JOHN H. FARRELL HEAD OF ALL MINOR LEAGUES

Since the first of the month three of the big minor leagues have opened their regular seasons, and before another month has passed the smaller circuits all over the United States and Canada will be engaged in pennant races. All of these organizations are headed together in an association, and the leader, director and one of the founders of this far-reaching body is John H. Farrell, to whom more than any other person the professional baseball of minor league ball is due. Mr. Farrell is nearing the half-century mark in age, and was born in Auburn, N. Y., where he still maintains his headquarters.

As a young man he was a player of more than usual ability, usually covering third base, but he never attempted to break into the professional ranks. It was while engaged in newspaper work that he was first attracted to the possibilities of minor league baseball. He fathered the New York State League, with an original circuit of small towns in the vicinity of Auburn, and as its president built up the present flourishing circuit, which includes eight of the larger cities of New York and Pennsylvania. It was about seven years ago that he broached the scheme of organizing the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. The first session was attended by representatives of the New England, Eastern, Pacific Northwest, New York State and Three-I Leagues.

M. H. Sexton was chosen president, and Mr. Farrell was made secretary, a job he has held ever since. With the opening of the 1902 season the national association's membership included, besides the leagues originally represented, the Pacific, Western, Southern and Connecticut leagues and the Western Association. During the last few years the average membership has been about fifty leagues. Mr. Farrell is paid a salary of $5,000 a year. In addition to his other duties, Mr. Farrell is chief justice of the supreme court of minor league baseball, and in that capacity decides all controversies between the minors, except when major leagues are interested in the outcome of the dispute.

DR. MARY WALKER TELLS WOMEN TO MARCH TO POLES

Washington, April 11.—"The way to win the ballot is to use it. March to the polls in numbers at the next election and cast your votes."
This is the solution of the suffrage question according to Dr. Mary Walker, who, clad in trousers, frock coat and silk hat, told the leaders at the National Woman's Suffrage headquarters today that there was nothing in the declaration of independence or the constitution which prevented them from exercising the right of suffrage. State laws, she declared, which sought to deprive women of the privileges they were without legal effect when they ran counter to the constitution.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Frank B. Finch, whose body was recently found in the waters of the harbor, was held in New Haven yesterday, services being in charge of Adelphi lodge of Odd Fellows, of which he was a member. Besides the family a number of friends and acquaintances from Bridgeport attended the services. Besides a widow, the deceased is survived by a mother, Mrs. E. A. Osborn; a sister, Mrs. C. A. Swindon, and a daughter, Mrs. D. Corbett, of Bridgeport. A brother, Edward, resides in Stamford.

NEED LARGER HALL.
Court Nathaniel Wheeler, F. of A., may take action this evening upon a proposition to change the meeting place to a larger hall than the one now occupied in the Lincoln building. There is a large accession to the membership expected, and larger quarters are needed.

BANS BEAUTIFUL GIRLS AS TEACHERS

Richmond, Ind., April 11.—"Don't hire teachers who are extremely pretty or who are very homely." Superintendent of Public Instruction C. O. Williams urged a meeting of school trustees here, last night. He believed all teachers as well as children should undergo medical examinations to determine their fitness.

"A teacher's appearance should be such as not to draw attention to her; therefore the beautiful women should be avoided."
The trustees listened attentively but took no action.

ANNIVERSARY OF LEE'S SURRENDER

The anniversary of the surrender of General Robert E. Lee to General U. S. Grant was celebrated last night by Elias Howe, Jr., Post, G. A. R., with a camp fire at which some of the old stories were told over and the incidents of the surrender again related. Many of those present last night were actors in that last great drama of the Civil War. As guests the veterans

SCALY-LIKE RASH ON BABY'S LEGS

132 Balch St., Beverly, Mass.—"When my baby was but six weeks old she broke out on her legs and neck with a dry, scaly-like rash. I soon noticed it seemed to be masting together on her neck and was coming out on her arms. She was very fussy and needed constant attention. She could only sleep about half an hour at a time either day or night. In about three days it had become raw sores. It turned into a running sore on her neck and was fast becoming so on her arms."
"I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed her with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Ointment as soon as I got them and they seemed to afford instant relief. She went right to sleep and slept for three hours, the first time for over two weeks. After two or three applications of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I noticed a decided change. I continued the treatment and she was completely cured. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her." (Signed) Mrs. C. B. Giles, Apr. 19, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold every where. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T., Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

WATER POLLUTION DISCUSSED.

The pollution of the waters of Connecticut streams and harbors by sewage was the topic for discussion by the members of the Progressive Club at its meeting in the Plaza building, last evening, a large number of the members taking part in the discussion. Next Thursday evening the merit system in the police department of the city will be the topic.
