VOL. IV NO. 71. WATERBURY, CONN., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1891. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Waterbury People Aroused.

Movement on Foot That will Drive Doctors and Undertakers From Our Midst—Everyone Can Live to Be as Old as He Likes.

[From the Boston Journal of Commerce]

Take an hour of exercise to every pound of food. We are not nourished by what we eat, but by what we digest. Every hour you steal from digestion will be reclaimed by indigestion. Beware of the wrath of a patient stomach! He who controls his appetite in regard to the quality of his food, may safely indulge it in regard to quantity. The oftener you eat the oftener you will repent it. Dyspepsia is a poor pedestrian, walk at the rate of four or five miles an hour and you will soon leave her behind. Abstinence from all stimulants is easier than temperance. An egg is worth a pound of meat. Sleep is sweeter after fast-day than after a feast day. A good hair mattress contributes to health, and ours are warranted or money refunded. Our woven wire lace bed will make you sleep. You will rest easy on our chamber suits and parlor suits, because you know that you bought from a house that never swindles anybody; no successful house can afford to. We sell more furniture than all the stores in this section combined. Why? Because we have the largest stock, the newest styles, and as every close buyer knows, the lowest prices. Our stoves and ranges are in two hundred houses in Waterbury, and soon they will be in the house of every good housekeeper. We waited three years to get these ranges because we knew that they were the best. We sell them from $2 to $7 less than any first-class range in the market.

Cash or Credit.

Pianos, Pianos, Pianos.

Say, John, are you a judge of pianos?

"Well now, Peter! really that is laughable; why do you ask?

Well, you see, Susie, the pet of our house, is seven years old, and wife and I have been thinging that as she is not very strong it would be the proper thing to give her a musical education. You know, John, when you and I were children attention was not so much in that direction and it was not considered so much of a qualification as at present, so I don't wonder in the least at the look of surprise that crosses your face. But really, John, your wife asked me to bring up the subject to you as your Bessie is getting to be the right age for a piano, as well; and she was of the opinion that if we should decide to both buy at once that Shoninger would give us a discount. I understand they are very reasonable with honest people who desire a piano, and being honest themselves that firm would be the best to patronize. What do you think?

Why, Peter, I have been thinking for some time on the same subject, and I stepped into the store this morning and requested Mr Pelham to give me a list of names comprising recent purchasers. He very kindly and I must say a little proudly acceded to my request by bringing forth a list of names, that fairly astonished me. Examine it. (John, perusing.) Whew, but that is surely a stunner. If those people who are judges have decided for the Shoninger piano we ought to commence the year right by doing likewise.

To Shoningers we will go looking for the best the market affords, at the lowest possible prices.

B. SHONINGER & CO,
Geo L. Pelham, Manager.

We submit the list of purchasers given to Peter, made during the last three months, honor bright, and ask our competitors to beat it if they can.

TO-DAY IN CONGRESS

A Vote to be Taken on the Shipping Bill To-Night.

BRISK DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.

The Senate is Considering the Three Big Appropriation Bills.

The President Appoints a Number of Consuls and Postmasters—Philadelphia Gets $2,000,000 for a New Mint Building—Senator Quay is Very Ill—Mr. Huston's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The day of the battle in which the fate of the American merchant marine is to be determined finds the Capitol and hotel corridors thronged with champions and enemies of the Farquhar Shipping bill. The former, though exceedingly sanguine that victory is assured, are losing no possible chance to strengthen their lines, while the latter are fighting desperately to defeat the bill.

The debate to-day was exceedingly brisk, and at times very bitter language was exchanged between the champions and the opponents of the bill. The bill is being discussed by paragraphs, and the previous question will be ordered at 5 p. m.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The Three Big Measures Now Before the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator Allison from the Committee on Appropriations reported to the Senate the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bills.

The principal changes made in the bills as passed by the House relate mainly to the amounts appropriated for clerical hire in the different departments, and do not materially affect the total appropriation in the bills.

The committee provides for 25 clerks for the Civil Service Commission in place of those now detailed to that bureau from other departments of the government. The committee also provides for an increase from 30 to 39 of the number of clerks to Senators, and places them on the annual roll.

The requirement that the carriage of mails for the two Houses shall be by contract made to the lowest bidder, an outcome of the recent investigation in the House, was stricken out.

FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Opening of the Twenty-second Annual Convention at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The 22d annual Washington convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association began its sessions in Albaugh's Opera House at 10:30 a. m., and is to continue day and evening up to and including Sunday next.

