six months of time.

"Bill" Tremaine is sure one well-pleased machine shop boss, and why not, for hasn't the business at his shop increased about one whole hundred per cent a week for the past six weeks? Fifteen men are on the payroll now and the shop is so busy that it is necessary to have a night shift, as well as a day shift working on the big lathe, which, by the way is one of the finest machines in the west.

PETER GORDON DIES AT SAN FRANCISCO

End Came to Him Suddenly When he Was Apparently Nearing Recovery

Peter Gordon, one of the best known citizens of Phoenix died at San Francisco on Wednesday night. The sad news was received yesterday morning by his son, Robert Gordon of the Republican circulation department. Mr. Gordon had been in ill health for a long time. He had a severe illness last January when his life was almost despaired of, but he recovered, though he did not afterward gain strength as rapidly as he expected. About ten days ago he left for the coast in the hope of building up his strength. When he was last heard from a few days ago he stated that he was greatly improved. It is thought that death was immediately caused by an affection of the heart of which it was known he had been suffering.

The body was taken in charge by the Elks of San Francisco and was prepared for return to Phoenix. It is now on the way and on its arrival funeral arrangements will be announced. He was a member, beside the Elks, of the Odd Fellows and the Woodmen of the World.

Mr. Gordon was fifty-eight years of age and was a native of New York. Coming west he first settled at El Paso. He came to Phoenix eighteen years ago. Of late years he has been the senior member of the firm of Gordon and Smithline.

He leaves to mourn him beside his widow, two daughters and a son, Mrs. Fred Thomas, Miss Edna Gordon and Robert Gordon.

"GETS-IT" a Sure-Shot for All Corns

Use Two Drops—and They Vanish. When corns make you almost die with your boots on, when you try to walk on the edge of your shoes to try to get away from your corns, you're way behind time if you have not used "GETS-IT." It's the corn cure of the century, the new way, the sure, painless, simple way. It makes a fellow really feel foolish after he's used toe-feeding salves, corn-biting ointments, toe-bundling bandages, blood-bringing razors, knives, files, scissors, jabbers and what-nots, when he uses just 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and sees his corn vanish. The difference is divine. Just try it. You won't wince when you put on your shoes in the morning. "GETS-IT" is sure, "gets" any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

MESQUITE CAMP HAS A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The third year for Williams' Mesquite Camp is drawing to a close. The year just passed has been a successful one in every respect. Not a death occurred, and the camp was filled to capacity. Extra buildings were erected to accommodate the increasing number of patrons. This camp is a real home for health seekers. Nothing which can contribute to their health, comfort or pleasure is overlooked. The cottages are airy and well lighted. Many of them have screened sleeping porches. Sanitary arrangements are up to date. In the commodious reading room are a pool table, an organ and a phonograph, while a part of the same building is taken up by a bath room and a toilet. The ornamental, shade and fruit trees include the umbrella, cottonwood, orange, grapefruit, lemon,
