Eyes! Men's Or Women's

Eyes are the mirrors of the soul, they say. Here are four sets of mirrors. Can you tell whether they mirror men's souls or women's souls? And whose?

You've seen these eyes hundreds of times before. Their owners are known to every American. Their pictures have appeared in The Republican often.

So hold your hand over the last paragraph of this story. Make your guess. Then read on and see how good an eye for eyes you have.

The first pair belong to one who makes the whole world smile. Man or woman? And who?

The second pair belong to one who has served on international conferences abroad. Now, don't be too hasty!

The owner of the third pair has an important job in the federal government. Man or woman?

Every movie fan knows the owner of the fourth pair. Who is it?

Now lift your hand and read:

No. 1 is Charlie Chaplin.

No. 2 is Mabel Boardman, Red Cross leader, who's been American delegate to several Red Cross conferences in Europe.

No. 3 is Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

No. 4 is Theda Bara.

Did you have 'em right?

TAKES MEDICINE FOR PATIENT.

Temple Manning in the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Among the Tahl Tau Indians of British Columbia there are many curious customs to be found, but the strangest of all is the way their doctors practice medicine.

I had spent some time in the neighborhood before I heard anything about their medical ways and probably I should have left the country without knowing anything at all about them had not one of my guides, Randy by name, had the ill-luck to fall sick. From my field medicine chest I selected the drug that appeared to be indicated by his symptoms, but when I approached his cot to give it to him, Randy turned his face to the wall and voiced a weak, but determined protest against taking the medicine. He wanted me to take it.

With the patience that I have learned is necessary if you would accomplish anything with an Indian, I explained I was not sick, but he was, and that by taking the medicine he would get well. My patience and my words were useless. Randy was determined not to take that medicine, and take it he did not. But he begged me send for the tribal medicine man, and to humor Randy I sent for him.

When the "doctor" arrived he proved to be a weak-looking dirty old man, but Randy hailed him with joy. I left them alone together.

Hardly had I finished dinner when Randy's squaw came to the tent and begged me to come and see Randy. Naturally, I went.

When I asked Randy what I could do for him he pointed to his "doctor," and with the blissfulness of faith, he said:

"That ums the way to take medicine."

I stared at the old "doctor" in amazement. For instead of giving his patient the medicine he had prepared, he was taking it himself. The only part of the cure to which Randy was subjected was the discomfort of hearing tom-tom drums beaten at his bedside all night long.

When Randy was up and about again, for recover he did with amazing quickness, he never ceased to argue the medicine taking question. As a clincher he would point to himself as living evidence of the truth of his theory that medicine should be taken not by the patient, but by the doctor.

A fine of $10,000, assessed against every county in which a lynching occurred, is the penalty that would be enforced if a bill which the judiciary committee in congress has just reported is passed. It would also imprison rioters and prosecute negligent officers.
