AMERICAN COMMISSION ON AGRICULTURAL COOPERATION STUDIES GERMAN METHODS

Weisbaden, Ger., July 16—The American Commission on Agricultural Cooperation came to Weisbaden from Heidelberg, where half a day had been spent visiting typical local Raiffeisen societies in the neighboring farming communities.

The first institution visited by the Commission in Weisbaden was the Nassau District Mortgage Credit Bank, a government institution.

The bank was organized in 1840 by the government of what was then the Grand Duchy of Nassau.

In the case of the mortgage bank of Nassau, however, there is a second guarantee placed behind the land bonds—the guarantee of the government.
