MISSION TO NEAR EAST.

Many are the rumors which surround the mission of Lord Kitchener. That he has gone to the near east is dmitted by the British government and on the way he had an important conference with the French authorities. Soon thereafter comes word that a member of the French cabinet, serving without a portfolio but previously eign affairs, has left for Athens, and is but natural that it should be inferred that they are engaged in the task of straightening out the tangle in the Balkans if such a thing is possotten to the point where it knows no limit. All sorts of stunts even to the risking of life are undertaken by men and women for the satisfying of the demands, but they know what they are doing and if they are willing to take such risks for the meney that is in it the decision rests with them. When, however, it comes to practicing cruelties upon animals it is time to call a halt and the authorities are doing the proper thing when they step in and punish those who are responsible for such performances.

The field of the moving pictures is not so small that the makers are driven to such desperate measures and if prosecution does not put an end to it there should be action upon the part of patrons which could and would effectively check it, for it is folly to pay attention to the cases of cruelty which are of every day occurrence, if much worse ones are to be permitted. It sets a bad example which needs correction before it becomes a habit.

Vermont is endeavoring to create a demand for New England apples and to stimulate interest in the possibilities of profit in new orchards. An ordinary crop in Vermont is 3,200,000 bushels of good quality, and as land is comparatively cheap and the climate is favorable there is no doubt that the yield can be greatly increased.
