AMATEUR PLAY IS INTERESTING SOCIETY EVENT

The "something different" scheduled this week gives interest to affairs not to be found in the usual run of dinners, dances and bridge. Amateur theatricals always have a fascination for society, and when its favorite members appear in the production, the interest is manifold. A one-act farce that is to be presented at the Country club Wednesday evening is not only attracting the interest of club members but the public in general, which will make up the audience which will witness the clever performance at the club house. The cast is rehearsing under the capable direction of Mrs. Celora Martin Stoddard. Mrs. Avery Corpestein will take the lead, while other equally well known amateurs who will take part include Mrs. Lou Ella Archer, Mrs. Tom Dunbar, Celora Martin Stoddard, Lester Byron, R. Allyn Lewis, and W. W. Kingsbury. Other features of the evening will be a dance number by Mrs. Marvin Smith and a male quartet arranged by her husband. The Dunbar will also contribute to the enjoyment.
