(By Lee Pope)

Flawnt the flag of victory and blow the bawful of praise, pop sed to me after supper last night. I've made up my mind to sware awf smoking agen, and wen I make up my mind, as the torpedo sed as it took a deep breath, nothin' can stop me.

This is rather suddin, izent it, sed ma.

Well, it is rather suddin, as the cow sed to the koliding locomotive, sed pop, but kum to think of it, you dont seem especially ojoyred.

Wat do you want me to do, sing a sawng about it, sed ma.

Wy not, sed pop, or, awn seckond snawis, perhaps you havent the voice for it, as a matter of fact, what is a snor fitting okkayshin for sawng than wen a man makes up his mind to start breathng pure air out of his nose for a wile insted of air mixed with kabbidge smook, by Jorge, I feel bettir for it awredly, and I haven't startid yet.

O, did you intend to start rite away, sed ma.

Sertely and by awl means, sed pop, if a things werth doing its werth do- ing now, as a man sed wen he called forth to kill the fello that invented rag time.

The only thing in, sed ma, they say its harmful scotimes to brake awf a habit rite suddinly, they say you wnt to do it gradually.

Well, there mite be sumthing in that, to sed pop, I stopped kum- pletely awf a suddin I mite feel the craving to dekarate my breathng processs as strawng within me that just to relieve my feelings I mite stop out and smook a mounth or so.

Thats the ideser, sed ma, do it grad- ually.

Gradually is the word, sed pop, I think ill start smooking less and less.

W. E. BARNETT, EX-BRIDGEPORTER, DIES IN PINEHURST, N. C.

Former Vice President of New Haven Road, Yale Grad and City Clerk Here

New Haven, Oct. 10.—William E. Barnett, a former vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., died, last night at Pinehurst, N. C. He had been in poor health for some years following a stroke of apoplexy. Word came to members of the family here, today. The body will be brought to New Haven for burial.

Mr. Barnett was 68 years of age. He was graduated from Yale in 1884 and from the Albany Law School two years later. He moved to Bridgeport and served as city clerk for a year. He was then taken by President Bishop, of the New Haven road as his private secretary. Next Mr. Barnett was executive secretary of the company and its offices were in the Grand Central Station in New York. Mr. Barnett came to New Haven in 1887 when the offices were moved here. Mr. Barnett then became attorney for the road and still later under President John M. Hall he became vice-president in charge of the department of law and real estate.

About 10 years ago, ill health caused Mr. Barnett's retirement. He had spent much time in Pinehurst, in recent years and only a week ago went there for his winter's stay. It is thought the journey overtaxed his strength.

His widow, two sons and two daughters survive. One son is an attorney for the railroad company and the other, Paul, is city editor of the New Haven Register.

EUGENICS COME BEFORE BISHOPS AT CONVENTION

New York, Oct. 10.—Marriage and divorce again came to the fore today at the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. At a session of the House of Deputies prior to a joint meeting of that body and of the House of Bishops, the diocese of Los Angeles admitted a resolution suggesting that marriages after divorce be forbidden by the canons of the church.

The diocese of Michigan, reaching into field of Eugenics, came forward with a resolution which would forbid Episcopal clergymen uniting in marriage any couple the parties of which had not first obtained a physician's certificate to the effect that they were normal mentally and not afflicted with a disease rendering marriage inadvisable. The diocese also would require the posting of the marriage banns in the church or the publication of the civil license in a newspaper.

Another resolution suggested that some month other than October be selected for convention time. All were referred to committees.

"CANDY KID" DORKIN OUT WITH CHALLENGE TO MEET LIGHTWEIGHTS

Phil Monroe, better known hereabouts as "Candy Kid" Dorkin, is ready to do battle with any of the lightweights of the state, first to apply first to be accommodated.

The "Candy Kid" points with pride to his record in New York last season, where he took part in 17 star battles; 12 were knockouts, got decisions in two; drew twice and lost one. Some record as follows: Jim Eddy, the best boy in Brooklyn, is the only man that "Kid" ever lost to and that was a decision given against him by the scribes. Monroe is anxious to test his mettle with Al Ketchell, but the field is open and he will meet any of the boys in his class. Monroe can be found at 23 Williston street.

DRANK EVERYTHING ELSE, THEN ASKED FOR WATER

Asking for a drink of water and appearing as if he needed one to serve as a balance for other drinks of a different liquid, Fred Lincoln of East Hartford, dropped into police headquarters early this morning. Soon afterwards he developed an attack of "second sight" which resulted in Dr. John J. MacDonald's being called from the emergency hospital. He made a diagnosis of acute dementia. The insane ward at Lakeview soon hid him from the view of the world, making an addition to that already overcrowded department of the institution.

COLLIE'S BARKING SAVES LOST TOT FROM EXPOSURE

The intelligence of "Laddie," a collie owned by Agent Alexander Howell of the Connecticut Humane society, resulted in the discovery of a lost child yesterday afternoon in time to prevent serious results from exposure.

badly frightened to give name or address, had been wandering about the North End and became thoroughly wet. He was crying pitifully when "Laddie" saw him through the window, apparently knew something was wrong and began barking. Mrs. Howell, attracted by the actions, looked out, discovered the little wanderer and took him inside the house. A trip around the neighborhood did not result in any trace being found as to his identity. Police headquarters was communicated with and the little fellow was soon turned over to Mrs. David Jack, police matron. Later the boy's mother appeared and took him away but left no name or address.