The programme is attractive and includes an address by Jeanne Brooks Greenleaf, president of the New York Association. Among others Mrs. Julia Ward Howe of Massachusetts, Isabella Beecher Hooker of Connecticut, the Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell of New Jersey and the Rev. Henry Blanchard of Maine will also deliver addresses.

There will be executive sessions held at the suffrage parlors, No. 1417 G street, and some real work behind closed doors is expected. Mrs. Spofford is to give a reception to the officers of the National Council of Women and visiting delegates to-morrow evening.

Presidential Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The following nominations were sent to the Senate by the President: Postmasters—Maine, F. E. Durnal, Mechanic Falls. New Hampshire, J. G. Jewett, Laconia. Vermont, G. B. Blake, Swanton. Massachusetts, W. A. Bartlett, Stoneham; Cyrus Knox, Palmer. Rhode Island, S. H. Cross, Westerly. New York, F. N. Mann, Troy; John Harvey, Irvington. Pennsylvania, J. A. Nash, Huntington; R. F. Mann, Bedford; C. G. Smith, Wrightsville.

Senator Quay Far from Well.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Private advices from Florida, whither Senator Quay went in search of health, indicate that his condition has in nowise improved, and that, if anything, he is not so well as when he left Washington. His friends believe he will never be a well man again. It is expected on this account that Senator Quay will at the next meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Republican Committee tender his resignation as chairman.

Cannon and Fithian Exchange Words.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—An altercation took place in the House between Mr. Cannon and Mr. Fithian, in the course of which Mr. Fithian said that he would not have his face published in the papers as the gentleman's had been, to which Mr. Cannon retorted that he had sufficient character to defend him against such assaultz. There was much confusion during the quarrel.

Consul-Generals Appointed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The President sent to the Senate the following nominations to be Consuls of the United States: H. M. Hard of New York at Clifton, Ontario; J. V. Long of Pennsylvania at Florence; S. Merrill of Massachusetts at Jerusalem; A. E. Neill of Maine at St. Stephen, N. B.

Mr. Huston's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Neither the President nor United States Treasurer Huston will deny or affirm the report that the Treasurer has tendered his resignation. The impression prevails, however, that he has tendered his resignation.

Senator Voorhees in Poor Health.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator Voorhees has left Washington for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will spend some time for the benefit of his health. From Hot Springs he will go to Indiana and will probably remain there until Congress convenes in December.

$2,000,000 for a Mint Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—On motion of Mr. Cameron, the Senate bill appropriating $2,000,000 for a new mint building at Philadelphia was passed.

ANNA DICKINSON INSANE.

The Well-Known Lecturer Taken to a Lunatic Asylum.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Miss Anna Dickinson, lecturer, author and actress, has been taken to an Insane Asylum. Her mind has been unbalanced for some time.

Miss Dickinson is a representative woman. She is a Quakeress, and in her girlhood days preferred scrubbing Philadelphia doorsteps for a small remuneration to being dependent on her mother. Her first prominent appearance was as an anti-slavery speaker.

Until 1861 she taught school for a living. Next she occupied a position in the United States mint, but was discharged for a political declaration.

In 1862 she spoke on the "National Crisis" in Boston, and in that same year, on election night in Hartford, Conn., a reception was given in her honor and a gold watch was presented to her.

In 1863 she canvassed Pennsylvania for Gov. Curtin, and her speech before Congress in '64 won her a national reputation. In 1876 Miss Dickinson left the platform for the stage.

GHASTLY HANGING SCENE.

The Rope Breaks and the Victim Had to Be Strung Up Again.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27.—William West, colored, was hanged here at 2:30 p. m. West was carried from his cell to the scaffold strapped to a plank.

When the rope was adjusted and the trap sprung West's body fell a distance of four feet. The rope snapped, and the victim fell on the ground.

The spectators rushed forward and assisted in carrying the body of the gasping, struggling criminal to the scaffold.

The rope was again adjusted and three minutes after the first drop West again swung off, dropping a distance of two feet, where he hung until dead.

The body was given to Basil West, a brother of the murderer. It was taken to his home and will be buried at Centerville.

Previous to the execution Basil West was searched and a 44-calibre revolver was taken away from him. He turned to the sheriff and said: "I'm glad you got that gun for you've saved me from committing a crime."

STRIKERS SHOT.

Non-Union Workmen at the Braddock Wire Works Fire Their Revolvers.

BRADDOCK, Pa., Feb. 27.—A serious shooting affray occurred during the morning at the Braddock Wire Works. A body of the strikers sauntered past the works, and, according to the strikers' story, asked the non-union men what kind of a day's work they were turning out. The answer was a volley from the workingmen's revolvers.

