HOWLAND'S Entrances in Main Street, Fairfield Avenue, and Cannon Street.

Bridgeport, Conn. The Weather—Fair, colder tonight and tomorrow. Saturday, Feb. 1, 1913.

Formal dress for men.

Quickly and with sure satisfaction, a man may procure proper apparel for formal occasions at this Howland store for men.

It is sort of apparel that man will wear with absolute knowledge that it is right.

The fabric is right, to begin with. The tailoring is wonderfully clever and thorough.

The styles are correct: are latest to be produced and are attractive.

From all its force of skilled tailors, the House of Kuppenheimer picks the most-expert and most-careful to produce this apparel; the sort which men are most particular in choosing.

Full dress suits, varying grades of fabric but all of correct style and fine tailoring,—$20 $25 and to $50.

Tuxedo suits, excellently made and finished,—$17.50 to $25.

Prince Albert of double-breasted frock coats with vest,—$20.

Correct white dress waistcoats,—$2.50.

Gray striped dress trousers,—$4 $5 and $6.

Topcoats in Chesterfield style,—$15 $20 and to $28.
