

Tom Grindell Back From Trip

HE VISITED THE TIBURON ISLAND, AND FOUND THE SERIS WERE NOT HOSTILE.

Natives in Interior of Sonora Incline Toward American Methods and Manners and Are in Favor of Annexation.

Tom Grindell, of Douglas, arrived this morning from a most interesting two months' sojourn in Sonora. His objective point was Tiburon Island and the coast line adjoining. A week's stay amongst the Seri Indians convinced him that the stories told of their warlike tendencies are false. He found them simply fish eating beings of a low type, much inferior to the Yaquis.

On the island are no more than thirty natives, who live on turtles and fish. These natives are of large frame and inclined to be corpulent. Their sole weapons consist of two old Springfield rifles with no ammunition.

Mr. Grindell went from there through the Yaqui country and the region of the Mayo and Fuerte rivers. He is not surprised that the Yaqui fight for their valley, for it is very fertile. It is the garden spot of Sonora. The Mayo Indians are further south in the Mayo valley and the Fuerte. These three valleys will in time develop into a remarkably rich agricultural region. Even now great plantations of cane, tobacco, corn and maguey are seen. Cattle raising is the important industry of the foothills. The old city of Alamos is the center of traffic in the extreme southern part of the state. A railroad connecting it with the seaboard will add this rich section in its development. The mining industry is active, though still in its infancy. Immense placer fields are being opened by American companies.

Mr. Grindell states that much to his surprise he found a strongly rooted sentiment among the citizens for annexation to the United States. They look to us to develop their country for them.

European dress and customs are still retained by the people, though American ways and methods of business are making inroads; and our machinery, wagons, farm implements and prepared meats are used exclusively.

The irrigation plants of the old Spaniards of a century ago have long ceased to be, but the present owners of the great fertile valleys are again diverting the underflows of the rivers into great canals for the purpose of irrigation.

It is singular, Mr. Grindell says, that Americans should know so little concerning the vast natural wealth of the great state of Sonora, when it is our nearest neighbor. During the next ten years the attention of our investors will be directed toward this rich field for speculation, and the English language will be heard in every corner of the state. It surprises one even now at the number of Americans a traveler meets at every place he stops.

Mulchback is the method of travel throughout the interior, and fifty miles a day is no unusual distance for a several days' journey. The people are hospitable, but have learned well how to charge an American for what he gets.

Mr. Grindell makes the rather surprising statement that he considers traveling in Sonora just as safe as living on our border towns. He has traveled much, but considers this the most interesting trip he has ever made.

Venezuela Still Having Trouble

BOTH ENGLAND AND GERMANY RENDER PROTESTS TO THE OBSTREPEROUS SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLIC.

Willemsted, Island of Curacao, Aug. 4.—It is reported that Herr Heldram, the German minister at Caracas, has delivered an ultimatum demanding the immediate payment by the Venezuelan government of the interest on the amount of the award to be paid to Germany as stipulated in the protocols signed by Herbert W. Bowen, representing Venezuela, in February, 1903.

The British minister at Caracas has strongly protested in the name of the English bondholders against the seizure by the Venezuelan government of the asphalt lake at Guanacel, the property of the New York and Bermuda Asphalt company, maintaining that the interests of the bondholders will be menaced unless the lake be immediately restored to the company.

BANK FOR YUMA.

Application for National Bank There Granted by the Comptroller. (Special to Review.)

Washington, Aug. 4.—The comptroller of the currency has approved the application for the organization of the First National Bank of Yuma with a capitalization of $25,000. The organizers are R. S. Patterson, E. G. Caruthers, W. H. Doesse, Herbert Brown and R. H. H. Laney.

Destroyed the Crop—W. D. Kinsey left yesterday for his ranch on the San Pedro. He received the news that his 40-acre field of alfalfa had been completely destroyed by floods washing earth to a depth of several feet over the whole field.

'A Man of the Times

AMONG the notable professional men of this country who have achieved great success along strictly legitimate lines is Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder and medical director of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he has become a recognized authority in that line. His work, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is now in over two million homes in this country and Europe. He has represented his home district in Congress and Senate.

There should be a close relation between doctor and patient. Single and married women very often find that it is repugnant to their feelings to consult their family physician. In such a case they can put perfect confidence in Dr. Pierce, who has made such a success in the treatment of women's diseases, for he will give you the very best advice possible, and without cost to you.

It is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. It is said that loyalty is usually lacking in the feminine make-up. Without a perfect understanding there can be no helpful advice, and not one woman in ten places implicit confidence in her own sex. The consciousness of her own weakness puts her on guard against the failings of all other women. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ills and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so too, does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by a guarantee of some kind. That is the reason why the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are willing to offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the long record of cures of the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhoea, who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, the original proprietors and makers of that world-famed medicine would like to hear from such person—and it will be to her advantage to write them as they offer in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which they cannot cure.

Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of 1008 pages. For cloth-bound copy send 31 cents in one-cent stamps, or for paper covered 21 stamps.

Your truly

A Poker Player Is Mr. Davis

THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME IS A REGULAR FEATURE AT HIS HOME.

The Chips Have a Nominal Value, But No Money Ever Changes Hands—The Game Takes the Mind Off Business.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Should Henry G. Davis be elected to the vice-presidency and after succeed to the presidency the great American game of draw-poker would of necessity become a regular institution in the White House. There is seldom an evening, except on Sunday, when Mr. Davis is in his home at Elkins that the regular poker game is omitted.

An evening mail is received at Elkins about dinner time. There is an outgoing mail early the next morning. This makes it necessary for Mr. Davis to devote the early part of the evening to reading and answering his correspondence and deciding upon business propositions that may be submitted to him in the evening mail. He gets through all this by 10 o'clock, and at that hour he, the members of his family and guests who may be in the house, assemble about a table in the upper hall. A deck of cards and a box of chips are brought out and the game begins. It lasts until 11 o'clock, after which hour five jackpots are played.

White chips are worth a quarter and the reds and blues in proportion, and the amount of money that would change hands in an evening over that table would be large if real money was played for. As it is, everybody quits even. Mr. Davis has never staked a cent on a card game in his life, but plays with as much zest as if money were involved. He finds that this evening game takes his mind off his business and enables him to sleep soundly.
