HERRICK, FOR SULZER, RECALLS NOTABLES OF OTHER TIMES

Ex-Senator Brackett Also Roasts the Governor in His Argument

Albany, Oct. 10.—Never since the impeachment trial of Gov. Sulzer opened has he been subjected to such a severe verbal flaying as in his argument for the board of managers, today.

"Before this bar the defendant stands guilty of offenses charged by the impeachers and proven by uncontroverted evidence," he said. "Even justice must see through its severe eyes something pathetic in this defendant's frantic efforts to cover the nakedness of his wrongdoing. Defense, defense, justification, prevarication, denunciation of his accusers—attempts to suppress the truth, to divert attention, to cast the blame elsewhere—each in turn has been stripped from his quaking flesh until he stands now naked before this court without a rag of his attempted vindication clinging to his deformed and mutilated manhood.

"Every disguise has been torn from his back, from the petticoat in which he trusted for safety, from the armor of distance in which he threatened to attack and expose a political leadership to which we have found him sulng for a merciful obliteration of his misery and offering the bribe of submission. No act of his shows more perfectly the complete baseness of his character, unfitting him utterly for any public or private trust, than does his effort to cover the members of this court through channels which his warped intellect mistakingly instructed him held the power of coercion. "Regardless of the origin of these charges, regardless of any personal infliction of discomfort, this court must, we feel certain, find on all the evidence that this defendant has been
