LOUISE CONNER TO BE QUEEN AT P. H. S. MAY FETE TONIGHT

Louise Conner has been chosen by a large majority to be May Queen at the May fete which will be presented at the Phoenix union high school this evening. Miss Conner is a popular member of the senior class of which she is treasurer. She is also on the annual staff. Previously the May queen has been chosen by and from the senior class, but it was decided to have the entire school vote this year. Much interest was shown. Work has been progressing rapidly, and as the date of the event approaches the school is ready to give an entertainment which will be enjoyable to all. The pageant "The Little Red Rose," written by Mrs. Orville Brown, is to be used in the program. There will be dances by the girls of the high school in which about 600 students will take part. Miss Margaret Mac Hurley, head of the physical training department, is directing the pageant and the dances. These have been worked up to a point of perfection. The closing scene will be the crowning of the May queen. The band will offer a short concert before the regular performance begins. Some time ago it gave a recital to pay expenses to Tucson during university week and those who were present know what to expect in the way of music. The orchestra will furnish the rest of the music for the occasion. The high school cadets are to guard and act as ushers. They will be under the command of Lieutenants Dykes and Carpenter. The program will begin at the high school grounds at 6:30 p. m. There are no reserved seats. The price of admission is 25 cents. Ten cents will be charged for standing room inside the ropes. There will be three entrances and tickets may be secured at any of them. Cars can be parked free of charge on Fifth street. In Luxemburg there is a penalty for eligible voters who do not vote at elections.

ASK GIFTS OF CASH AND CLOTHING TO AID THE DESTITUTE

Calls for charity assistance have been so heavy on the Salvation army for the past three months that the officers in charge are compelled to ask the kind friends of the destitute and needy to come to their help. The fund for the Home for Homeless men on First street is nearly run out and there are a number of homeless men who may be turned on the street. From 40 to 50 have been fed daily and the cots are full nightly with men who have no money nor any way to get money, as work is scarce. There are scores of families residing in the community who depend on the Salvation army for food for their hungry children. Some of the fathers and mothers are hard-working people when they can get the work they are able to do. The army is also badly in need of cast-off clothing and shoes. Some children cannot go to school, either week days or Sundays, for lack of decent clothing. Some men are so ragged that they dislike to go before the public to ask for work. The army is giving to all such people, clothing for which they cannot afford to pay, therefore, any cast-off garments for such people will be gladly received. It is not the middle class that needs the help the most, it is the destitute; and one way to help is to give them what they need, and the revolutionary and anarchistic spirit is to help the unfortunate and starving. There is a misunderstanding concerning the Salvation army. It is a religious organization, and the members of the army are householders and taxpayers in the communities in which they reside. The officers in charge here in Phoenix, Commandant and Mrs. Westcott, are supported by the members and adherents of their organization and the charity work which is done by those two officers is given gratis, and the amount exceeds any other organization. Bring cast-off clothing and shoes or food to the army or call 4155 and someone will call for the same. Any contributions of cash please make out checks to "The Salvation Army," 225 East Jefferson street, Phoenix; Commandant and Mrs. John Westcott, officers in charge.

JOHNNY CHUCK TURNS TRAMP

JOHNNY CHUCK had turned tramp. Yes, sir; Johnny Chuck had turned tramp. It was a funny thing to do, why he had done it, he didn't know. He had become dissatisfied and discontented and unhappy in his old home. And then almost without thinking what he was doing he had told Jimmy Skunk that he could have the house he had worked so hard to build the summer before, and of which he had been so proud. Then Johnny Chuck had swaggered away down the Lone Little Path without once looking back at the home he was leaving.

The Fact is, Johnny Chuck Already Began to Feel Homesick.

