RIGHT EARFUL
Will fight, fans see a husky mill
Or just a little spat;
Will some one kiss the canvas rug
When Carp steps up to bat?

LEFT EARFUL
The ball fans get a hearty thrill
And feel quite certain that
They'll see the ball go o'er the fence
When Ruth steps up to bat.

DOPE SHEET HAS NO CINCH ON MONDAY'S FISTIC ENCOUNTERS

You can't beat the fight fan when it comes to remaining faithful to the old sofa pillows. Keep your eye on the rail birds who make the daily trip from the main stem to the Lewis training quarters, where they watch Billy McCann swat his partners, thence to the Ames arena to watch the young France pummel his stable of promising youngsters and back to town to figure the dope sheet.

The inside boys will clock McCann through a strenuous workout, figure through the layo punch to bring home the bacon. But a few minutes with the France clan and the speed mixed with cleverness and the boys are up in the air.

It can't be done on a workout. The majority of the fans have seen France in action, but the training routine and news reports make any rash promises and is not underestimating his opponent. France is a real fighter as well as a fighter and his main hope is to beat McCann fairly. He asks no odds and worries along with his own peculiar style of fighting. Some fans do not like France because he has upset the dope for the last year and a half. Time after time the ones have jammed Jack Doyle's Vernon arena to see France get walloped and each time he has edged over the top with a clean cut victory.

France is coaching Wildcat Ellis for his bout with Young Scotty Monday night. The Wildcat is sure wild, not in his defense but his desire to fight. Ellis craves fight and nothing more. If he can get in there and swap punches with some big husky Alfred can crawl out of the ring at the finish and eat a square meal. If he doesn't get action his conscience hurts him and will not even speak to his trainer. Mix Scotty and Ellis, with a few sessions of Spaw and Hocker, throw in a curtain raiser with Dynamite McCarthy and Nugent stepping for the winner's end, and top off with a colored bout a la Ira O'Neill and Babe Cabell—there's a fight for any fan. But the Labor day card will have one other big feature, the four-round event staged by Andy Gardner and Young Maza. It's a safe bet this bout will not go to the limit, as both lads are in for blood. It's a sort of grudge fight for winner take all and a nice little chunk of silver on the side. Gardner holds one decision over Maza, which Maza protests. Any says he can lick Maza any day in the week for any sum and any place in the world. They rattled the key board of the typewriter for five rounds before they decided to fight it out in the ring. Now they've signed and they expect to make it equal the world battle—

CLAPHAM WOULD MEET LOCAL PRIDE AGAIN

Sam Clapham returned to the city last night after a two weeks' invasion of Texas and New Mexico, where he won three matches from the beat the southwest could muster for the occasion.

Sam says Promoter McIntosh of the El Paso Athletic Association offered Sauer a guarantee of $750 for a bout in the border city, but he says he understands Matchmaker Tully has boosted the ante to $850 for a return match in this city with Pete Sauer.

Clapham says he will meet Sauer in Phoenix provided Matchmaker Tully will post the $850 purse, with an additional privilege of 30 per cent of the gate receipts. Clapham further stipulates that the referee must be selected by the sporting writers of Phoenix, but he will not agree to the man who refereed the last bout. Three judges to the main event will also be demanded by Clapham if he meets Sauer in Phoenix.

Sam says he has no kick about the treatment accorded him in his last bout, but he wants to give the wrestling fans a run for their money if the match is staged here. He will remain in the city for a few days, unless the match is made with Sauer. Sam says he prefers to meet Sauer on neutral ground, but he is willing to wrestle here provided his terms are agreed to.
