Elks Drill Team Hopes to Grab First Honors at National Meet

"One-two-three-four; one-two-three-four; with every count 24 shoes hit the pavement on West Jefferson street and 24 owners of the shoes galled, rged, and otherwise carried out the orders shouted by Capt. T. W. Tempcke.

It was the Elks drill team in action. Members of the team drill three times a week now. They are working hard to capture the big prize at the Elks' convention in Los Angeles during July.

We have every chance to get first prize," Captain Tempcke declared last night while giving his men a brief rest. These men are certainly digging into the work with a good will and a determination that means victory.

Grounds for the competitive drills of the Elks' teams at the Los Angeles convention will be 200 feet square. Teams from every section of the country will compete for prizes July 12. Entries will be closed June 15.

This big event will serve to introduce Arizona's first Elks drill team to enter into competition outside the boundaries of the state. Capturing of first honors by the local lodge would bring Arizona publicity for Phoenix and the state.

"We intend to let the whole world know that Phoenix has a live Elks organization," Captain Tempcke declared and to prove that he was very sincere about it he ordered his eight squads of three into formation and put them through a lively set of drills.

Military formations and drills were rapidly followed by intricate fancy maneuvers which would have been a credit to a team boasting much greater experience.

In addition to the members of the drill team, the Phoenix lodge will send a fife and drum corps consisting of 16 fifes and eight drums and a saxophone quartet. The entire organization will be led by a sextette of three boys (coming Elks), one fife and the other two drummers.

Phoenix will get its first glimpse at the fully attired team in action at the capital grounds, Flag day, June 14.

Arrangements are being made to run a special train from Phoenix to the coast city for the convention. It is expected that delegates from all over the state will make reservations on this train.

BLANCHE P. RUNYON CONCLUDES SERIES OF ORGAN RECITALS

The fifth organ recital given by Blanche Post Runyon at the First Methodist Episcopal church last night brought to a close the first series of organ recitals in Phoenix.

Mrs. Runyon is a most gifted musician, possessing executive ability, and it is expected that delegates from all over the state will make reservations on this train.

The program presented varied tones, including the first number, Shoppard's "Desert Song," with its quaint Oriental mood, proving a favorite with the audience.

The suite, "Sketches of the City," by Neven was thoroughly descriptive, the outstanding numbers being "On the Avenue," "An Old Lady on a Porch," "Urchin Whistling in the Streets," and "In Busy Mills."

Lawrence Leitch, as the assisting soloist, won his audience with his remarkable rendition of the famous aria, "Every Valley Shall Be Exulting" from the "Messiah." Mr. Leitch sang the dramatic "Flower Song" from "Carmen" with perfect technique and exquisite taste.

He possesses a most beautiful tone of voice of rare quality and the choice of selections in which he was heard was of an artistic level.

It is hoped that his voice may be heard more often in the future.

WHAT EVERY HUSBAND KNOWS
"Is it hard to please women," sighed Blinks.

"What's up now?" asked Jinks sympathetically.

"Why, my wife has harped so on how hard it is to please a woman, that I have had to get a divorce."

"And wasn't she pleased?" asked the other.

"Oh, I don't know. She's been talking ever since about how much more sensible it would have been if I had gotten a man and brought a new divorce with me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC STUDENTS PRESENT PLEASING PROGRAM

An unusually pleasing program took place at the Arizona School of Music last evening. The occasion was the singing of Susan Merie Baldwin, a pupil of Walter Hastings Olney, head of the vocal department, with pupils from the dramatic department in charge of Mrs. Dwight Barr Easley, and dancing pupils of E. Paula Revare.

Miss Baldwin has a voice of clear, beautiful tone quality, which she uses with skill and fine taste, showing the excellent training she has been under.

She possesses an easy comfortable stage presence and in the numbers last evening, both singer and songs were interesting. The young lady thoroughly establishing herself as one of the best singers of this community.

