

DECIDE TODAY ON CANDIDATES AT THE PRIMARY

Eighty-Eight Precincts in City and County Ready For Balloting—Polls Open At Six and Close at Six—County Vote to Be Large Factor

With everything in readiness for the primary election, the polls in the 88 precincts of the county will open at 6 o'clock this morning and close at 6 o'clock tonight. All supplies and ballot boxes have been sent to each of the polling places by the board of supervisors, and promptly at the opening hour, all the election officers in each of the precincts will be on hand to receive the voters of the county.

Most of the candidates for office put in their "eleventh hour" in the way of campaigning yesterday and all have their preparations complete for the fray today.

Many nominations and defeats may depend on the vote of Maricopa county in the state offices. According to Miss Edith Jacobs, county recorder, 23,512 people registered for the primaries this year, while at the general election two years ago only 13,244 had registered as eligible to exercise their franchise. Of the county's total, the majority of voters are in the city of Phoenix.

The primary law states that the man receiving the highest number of votes on his party ticket for the office for which he is a candidate is the successful nominee. A majority is not necessary to secure the nomination, as is the case in the city elections in Phoenix.

Final Canvass To Be Made Monday

In accordance with the primary law, the board of supervisors will meet on the first Monday following the primary election and will make a canvass of the votes cast in each precinct. In this case the canvass will be made on Monday, September 13, and will continue each day until all votes have been checked. Until the board of supervisors complete their canvass, all lists showing the successful county nominations in each party will be only a temporary list.

In cases where the high man in each office leads the remainder of the field by a large number of votes there will be but little doubt as to the successful man. Where the lead though is very slight, the final outcome of the election will depend on the canvass made by the board of supervisors. Should the high man in any particular county office lead by only a few votes, then the canvass made by the board may change the outcome. All state offices also will depend on the canvass made by each of the counties for the final outcome of the race.

Following the closing of each of the polling places tonight, the officers will count the votes cast in that precinct for the candidates on the tickets and will then make a tally list of the outcome. The ballots will be placed in a bag provided for the purpose and sealed up by the inspector of the precinct. The box, ballots and all will be sent then to the board of supervisors' office.

Some Must Use Blank Ballots

According to the statement issued by L. M. Laney, county attorney, a few days ago, all voters who have registered as non-partisan, independent or for some party which has no ballot in the race, will be able to vote today only by using the blank ballot. They will be unable to vote on the other two ballots. In voting the blank ballot, the voter cannot place the names of any of the candidates on the other two parties on it and must therefore make up his ballot as he votes. According to the primary law, only those voters who in registering gave their party affiliations are eligible to vote a party ticket.

Republican headquarters will be open all day today and any voters who are in doubt about their precincts or the candidates are requested to call number 4298 on the telephone. Any questions relative to the primary will be answered cheerfully, it was announced last night.

Miss Edith Jacobs, county recorder, will be ready today to issue transfer certificates to voters who have moved from one precinct to another since registering. Any voter who has moved from one precinct to another will be unable to vote without first securing a transfer from the county recorder's office in the court house. Any voter who has moved from one house to another in the same precinct will not need a transfer.

Phoenix to Cast Heavy Vote

Of the total number of registrants in the county, 12,367 are in the 24 precincts in the city of Phoenix. The remainder of the 23,512 voters are in the country precincts of the county. Of the other towns in the county, Mesa has 1693 registered voters; Tempe, 789; Chandler, 1657; Chandler, 548; Peoria, 485; Buckeye, 247; and Wickenburg, 220, making a total of 5018, leaving but 5127 for the remainder of the country precincts.

It is estimated by those who have been in close touch with the registration work that a number of voters registered will not vote today. One reason given for this is the fact that many who registered early in the summer have gone to the coast or back east for a visit and will not be in the city today.

When each precinct has counted its votes, the tally will be telephoned to the office of the board of supervisors. Each of the counties in the state will send the results of the votes cast for the state candidates to the capitol. The Republican will receive returns hourly and will post them on its bulletin board.
