ARRESTED AFTER HE MADE FIRST WHISKEY
Asisted by Deputy Sheriff Blanco and Officer Walton of the city police, Constable Pickens of Mesa yesterday afternoon led a successful raid on the home of Sylvester Nelson, three miles northeast of Mesa, on a ranch which netted a sizzling complete with coils and two and a half gallons of "moonshine" whiskey. Nelson was not at home at the time of the raid, but was arrested later in Mesa by Constable Pickens and brought to the county jail in Phoenix, where he is being held for arraignment.

The whisky was found in glass fruit jars hidden in a trunk in a bedroom of the home. The jars were covered with clothing. A milk can was found in the yard, and in a sack in a closet the officers found the foot to the can and several feet of copper tubing. The top of the can was fixed with two connections so that two "worms" could be operated at once. No mash was found. Nelson stated that the officers last night that this was the first whiskey he had ever made.

BOY, UNCLE DEAD, IS SENT TO LOS ANGELES
Michael Sunar, the 13-year-old boy whose uncle died of heat exhaustion near Agua Caliente on Aug. 9 while on a trip by motorcycle from Los Angeles to Miami, left last night for Los Angeles in care of the Juvenile Protective association. Young Sunar has an aunt living in Los Angeles and has been waiting in Phoenix since last Tuesday for a ticket from her which would enable him to return to the coast.

The uncle, Marco Sunar, had lost both hands in a mine explosion, and one eye, and used two iron hooks on each arm as hands. These hooks opened and closed by strings which run up the arm and were connected to the opposite shoulder. The motorcycle which he was riding from the coast had a side basket to it and was driven by the uncle with a foot pedal and guided by clamping the hooks over the handle bars. Just out of Agua Caliente the cycle struck a boulder and broke the foot pedal on the car and one of the hooks of the elder Sunar's arm. Michael walked back 10 miles to Agua Caliente for help and the next day they found his uncle dead on the desert two miles from Agua Caliente.
