

ONLY 1 CENT A DAY ON $1000 ASSESSMENT WILL PAY ROAD BONDS

Here are some striking figures for the few calamity howlers who would put the clock of progress back, who would tie up Maricopa's splendid road program by not voting for the road bonds issue on Dec. 31, who would rather give the county a "black eye" and have us continue a few more years with our present system of disgraceful dirt roads. Luckily, however, this opposition is small, though it is noisy, as all oppositions have been since the day of Adam.

The county records at the court house show the assessed valuation of Maricopa county this year to be $134,246,541.90.

The interest on $4,000,000 bonds now issued, at 5 1/2 per cent, amounts to $220,000 per year.

The interest on $4,500,000 bonds to be voted upon, would amount to, at 6 per cent interest, $270,000 per year.

Which makes a total of $490,000 per year.

The total assessed valuation of $134,246,541.90 at 36 1/2 cents on each $100 amounts to $490,000 per year, or to be exact, $489,999.90.

Let every taxpayer in the county take his assessed valuation from his tax receipts and he will find, if his assessment is $1000, that he will pay $3.65 per year taxes on roads, or one cent each day.

There are a great many taxpayers who pay taxes on a $1000 valuation, and these people would pay but one cent per day on the entire road bond issue. Then there are numbers who pay taxes on but a $500 valuation, and on them the tax would be the marnificent sum of one-half of one cent per day!

It is clear from these figures that these bonds constitute but a very slight, in most cases almost negligible, taxation. And the idea of what the bonds will cost disappears completely from view when one takes into consideration what they will save!

At present Maricopa county pays each year the huge sum of $300,000 for the "pleasure" of "maintaining" a

KINGMAN MAY HAVE COMPANY IN GUARD

A telegram was received at the office of the adjutant general from R. S. Adams of Kingman, Ariz., making inquiry concerning the steps to be taken for the organization of a national guard company here. The American legion post at Kingman, he said, is favorable, and the business men of that town are interested. Inquiry was made about the character of the organization and information is desired as to who will be in control of it, the latter inquiry relating perhaps to the federalization of the guard.

Mohave county has never had a company of the national guard and until now there has never been any interest evinced concerning it. It is supposed that the interest now manifested has

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The big field day was held yesterday morning during the first and second periods. The girls were dismissed from their classes to see the program. The first event was the battalion parade and inspection. The four platoons of the first battalion were then given four minutes of drill by their respective leaders. Lieut. Wiberg's platoon won this contest. Two men from each platoon were sent up to the judges stand for the manual of arms contest and the colored representatives carried off the honors. A race between nature's gifted three followed in which "Slim" Poole took the honors. The most exciting race of the day was the relay. There were teams from the band, Company A and B and from the colored troops, and the latter proved themselves the best runners, winning by a safe margin. Captain Jones states that this field day is only a sample of what will come later in the year.

The first performance of the junior play was staged without a hitch. There was a good attendance. There will be a different cast for tonight's performance. Everyone who was not there last night should get a ticket for tonight.

There will be a meeting of the football men in the athletic office on Monday afternoon. Everyone who went out for football is requested to be present.

MANY AT ALL-DAY PRAYER MEETING

The all-day union prayer meeting at the Nazarene church, to pray for an outpouring of the spirit on all the churches of Phoenix, was well attended. Evangelist S. B. Shaw preached at 11 o'clock on prevailing prayer. The afternoon service was well attended; members of eight or ten denominations were in the congregation. Rev. C. J. Burnett, pastor of the Free Methodist church, preached upon the subject of faith. Rev. Pritchard of the Nazarene church followed with a burning exhortation.

The special revival meetings at the Free Methodist church, Adams and Fifth streets, will continue until after the holidays, every night at 7:30. On Sunday, preaching morning and evening. Tuesday afternoon Evangelist SEAW will give a talk upon the subject of divine healing. Prayer meetings will be held each afternoon at 3 o'clock. All Christian workers are urged to cooperate in this revival meeting.
