MOTORMAN DIES BY OWN NEGLIGENCE IS CORONER'S VERDICT

Southington, Conn., Aug. 8.—Negligence on the part of Motorman William Dilger in running his car at a high rate of speed on a down grade was the primary cause of the trolley accident, late last night, near Milldale station in which Dilger was killed, according to the finding of the coroner, today. There was evidence, it is stated, that the motorman had endeavored to use the brakes but that they had not worked properly. The car, after jumping the tracks, plunged into the side of the brick building of the Ellis Manufacturing company which stands near the track and tore a big hole in the wall. Had it not hit the wall it would probably have landed in a small stream which runs by the mill at that point. Dilger was breathing when found on the front platform under a pile of wreckage, but did not live long. He was not only making the last trip for the night but his final run also as he had expected to get through today. He was 42 years of age and lived in Southington where he leaves a widow and child. The single passenger on the car and the conductor, Emil Behnit, escaped injury. The car was put back on the tracks about 6 o'clock, this morning, and taken to the shops where it was examined and its brakes tested. Superintendent Robert P. Lee, of the Meriden division of the Connecticut company, under whose jurisdiction the section of track where the accident occurred comes, made an investigation during the night and this morning directed the tests. He said afterwards that the brakes worked properly. The car is of steel construction, he said, and considered one of the fastest on the line. Dilger was what is known as a shop extra but had had four years' experience in running the cars and was considered a good man. Superintendent Lee said he could not understand how the accident happened unless it was because Dilger became lost as to the location of the terminal where he should have stopped and did not realize the situation until he had run over it.

STUDENTS ON HIKE FROM GETTYSBURG

Mount Gretna, Pa., Aug. 8.—The company of eastern university students undergoing a course of military instruction arrived here, yesterday, on their hike from Gettysburg and will remain until next Thursday at rifle practice on the state range. The company numbered 142 originally but there are now but 142, the rest having been called home. Since the hike started, last Thursday, the students have studied military problems daily. On Wednesday, the company of United States engineers, which accompanied the party, acted as an enemy and was captured with a figurative wagon train. This train was conveyed triumphantly into Gretna. Major James McRae, of the Fifth United States Infantry, in command, says the men stood the journey with remarkable fortitude.

Sale at Mollan's. The broken line sale of women's high grade low shoes, at Mollan's, 1028 Main street, is still in progress. Last pairs of different lines of fine low shoes are being relegated to the bargain tables, to the advantage of patrons who are able to find the right size in the lot. Mollan's footwear is too well known to need indorsement.

From the confident tone of the graduating essays, it seems likely that all of the country's problems will be settled by about 1924.

DR. FINNEGAN ELECTED AMBULANCE SURGEON

Dr. John H. Finnegan, formerly of St. Vincent's hospital staff and more recently a substitute physician in the Emergency hospital, was yesterday appointed to a regular post in that department by the Board of Charities. Dr. Finnegan takes the place vacated by the death of Dr. C. E. Pratt which is now to be investigated by a committee of the Board appointed to ascertain if infection secured in department work was the contributory cause of his early demise. Commissioners Judge and Harris have been appointed to investigate and report at the next meeting on September 8. A request for more ground upon which to build the isolation hospital at the Lakeview Home has been made by the department of Health and will be taken up at a later meeting of the board.

In appropriate and desirable articles can be found to fit equally well the filled wallet or slender purse; and again, they are needed for the new home quite as much as furniture, china, and other things. We make a specialty of carrying a wide assortment of suitable gift articles in silver glass and plate, especially those nationally advertised.

TILLMAN CLASHES WITH WASHINGTON TROLLEY PUNCHER

Washington, Aug. 8.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, is the latest national legislator to clash with a street car conductor and today, he was engaged in "cooling off," as he expressed it before determining whether he would file charges against the man. Within the past few weeks, Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, and Representative Buchanan, of Illinois, have clashed with conductors on the Pennsylvania avenue street cars. "If this keeps up," said a Senator today, laughing, "we'll have to organize the 'Solons Street Car Society For Conductor Chasing.' It seems about to become the most popular summer sport with Congress." Senator Tillman, with Mrs. Tillman, boarded a car at the capitol to ride to their home. He proferred his tickets while standing on the step and, according to his account, the conductor ordered him onto the platform, "in an abrupt and discourteous manner." The clash followed and the Senator took the man's name and number. The conductor, today, denied that he had been or intended to be discourteous.

BATTLESHIP WITH 223 U. S. MIDDIES ON HOMEWARD RUN

Washington, Aug. 8.—With 223 midshipmen of the first and third classes aboard, the battleship Illinois reported to the navy department, today, that she had left Punalu, Madeira, on the last stage of her foreign cruise. The vessel will land the future admirals at Annapolis on August 29. Advice from the vessel declare the midshipmen were entertained royally at the various ports at which the warship touched and that the cruise had been a highly profitable one for the classmen. While at Antwerp, the advice stated, the Illinois had as its guest Chas. D. Hayes, who served in the Civil War aboard two of the first armored vessels in the United States navy, the double turreted ram Keokuk and the monitor Montauk. The veteran wrote to the commanding officer his regrets that he was "too old and feeble" to visit the ship whereupon the officers went ashore and took off the old sea fighter and his aged wife for a day. The Illinois will arrive in Hampton Roads, August 22, to take part in the big guns practice. One week later it will unload the cadets at Annapolis, at which time they will be given a month's leave.
