ANNIVERSARY OF PYTHANS WELL OBSERVED HERE

If succeeding anniversaries of the organization of the Knights of Pythans are celebrated in any other city as fitting a manner as Phoenix Lodge, No. 2, last evening observed the fifty-third anniversary, there is certain to be excellent attendance at each such gathering. It was left for the local lodge to select a most unique and most impressive ceremony for the occasion, and not one of the three hundred or more Pythans present, left without an impression of an evening well spent.

The work of the evening was in the rank of Knight with two candidates presented. To exemplify the work there were two teams. One was composed exclusively of members of Phoenix lodge who have passed through the chairs and now enjoy the title of past chancellors. The other was styled the "Rough Neck" team, being composed of Knights who have not yet risen to the chancellors' station. These two teams staked a contest in the exemplification of the work that gave the three judges a problem to solve. Each member of each team was considered individually in the awarding of points and when the votes were tallied, it was found that the team of Knights was considerably in the lead. The contest was accordingly awarded to the second team.

Probably not in the history of Phoenix lodge has the work of the third degree been exemplified so impressively and so beautifully as last evening. The work of either team would have done credit to the best in the country. The decision of the judges seemed to meet with the hearty approval of all including the past chancellors. A check sense was immediately issued to the winning team by visitors to the lodge who promised to have a team in readiness the third meeting night in March that would rob the victors of their title. The challenge was promptly accepted.

Following the exemplification of the work, an oyster supper prepared by Knights Bristol and Clinton, tickled the palates of all present to the extent that it wasn't hard for any present to make responses to the call of the toastmaster that were classic. It was one of the most successful meetings of the local lodge.

The past chancellors' team was composed of Tom M. Smith, H. E. Marks, Clifford L. Marks, Claude W. Cheney, Waldo Christy, G. W. R. Kane, James H. Kinney, J. Fred Powell, Clarence E. Lee, Earl S. Curtis, George Kane, D. Eaton, Howard L. Clinton, James Short, J. P. Duncan, Evan Wilson and W. R. Davenport.

The Knights' team was composed of Dr. L. D. Laneron, George Pheby, George Judson, Nick Jackson, John Shoemaker, Russell Amley, Robert Hayes, C. S. Norman, A. H. McLeslie, W. J. Oliver, J. W. Sandick, Charles E. Hatch, C. H. Sheldon, H. Howard, G. A. Todd, George McCarty and J. H. Williams.

The judges were John Atkins, J. A. Gilbert and Charles H. Ellis.

TO TRY OFFICER

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 23.—Preparations were made today at the army aviation school here for the convening of a board next week to investigate charges against Lieutenant George W. Krapf, a student aviator, that he had shown a pro-German attitude. Krapf asked that the charge against him be lifted after he had received a reprimand from his commanding officer, Colonel William Glassford, who read to him a letter from Washington, the signature being withheld, that was said to contain accusations of disloyalty against Krapf.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Plaza

"The Vampires," the arch criminals of Paris, will again be on the bill at the Plaza today with the story of the return of Satanus, the high chief of the band as the medium. In this the chief comes directly into contact with Moreno, the Argentine, and concerns him with a stroke. These are the most fascinating pictures shown in Phoenix now, especially so those portions that show the Vampires in action, all beautifully formed girls, with their black silks, ties, and masks over their faces, make their raids for their ill-gotten gains.

At the Arizona

A large and appreciative audience attended the performance at the Arizona last night and all who witnessed the production with Jim "Chop" Dooley in the title role, were given the treat of the season.

The musical offerings were all new and up to date, and the clever first sisters were seen to advantage in one of their best specialties of singing and dancing that the clever girls have yet done.

This evening will be the last chance to see "The Politicians," as on tomorrow night another big musical comedy hit will be presented. It is considered to be one of the hits of the season, and all the latest musical numbers will be presented, so a most pleasant evening should be enjoyed by all who witness the production at the Arizona this evening and also on tomorrow night as well.

LLOYD GEORGE COMPELLED TO CUT LUXURIES

things which are not a necessary part of our existence."

After referring to the government committee, who examined the papers of "Lloyd George," the premier, he said: "I had no idea that such quantities of paper, and the amount of newspapers and magazines, and the amount of food, and the amount of clothing, and the amount of other luxuries, were being consumed in this country. I cannot say whether I ought to treat newspapers as a luxury, a comfort, a stimulus, or a necessity, as a matter of life. They have been an enormous help to us in the effective waging of the war. There is no better proof of this than the brilliant success achieved by the chancellor of the exchequer in his recent war loan speech."

"Still, when we have a chance to choose between them and very stern necessity, I am afraid we shall have to deprive ourselves of a certain number of their pages and substantially to reduce the imports of paper and material. We propose to halve the present supply of 1,200,000 tons, and reduce the annual imports to 600,000 tons, the reduction to be distributed equally between the printing and packing trades. We recognize that it is imperative that we should have a certain amount of paper for posters, for catalogues and for government departments."

The importation of printed posters, paper hangings and certain kinds of foreign printed matter, books and periodicals, Premier Lloyd George added, would have to be prohibited. Otherwise it would be unfair to the trade in Great Britain. Also, he said, there would have to be restrictions in the use of paper for posters, for catalogues and for government departments.

In his peroration the premier said: "I know of no body of responsible men who would take for one hour the responsibility for the conduct of this terrible war unless the nation was prepared to take a share of the sacrifice. I say it would be a crime, would be a black crime—for any government to ask the gallant men at the front to risk their lives in the coming conflict if they knew the effort at home was not with them."

"We have no right to ask it. For that reason I have come here after long delay, and to submit proposals to the government to submit proposals which I hope the commons will approve and the nation will carry out with unflinching and ungrudging heart."

