CROWD OF 3,300 HEARD NOODLES

Was a Free Party.

The party was free, absolutely. Noodles was here, and he proved himself some host. The invitations to the party said 4.15. Half an hour before that time Water street was swarming with the children.

Notes and Personal. The party was not confined to the boys and girls, but more than 200 adults were present and they enjoyed Noodles to the limit.

Save Your Money. In his interesting talk to the children, Noodles gave his audience, particularly the boys, much good advice, which, if they heeded, he said, would help them to become good men and an honor to their country.

NOODLES FAGAN'S SNAPPY EPIGRAMS

The most sacred spot in this world—the home. The home is the greatest problem with which we have to contend today. I think the downfall of most every man or woman can be traced to some defect in the home.

an entertainment which consisted of a large number of moving pictures. These proved of much interest to the children. They consisted of moving picture scenes from various countries.

Talent and Steam.

Noodles is a picturesque and emphatic object lesson. He is a living reminder that there are few remarkable performances in which "steam" is not 75 per cent. of the miracle.

Suppose that Noodles had not possessed the natural talent, but had used the 75 per cent. of the steam.

Rules for the Boys. Noodles gives the boys a heart to heart talk on how to be a successful newsboy. Here are some of his tabloid rules for success:

- Be on time. Be polite. Keep clean. Don't smoke. Don't drink. Always smile.

My Country 'Tis of Thee. Noodles diverted the thoughts and enthusiasm of the children into patriotic channels.

Save Your Money. In his interesting talk to the children, Noodles gave his audience, particularly the boys, much good advice.
