(By Wagner) Harry Spratt, who played shortstop for the Mechanics last season, is now manager of the Selma, Ala., team of the Cotton States league. He was sent to Selma from Montgomery of the Southern league a few weeks ago...

SHUGRUE BEATS SAMMY ROBIDEAU Gives Former Sailor Fine Trimming in Ten Round Bout

Pounding away like an electric tripper, steadily, ceaselessly and live-ly, Joe Shugrue of Jersey City wore down Sammy Robideau of Philadelphia in the first eight rounds, dropped him twice in the ninth session, once in the tenth chapter and won by a large margin at Madison Square Garden, New York, last night.

There Would Be Fewer Failures--

if there were fewer men blocking the way to their own success. Success is elusive—it keeps itself scarce; but whenever you see it, it is well-dressed! "Hard Luck" says, "I can't afford to dress well."

This Season We Have A $15.00 Special that performs a deed that has heretofore required $20 and $22. This "special" takes in Serges, Chevliots and Fancy Mixtures; it is a garment that is grander than anything I have ever before priced so low as $15.

IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Manager Charley Doot of the Phillies took a mean slap at the Superbas, Pirates and Cubs, when he said that the Giants are the only team he feared. Otto Jordan, the old Brooklyn star and later pilot of the Atlanta Crackers, is managing the Valdosta, (Ga.) team of the Empire state league.

WASHINGTON FANS DON'T SHOW PROPER RESPECT TO PRESIDENT

Baseball fans in Washington are not respecting President Wilson with the respect due the chief executive, who has pursued until it becomes presumption. It would be well for those who are inclined to indulge in such expressions of intimacy to bear in mind that while as an individual he might be gratified by spontaneous manifestations of popularity of even such questionable taste, it is impossible to consider his status as a citizen apart from his position as the incumbent of the presidential office, and that the dignity of the nation of which he is chief magistrate, is involved in the manner in which he is recognized on all occasions.

BRIDGEPORT BOY WINS HARVARD TITLE

Watson Washburn, Brookdown Member, Captures Tennis Championship. Cambridge, Mass., June 6.—W. M. Washburn, of New York, a sophomore, retained his title as tennis champion in singles at Harvard University yesterday by defeating J. J. Armstrong, of St. Paul, 7-5, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

YALE CREW SHIFTED AGAIN BY COACHES

Gales Ferry, June 6.—The Yale crewmen tried out another combination in the varsity eight yesterday morning. Freeman and Stephenson, who have been pulling Nos. 3 and 5 respectively, changing places. In this order the crew rowed the river. On the way the launch Bluna Yale containing the coaches ran on a submerged rock and stove a small hole in her bottom forward. The leak was very slight, however, and the launch went back to the float without taking in much water. When the freshmen boat went out for its practice Stauffer was rowing the bow or in place of Gallard, who went back to the freshman four.

FRED MERKLE GETS SEVERE ROAST FROM ONE THOUGHTLESS FAN

(Sporting News.) One hot day last summer Fred Merkle of the Giants had just scored from first on a long hit. A few moments later, playing first, he chased four long fouls in succession, just missing each one by a step. As the fifth foul looped up, some 50 feet away, daisy, tired out and all in, Merkle only trotted for it, where he couldn't have snugged it at full speed. As he picked up the ball he looked up into the red, apoplectic face of an enraged fan only ten or twelve feet away giving this advice: "Why don't you get in the game, you big stew, and play ball? No wonder the club is in a slump with a lot of loafers like you flourishing on the job."
