Frost Comes Early.

Danbury had its first frost of the season Wednesday. It came unusually early. It caused very little, if any, damage.

Ridgefield Liquor Cases.

Ten who were caught in the recent liquor raids in Ridgefield were fined and also given jail sentences Wednesday. The jail sentences, however, were suspended, but the defendants will have them hanging over their heads so that it will be dangerous for them to again resume illegal liquor traffic. Fines and jail sentences imposed were as follows: Peter Grotto, $50 and 60 days in jail; Victoria Grotto, $75 and 90 days in jail; Augustus Conti, $125 and 150 days in jail; Chiro Cuccoli, $125 and 150 days in jail; Eralia Cuccoli, $15 and 150 days in jail; Paul Marcelli, $50 and 60 days in jail; Carola Marcelli, $75 and 90 days in jail; Filomena Tarse, $75, John Spadoni and Mary Spadoni, who were on trial, withdrew their pleas of not guilty, and the man was fined $50 and sentenced to sixty days in jail, while the woman was fined $75 and sentenced to ninety days in jail. Nearly all of the search and seizure cases were taken up and the liquor ordered destroyed. The case against Mancha Conti was continued until September 20, owing to her condition, a physician's certificate showing she could not attend court. The cases of Guglielmo Zandri, Rosa Zandri, Grochimino Carboni, Mary Carboni, Luisa L'Intenze, Achille Bacchroacchi and Giuseppe Mi Molluccio have been continued to September 20 by agreement of counsel. The cases against Julius L'Intenze and John Ginepro were nolle.

No Typhoid Germs.

As a matter of satisfying the public as to the condition of the city of Norwalk water, in view of the typhoid epidemic, which it has been found was caused by bottles washed with infected well water, Frederick Buckley, secretary of the Norwalk water commissioners, took a sample of the city water on September 5 and submitted it to the laboratory of the state board of health at Middletown where a chemical analysis was made and a report returned showing the water to be up to the standard and containing no matter which would cause typhoid.

Automobile Events

As an outcome of an automobile accident in Darien, Friday afternoon, wherein an automobile owned by J. F. Miller of Montclair, and driven by Frank Meyers ran into a wagon owned by the Wetwash Laundry of Norwalk, throwing out and injuring Thos. Allen of South Norwalk, Mr. Miller out on bond after being served with a body writ for damages aggregating $450. One writ was served for the Allen boy's parents, who claim $300 damages for injuries the lad received about his head and body, principally bruises. No bones were broken. The other writ is in an action claiming $150 for the Wetwash Laundry Co. of Norwalk, for damages to the wagon. The horse was not injured. Mr. Miller's chauffeur, Frank Meyers, was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving. Several citizens testified that the car was traveling at nearly fifty miles an hour when it struck the wagon.

Roger H. Love of Stamford, was on Wednesday fined $5 and costs, a total of $17.74 for driving an automobile at excessive rate of speed in Greenwich, last Sunday night, and he was also fined $5 for driving the aforesaid automobile with the muffler cut out.

Legrand Jackson, a Norwalk jeweler, had a novel and profitable experience recently when Samuel Hitchcock returned a loan of $100 which he had borrowed of Mr. Jackson's brother, Alfred Jackson, fifty years ago.

ADVERTISE IN THE FARMER.

THE PERRY MEMORIAL. Description of Column Erected at Put-in-Bay Together With Museum and Colonnade.

That part of Wednesday's celebration which was held at Put-in-Bay took place upon the site of the Perry memorial which is now in the initial stages of erection. The central motive of the memorial, as it will be when completed, is a column 335 feet in height which stands alone and dominates the surrounding waters and country. It is surmounted by a massive bronze tripod, the bowl of which is illuminated by means of a cluster of 100 incandescent lights. Three hundred feet distant from the column and slightly elevated on terraces are a museum and colonnade. The museum is to house a collection of Perryana as well as arms, books, paintings, engravings and relics which are reminiscent of the war of 1812. The colonnade, a "pendant" of the museum, incloses on three sides a heroic bronze statue 15 feet in height typifying "Peace by the sword."

The three structures stand in a plaza 750 feet in length and extending 450 feet in width, from the waters of Lake Erie to those of Put-in-Bay. From the latter the plaza is reached by a broad flight of steps, forming the main approach, at the bottom of which a landing stage for small boats is provided. Besides insuring an architectural base for the general composition, the plaza is intended to serve for exercises and ceremonies requiring the accommodation of large assemblages.

The memorial rotunda at the base of the column is faced with Indiana limestone and is entered through four bronze doors facing the cardinal points of the compass. The floor of the rotunda is three feet below the level of the terrace outside and is reached by four flights of granite steps. It is composed of Tennessee marble and in its center a bronze statue of Perry will guard the bones of the battle heroes to be buried in the rotunda to-day. Their names, as well as those of all others who fought in the battle of Lake Erie are carved in stone panels.

The museum, 85 feet long and 64 wide, contains an exhibition hall the height of the building, with a gallery supported on columns running around it. At each end space for paintings illustrating the battle is provided. A frieze of panels carved in granite and bearing the shields of the 48 states of the Union runs around the facade of the building. The architect of the memorial is J. H. Freedlander of New York city. His associate in the work was A. D. Seymour, Jr., also of New York city.

ADENOIDS ARE A MENACE TO CHILDREN.

Adenoids result from a succession of colds in babies and young children. They spoil the mental and physical life of a child. The condition that causes them may easily be avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritations by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop.—Adv. 1 3 5

A POPULAR EPISODE IN FICTION.