She was assisted at the piano by that peer of accompanists—William Orth—and by a quartet in the last group of old-time songs composed of other students of Mr. Olney—the Misses Anna Marie Calvert and Doris Christy; George Grosso and E. H. Harrington.

Miss Hoopes received much applause after her monologue, and showed that she has real ability as an entertainer. The sketch, also from the dramatic department, was given with snap and splendid interpretation—each character taking the part assigned in an entirely natural manner.

Meredith Bishop, as "the girl," was very true to everyday life. Dwight E. Earle was "the man," and John Grand was the typical new-boy.

Little Miss Jane Jay Royce, in a fitting costume, gave "The Quakeress" dance charmingly, while Miss Elizabeth Lopez was seen in a lively Spanish dance which she executed most artistically.

Both the dances were assisted by Mrs. J. O. McVey at the piano.

While a number of recitals will be given before the opening of the summer school in June, only two have been scheduled to take place at night, one on the evening of May 30, and one on June 2.

The program as given last night follows: Vocal— "Dearest Name" (Rigoletto) Verdi "Ah! Might He Be His Voice" Monologue— "Hear on the Beach" Isabel Fliske Winne Hoopes Vocal— "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" "I Dream That I Dwell in Bohemia" (Bohemian Girl) "Annie Laurie" Sketch in One Act— "By Courier" Cast: The Girl Meredith Bishop The Man Dwight E. Earle The New-boy John Grand Scene in the park Time: Early morning.

"Ah! So Pure" (Martha) Flotow Dances— "The Quakeress" Jane Jay Royce Castanet Dance Elizabeth Lopez Vocal— "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" "Sweet and Low" "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" "Silver Threads Among the Gold" (Quartet) Anne Marie Calvert Doris Christy George Grosso E. H. Harrington.

SHERIFF'S MACHINE WINS RACE FOR LIFE

Successful in their race for life north to Bumblebee Sunday night, Deputy Sheriffs R. M. Price and Al DeWitt arrived in Phoenix Monday morning at 2:30 o'clock bringing T. B. Anderson, a Crown King miner, and his 10-year-old daughter to the bedside of Mrs. Anderson at the St. Elizabeth's hospital. The 130-mile trip was made without a mishap in seven hours with Deputy Price at the wheel.

Mrs. Anderson, who is critically ill, the result of blood poisoning, has reported last night to be steadily improving. A mental and nervous condition developed Sunday which made the presence of her husband and daughter necessary. Only one train a week is run over the only railroad into Crown King since the mines closed down.

Mr. Anderson reached Bumblebee from Crown King on a gas engine speeder on the railroad. The mountain climb into Crown King is too steep for automobiles and the railroad reaches the town by means of seven switchbacks. The sheriff's car left Phoenix at 7:30 o'clock Sunday and met Mr. Anderson and daughter near Bumblebee at 1 o'clock. With the husband and daughter at the bedside, the attending physician believed that Mrs. Anderson will recover.

Because of general conditions, the Salvation Army has had more calls for assistance than usual, according to their report for the last six months. During that period the Salvation Army has given 4365 meals to the hungry, lodging to more than 600, found work for 542 persons, given garments and shoes to 257 families and distributed 500 War Cry papers to owners in jails and patients in hospitals. Officers of the organization visited 266 homes of the sick and poor of the city.

The relief and industrial home on First street continues to serve as a place for homeless men. This building, costing more than $100,000, has been paid for by the Salvation Army corps.

The Army has conducted 94 indoor gospel services and 126 open air services since the first of the year. During the past six months the Army has distributed clothing and food to the poor totaling in value $4829.56. A call to 236 East Jefferson street or phone call to 4156 will be appreciated.

ARIZ. LODGE NO. 2, F. & A. M., will confer Third Degree in Masonic Hall at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday. Bro. J. G. HAMMONS, W. M.

COLOR SCHEME
For the home dressmaker no materials could combine more beautifully for an evening frock than pale green chiffon trimmed with bands of gray tulle. The contrast is lovely, and made in the most simple way, gives the gown an air of distinction.