Where was he going? Well, to tell the truth, Johnny didn't know. He was going to see the world, and perhaps when he had seen the world he would build him a new house. So as long as he was in sight of Jimmy Skunk he swaggered along quite as if he was used to traveling about without any sung house to go to at night. But right down in his heart Johnny Chuck didn't feel half so bold as he pretended to. You see, not since when he was a little Chuck and had run away from old Mother Chuck with Peter Rabbit had he ever been very far from his own doorstep. He had always been content to grow fat and roly-poly right near his own home and listen to the tales of the great world from Jimmy Skunk and Peter Rabbit and Bobb Conny and Unc' Billy Possum, all of whom are great travelers. But now here he was actually setting forth, and without a home to come back to. You see, he had made up his mind that no matter what happened he wouldn't come back after having given his house to Jimmy Skunk. When he had reached a place where he thought Jimmy Skunk couldn't see him Johnny Chuck turned and looked back. A queer little feeling seemed to make a lump that filled his throat and choked him. The fact is, Johnny Chuck already began to feel homesick. But he swallowed very hard and tried to make himself think that he was having a splendid time. He stopped looking back and started on, and as he tramped along he tried to sing a song he had once heard Jimmy Skunk sing:

"The world may stretch full far and wide,
What matters that to me?
I'll tramp it up; I'll tramp it down;
For I am bold and free."
It was a very brave little song, but Johnny Chuck didn't feel half so brave and bold as he tried to think he did. Already he was beginning to wonder where he should spend the

REASON IT

Whenever meat or vegetables are "warmed-over" they should be re-seasoned. No matter how perfectly the dish was salted and peppered for the first serving, more salt and pepper will be necessary if the left-over dish is to be a success.

Menu for Tomorrow

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, spinach with poached eggs on toast, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Cream of tomato soup, croissants, Martha's pudding, tea.
DINNER—Roll of mutton, rice potatoes, dandelion greens, banana and peanut salad, fudge cake, coffee.

My Own Recipes

The tomatoes left after straining for soup should be saved and used for scalloped tomatoes the next day. Whenever possible wait one or two days before repeating a meat or vegetable. If put in a cool place in a covered dish the tomatoes should keep several days.

Martha's Pudding

One and one-half cups chopped prunes, 1 cup molasses, 1/2 cup granulated flour, 1/2 cup white flour, 1 cup

A LONELY LIFE

There are all kinds of snobs, you know. The Baileys are one kind. No, it isn't that they won't speak to you unless you have two maids and a butler of a half page in Who's Who or a "daughter of the American Revolution" framed and hanging in your back parlor. It isn't that they are not the "I will maintain" kind. They will knock anybody. In fact, most of their friends are just regular people without any distinctions. But they know a few great muck-a-mucks who invite them to dine once a year or so and give them something to talk about for the rest of the time. "The Stalks"—Mr. Bailey will say casually to his wife—"Oh, yes, dear, we must ask them up again," then casually to you, the honored friend, "he was the last ambassador to Persia, you know."

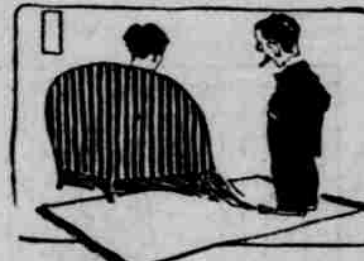

AN INEXPENSIVE SUBSTITUTE.

Just the other day I ran across John Frost—he said Mrs. Frost mentions us so often," then for the edification of the uninitiated circle, "Frost was president of the Film Flam Board down in Missouri until they got him up here to edit the Eureka Encyclopedia—a very influential fellow."

"Frost asked me if we had seen the Dows lately. Remember, dear, the week we spent at their place on Long Island. Mr. Dow was lieutenant governor of Kansas."

"The pity of it is that they are such good people otherwise. They might be real, worthwhile friends to you, if their trying to impress you didn't scare you off before they had a chance."

And that's the way they lose the people who would make them real friends. Nobody wants to be im-

High School Notes

The seniors' class meeting was held first hour yesterday morning to complete plans for bringing the University of Arizona here for a benefit program. Teams will be selected to compete in selling tickets and the girls will be against the boys. The losers will wear a black eye on the following Monday. The play will be given Friday evening, May 13, in the auditorium. Admission, $1.00.

Next week will be known as "Senior week." Seniors will have a "dress up day" Friday evening will be the play, and on Saturday evening will be the Stanford "Jolly Up." All seniors are invited to this affair, which will be held at the Woman's club.

Do not forget the may fete this evening, beginning at 6:30. Admission will be 25 cents. There is only a limited number of reserved seats.

TYPEWRITING A LA JAZZ—Students in the Knights of Columbus free night school in New York learn typing to jazz music, played on a phonograph. Instructors say keeping time to the music increases speed.
