Pact Full of "Ambiguities"

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) commerce have intersected the old Mason and Dixon line until it is only a historical memory. Your commerce is American commerce. Your industry is American industry. Your production is American production. Your farm products and our farm products are essential to American life.

"We are inter-dependent and the Republican party preclaims the same doctrine of agricultural good fortune in the south that it does in the north. It preaches the same policy of finance north and south. It preaches the same policy of a helpful protection to all American production, north or south.

Believes in Protection "We believe in protecting cotton and cotton seed products of the south and wheat and wool in the north. We believe in protection for peanuts south and potatoes north. We believe in southern factories and northern factories selling to America first and we acclaim an industrial south as one of the essentials to the ideal republic.

"I want the self-reliant America, self-reliant agriculturally, self-reliant politically. That is why I insist that we shall never accept a league of nations with the material heart of a military alliance, to rule the world by force of arms. North and south fought because the states of the south thought they had the right to withdraw from the union. The north thought the union to be indissoluble. Then came the conflict over an ambiguity in the constitution. There are a score of ambiguities in the president's covenant and he would not tolerate their clarification by reservations.

Deep Abiding Faith "I have a deep and abiding faith in American institutions and in the fundamental principles upon which they rest. The people, by their constitution, have carefully enumerated the powers of their governmental agents. Neither agent is superior to the other and neither owes any degree of responsibility to the other. For either to invade the field of action delegated to the other is to usurp the authority of the other. During the life of the present administration this condition, which the constitution inhibits, has arisen again and again. Congress, while under Democratic control, was, with rare exception, a mere echo of the executive. He did not inform them from time to time respecting the state of the union as the constitution contemplates; he told them what to do."

AVERS WILSON THREATENED TO USE U. S. FORCES TO KEEP PEACE (CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) maintain all decisions and all boundaries. As to how we are going to do this is answered by the president himself in another place in the same speech, in which he says: Would Use Force "If any covenants of this settlement are not observed the United States will send her armies and navies to see that they are observed. . . We must not close our eyes to the fact that in the last analysis the military and naval strength of the great powers will be the final guarantee of the peace of the world."

Is Moral Obligation "I take it that it will not make very much difference to the American people, to the sons and mothers of America, whether you call it a legal obligation or a moral obligation or what you call it, if it is an obligation absolutely compelling and from the execution of which there is no escape. Is it not perfectly plain that we guarantee the settlements and the boundaries of Europe and that if there is an actual disturbance of these boundaries we are under an absolutely compelling moral obligation to send our armies and our navies across the sea. Is it not equally plain that we are carrying out the decisions of these men representing the whole world, the divisions which they made the boundaries which they established, and that we are doing so by the blood and treasure of America? . . . "The incredible thing about this whole proposition is that such a scheme should have ever been seriously submitted to a people who have been trained to democracy and devoted to the principles of popular government."

"King of Hoboes" Calls on Wilson

WASHINGTON. — The hobo vote will go Democratic. So says "Jeff Davis," "king of the hoboes," who called on President Wilson to pledge the "Hoboes of America," of which he is president, to Cox. Although Davis is a Democrat, he says he was received at the White House by three Republican presidents, McKinley, Taft and Roosevelt. "Mike," the only hobo monkey in the world, travels by express while Jeff rides the rocs. Jeff says he swung the hobo vote for Wilson in 1916 making speeches from the tops of freight cars. "Mike's" greatest achievement was raising $75,000 in a Salvation Army drive.

That Questionnaire

Anonymous letters, postcards, posters, handbills and other articles may be expected in the present campaign and usually meet the utter disregard of the people to whom they may be addressed. This was the reception given to an anonymous hand bill containing a list of ten questions, directed to Mit Simms, Democratic candidate for governor, last Saturday night in Bisbee. The screed was unannounced, unsigned and unsigned.

Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, however, its authorship became established. The Cochise County Republican Central Committee assumed responsibility for it. It was time that some authority be placed behind such anonymous outbursts.

THE REASON

The Republican state organization for months prior to the primary believed that the Hon. Mulford Winsor would be the Democratic nominee for governor and built its entire campaign structure upon this premise. This campaign was to have been an attack upon 'radicalism' and attempted resurrection of "Huntism." With the nomination of Mit Simms, however, the superstructure was destroyed. A new campaign issue had to be developed and, unfortunately for the Republican candidate, the land question was decided upon.

In spite of the obvious fallacies of the Republican campaign, and in order to meet any issue four square, the following answers are given to the questionnaire:

1. Why are you unwilling to debate the land issue from the same platform as Governor Campbell and let the people judge which one is right on this question?

Answer: Mit Simms is a business man and a farmer—not a political orator or debater. Moreover, no administrative differences have arisen between Mit Simms and Governor Campbell; but Attorney General Jones, who has differed from Governor Campbell on this issue, has offered to debate the question from any platform.

2. If elected governor, will you retain Big Bill Moeur on the job as state land commissioner and continue the present land-leasing policy?

Answer: Waiving the apparent viciousness in the words "Big Bill Moeur," it is obvious that the Governor has not the power to name or to replace a state land commissioner. The present land leasing policy is determined by statute and cannot be changed by the mere dictum of any governor.

3. Were Wiley Jones and Harry Ross right when they wrote Bill Moeur that conditions in the land department had become intolerable?

Answer: Yes. Their opinion, however, was based upon a forged letter, which Governor Campbell knows was forged and which he knows caused the original stand of Harry S. Ross and Wiley E. Jones.

4. Do you approve that plank in the Democratic platform endorsing the state land department?

Answer: Yes.

5. Do you believe in cancelling dummy leases and releasing the land in one block with the prior right to release?

Answer: Yes. The prior right to release under equivalent condition is statutory and therefore not optional with the administration of the department.

6. Do you maintain that the state land department has been administered in the interests of all the people of Arizona?

Answer: Yes. Are you against a land policy advocated by Governor Campbell which would permit the throwing open of lands for entry when they become more valuable for agricultural than grazing purposes?

Answer: No. This involves an economic and not a legal or administrative question. No difference of opinion has existed between Mit Simms and Governor Campbell in the administration of the land department.

8. Do you believe that a governor should stick to his desk in the statehouse when he can advance the interests of the state by visiting other cities in Arizona and cities without the state if necessary?

Answer: Yes. The good Governor Campbell can do gallivanting about the country and visiting Harding's front porch is negligible.

9. Why are the big land barons manifesting so much interest in your candidacy?

Answer: The implied slur at the stock interests of the state is not in keeping with recorded utterances of Governor Campbell, but it is to be presumed that these men and women have had enough of the extravagant Campbell administration.

10. What are your qualifications for the office of governor of Arizona?

Answer: Small in general, but superior, in any event, to those of Thomas E. Campbell.