A frequent and notable figure in modern fiction is the young woman who becomes an actress and, without adequate preparation or experience, replaces the leading lady at a moment's notice and achieves a sensational success. It is hard to imagine anything more preposterous than this episode, oft repeated and seldom laughed at by the average reader of fiction. To accept it is to acknowledge that the actor is not an art but merely an ability to look nice or scream or perform a few easily acquired tricks. Transpose the incident to some other profession and we realize its absurdity. "The conjurer has missed his train and cannot appear. Who will take his place?" "I will!" cries the janitor, and in another moment he is taking rabbits out of the ears of leading citizens. "The great surgeon is not here and delay is fatal. Who will perform the major operation?" "I will!" cries the piano tuner, as he seizes the carving knife and bares his arm to the elbow. Fiction of this sort does an incalculable amount of harm because it keeps alive in the minds of foolish young women the idea that success on the stage is merely a matter of fortunate opportunity. Acting is an art that very few can ever hope to master and then only by the hardest sort of work and sublime patience.—New York Herald.

PEOPLE WHO EAT TOO MUCH.

Jane Addams has perhaps made a more thorough intelligent and practical study of conditions among the poor of great cities than any other woman living. She is the highest authority on social settlement work. And she says that the poor eat too much.

She tells of one woman who objected to a standard menu urged upon her saying: "I don't like to eat what's nutritious. I like to eat what I'd rather."

Miss Addams tells of families on meager and uncertain incomes which spend more money for food for each member of the family than do families of immense income.

And strange as it may seem, such cases are not exceptional. Observation of them is not confined to social settlement workers. They are not confined to Chicago or even to great cities. Any grocer can tell you that his most profitable customers are not the rich, but the poor.—Hartford Post.

MONROE

Edwin C. Shelton had charge of the village store Tuesday during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Beach who spent the day in the Park City on business.

Miss Mary Bennett is enjoying a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. Richard Hubbell in Rutland, Vt.

The caucus of the Republican voters of Monroe will be held at the Town hall Friday, Sept. 12, for the purpose of nominating town officers.

Miss Elizabeth Ziersham has entered the training school for nurses at the New Haven hospital. The boarders at Mr. Victor Nelson's have all returned to their homes in Brooklyn. Frank Lester who has spent several months with Mrs. Walter C. Hazza at the New Haven hospital, has returned to his home in Huntington. Howard H. Wheeler with his force of men, and with Edwin C. Shelton, to blast the rocks which have caused much annoyance to travelers, has put the hill east of William W. Shelton's residence in fine shape. Lewis Thompson who in the spring purchased the Charles Hurd Estate of Edward L. Hurd has been very busy all summer making improvements that become more noticeable of late as he has removed one or two rooms, and will re-arrange them to make them more convenient. New windows are being placed and with the paint at last will make it a fine country residence. The Democratic electors will caucus at the town hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 13th, for the purpose of putting in nominations for the different town officers, this being the year when the terms of treasurer and town clerk expire as well as all three members of the town school committee, the making-up of the ticket is all the more important. The right kind of a spirit is shown in his efforts to attain a high school education by Philip Freeman who on Tuesday, Sept. 9th, commenced his junior year in the Shelton High school. He goes every day on his wheel or on foot making the trip of 15 miles and did the same last year, never missing a session. Washington Lodge will hold its regular communication on Monday evening Sept. 15. Work in the M. M. degree after which supper will be served.

NEWTOWN

A VOICE FROM TURKEY.

Newtown, Sept. 11.—Dr. and Mrs. Harry Barnum of Constantinople, Turkey, are spending this morning with Mrs. W. B. Sniffer of Sandy Hook. They were not impressed during the progress of the Balkan troubles, but in common with all foreign residents in the far east city they suffered many inconveniences and at times felt alarm. The European powers now have matters in hand and the security of life and property is reasonably sure there. As to the eventual disposition of the territory affected the allies will have to take the disposition to be made by the great powers of Europe. But the day of Moslem ascendancy in eastern Europe is over forever. George E. Merwin, Ridgewood, N. J., was entertained a few days recently by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Stuart. Miss Anna Gallagher was a guest of Miss Margaret Crowe. Theodore Wolff has an enforced vacation from duty at Curtis & Sons', owing to a badly infected foot from wearing dyed stockings. He is under the doctor's care but able to be around. The frosts of Tuesday and Wednesday nights did great damage to gardens and late field crops in all low places in town. Berkshire and Cold Spring suffered most severely. Edward Troy and William Shea are among those rudely handled by the Frost King. The Grange meeting last night was well attended and great interest shown by all patrons in the forthcoming year's campaign. T. F. Brew, contractor, is doing an extensive work of improvements, alterations and repairs on the residence of M. Halpine, Berkshire. The contracting firm who are putting in the lighting plant in the town hall are rushing business so as to have the lights installed in time for the caucus this week. Thomas Wright has moved from the Bradley house in North Center to the Lynch homestead near Tom Brook.

An Injunction Issued.

As a sequel to the town meeting in Hartwick on Saturday, when it was voted to pay $200 towards defraying the legal expenses of Constable J. Henry Rosenbeck in the suit brought against him for alleged false imprisonment of Walter J. Casson, papers have been served on the selectmen and treasurer of Harwinton, as an injunction, restraining them from payment of this money to Rosenbeck. This action was brought to compel Rosenbeck to bear all the expenses of his suit, which amounted to about $400. Casson was arrested by Rosenbeck over a year ago on a charge of breach of the peace and was brought to Torrington and locked up over night. He brought suit for $5,000 damages for alleged false imprisonment, and was awarded $30 and costs. It alleges that the town has no right to use the public money for private purposes, and also that the motion to pay Rosenbeck $200 for services to July 1, as a substitute for the motion to pay him his bill for legal expenses, was illegal, because it was not mentioned in the call.