There has been no activity of importance on the battlefields of Europe. The Somme and Amiens sectors, additional small areas of ground by British troops are recorded by London. The repulse of German raids in the vicinity of Arras and Ypres is reported.

In Galicia the German and Russians have been engaged in isolated fighting at Zlathoff. Berlin records the destruction of four mine shafts and the capture of 250 prisoners. The war news says the attackers were driven back to the positions after breaking through the Russian lines.

A battle for the possession of Sanjaly, northeast of Anzhan, in the Tigris, is in progress. British troops were successful in the opening engagement. London reports, but fighting is being hampered by high water in the Tigris.

Escape of Appropriation Bill

Just what took place within the secret committee is not known but an agreement was reached and the republicans were permitted to return and vote on what had been agreed upon. At the conclusion of the session, when the bill was introduced, Mr. Green (republican) rose to inquire whether he and his three colleagues would be permitted to resume their seats today.

But somehow, the appropriation bill was extricated and sent to the committee on enrolled and engrossed bills and will be in the possession of the senate in a day or two. It appeared that the controversy raised by the item carrying $1,900,000 annually for the common schools. The proponents of state taxation for the schools wanted to be assured that in some way the schools would be cared for. The Lines measure, House bill 26, would accomplish that but it was not agreed to by the senate.

Accordingly a compromise was reached on the item in the general appropriation bill amounting to an appropriation of $750,000 annually. If the Lines bill passes the senate the appropriation bill item will be dropped or modified.

Another matter concerning which there was some controversy, but dispute was the appropriation for the national guard which had been increased by the committee of the whole to $140,000. In the subsequent printing in the house the figure was reduced to $100,000 which Adjutant General Harris in a communication yesterday said would not be sufficient to hold the guard together.

The First Veto

A message was received by the senate from Governor Cameron stating his disapproval of the bill exempting from the inheritance tax half the estate of the late Dr. Percival Lowell, consisting of the Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff and the fund set aside for its maintenance. A companion bill exempting the same part of the state from the general tax was merely not signed by the governor and as to this he made no comment so that that bill which with its companion was passed by both houses last week under a suspension of the rules, may become a law.

It is understood that the action of the governor as to the first named bill was taken on construction by the tax commission that the bill in its present form is in violation of the constitution. The senate took no action on the veto but let the matter go over until today. Meanwhile a copy of the will of Dr. Lowell was sent for.

Two Reform Measures

The senate took two decided steps toward reform yesterday in passing the anti-cigarette bill and recommending in the committee of the whole the passage of the "red light" abatement bill. Both of these measures have passed the house. The former in its original form, makes it a misdemeanor for one to sell cigars, cigarettes or tobacco in any form to youth under the age of twenty. The senate has further amended the bill by making it a misdemeanor for such youth to purchase or receive in any way, the proscribed merchandise, so that the mere possession of a cigar or cigarette will be regarded as a prima facie evidence of a crime on the part of the boy in possession.

The fight for the red light abatement bill was led by President Claridge and it was favorably recommended by a vote of eleven to eight. Under this bill the hunting down and abatement of plague spots will be greatly facilitated. Owners of property will be more careful as to the character of their tenants, and whatever difference of opinion may exist among well meaning people as to her light districts, that question, so far as Arizona is concerned, is settled, or will be when the bill has been passed.

Goldwater's

MAJORITY EXCLUDES MINORITY IN HOUSE AND FIXES UP BILL

Senator Winsor and adopted. It is designed to avert an annual or semi-annual peril by securing a prohibition against the damming of the Colorado at Haulton's Heading seven miles below Yuma. It is at that point that water is taken out of the Colorado for the Imperial valley. Great piles and huge masses of rock are put into the river there to raise the level so that the water will flow into a poorly constructed and silt-filled heading. This obstruction in the river prevents the cleaning of the channel so that when the floods come the water backs up and threatens the levees and the lands which have been reclaimed by the Laguna project. It was this obstruction that caused the great flood at Yuma a year ago.

This damming of the river has been forbidden but annually influence is brought by the land owners of Imperial valley through California congressmen upon the war department for permission to dam the river again. Though the permission is accompanied by a warning that this must be the last time, the permission has always been renewed. The memorial point out that the needs of the farmers of the Imperial valley may be met by the construction of a new and better heading at another point.

Passed Bills

Several matters were finally disposed of in the senate yesterday. The first was the adoption or re-adoption of a "State Anthem" which had been adopted by the first legislature but was inadvertently omitted from the Revised Statutes of 1913. The words are by Mrs. Averill and the music by Mrs. Frank Cox. Other measures so disposed of were: a bill for the relief of W. J. Corbett for merchandise sold to the old industrial school at Benson; a referred measure to amend the public welfare law so that contracts may be let for state work. At present all work must be done by force account; a bill appropriating $50,000 for the construction of approaches to the bridge across the Gila near Weldon; a bill enabling the board of control to avail itself of the provisions of the federal post roads bill; a bill giving the state bureau of mines discretion in the distribution of mining bulletins. Other measures up for third reading were referred for the correction of errors.

The Committee of the Whole

Two bills amending the law with reference to the practice of medicine were taken up but at the suggestion of Mr. Wilkinson they were laid on the table to await the arrival in the senate of house bill 149 which contains the substance of these bills and places the matter under control of a health department. The bill prohibiting the use of wood alcohol for any purpose in this state was favorably recommended notwithstanding a vigorous fight against it. The bill establishing the Coconino game preserve was favorably recommended.

Mr. House's house bill permitting farmers and gardeners to sell the products of their farms and gardens without other restrictions than are imposed by inspection, was the subject of debate on account of the form of the title which included the right to engage in unrestricted slaughtering of animals. Though the bill itself has been so