John Hobday and John Trainer, two of the strikers, fell, and were carried away by their comrades, who retreated out of range. Hobday was hit on the forehead and is expected to die. Trainer is wounded in the side and his condition is critical.

The wire mill men assert that the strikers were there with mob intentions. The injured men were removed to their homes.

Three non-union men are now in jail for the shooting. The excitement among the strikers is intense.

The Will Contest Goes On.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—In the Fayerweather will contest P. H. Butler, the lawyer who drew up the codicil of Nov. 11, which was destroyed, was the first witness after recess. He declined to state the conversation had with Mr. Fayerweather or the nature of the instrument executed. When the surrogate ordered him to answer he asked for and was granted time to take counsel as to his rights. The case was then adjourned until Monday.

A Deadly Sauerkraut Barrel.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 27.—Mary Hennecker, a 12-year-old girl living near Crawford, a small village in Burlington County, was fatally injured by the bursting of a sauerkraut barrel. Mary was sent to the cellar to get a dish of kraut for dinner. The gases which had accumulated in the barrel caused an explosion when the girl attempted to remove the lid. One of the staves of the barrel struck her in the eye and temple

Conference of Early German Settlers.

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 27.—The descendants of early German settlers of Pennsylvania held a conference here to consider the formation of the Pennsylvania German Historical Society. Nearly all the counties of Pennsylvania were represented, and it was decided to issue a call for a meeting in this city on April 15 next, when a permanent organization will be formed.

Only One Body Missing at Spring Hill.

SPRING HILL, N. S., Feb. 27.—The body of James Nairn has been recovered from the exploded mine. This is the third of the Nairn family taken out dead. This makes 123 victims, including the injured who have since died, and leaves only Manager Swift to be accounted for. A searching party is at work looking for his body. All the dead have been buried and the wounded are doing well.

Harry Marsh Hanged.

EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—Harry Marsh, who was convicted of the murder of Clara Jones, whom he killed with a coupling pin, afterwards cutting her throat from ear to ear, was hanged here at 2 p. m. He was very cheerful throughout, bidding his friends good-by and quoting poetry.

Print Works Shut Down.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Feb. 27.—The Freeman Print Works have closed down, but nothing definite can be learned as to the cause. It is rumored, however, that a $40,000 attachment has been placed on the works by New York parties, as well as one of $30,000 by a Boston bank.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 27.—The 23d annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New Jersey is in session in this city. The session will last until to-morrow evening. A great many prominent men are present and will make addresses.

Forger Mills Indicted.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Feb. 27.—George W. Mills, who forged the signature of Hotelkeeper O'Fray to a note for $150, which he discounted, was indicted and held in $1,500 bail for trial. Mills is said to have forged other notes in this vicinity.

ICE GORGES BREAK

Railroad Tracks Under Water in New York State.

DANGEROUS FLOOD IN ALBANY.

Rowboats Used in the Streets and the Freshet the Highest in Years.

The Lower Part of Schenectady Under Water—Families Near the River Leaving Their Homes—Mills and Houses in St. Lawrence County Carried Away—The Susquehanna Rising.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The freshet in the Hudson river in the vicinity of this city has continued to grow for the past two days, the water invading the streets of the city on the east side and causing a suspension of traffic except by rowboats in these streets.

At 3 a. m. the water was 15 feet above mean low tide, being the highest of any freshet in five years. At noon the water crossed Broadway at the steamboat square and the Broadway electric cars were compelled to stop their trips at that point.

The pressure against the Columbia street bridge caused by the ice jamming up against it threatens to carry it away. Should the bridge go the damage that would result to many boats—steam, sail and canal—would be very great.

Superintendent Bissell said that the New York Central-Hudson Railroad tracks were under water, both south and west of here and that the water was rapidly creeping upon the West Shore tracks. If the flood continued much longer rising trains could not be run over the West shore very long.

GOING ABOUT IN BOATS.

The Mohawk Steadily Rising and Much Damage Feared.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The water in the Mohawk River is very high. The New York Central Railroad tracks are completely blocked with water and ice between Fort Plain and Johnsville.

There is an ice gorge at Fort Plain, and the water is running through the streets to the depth of two or three feet. People are going about in boats. The water is steadily rising and much damage is feared. The telegraph wires are down all through the valley. The New York Central trains running on the West Shore tracks are two hours late. A bridge near Ames over the Canajoharie Creek was swept away last night.

The two ice gorges in the Mohawk River above Schenectady broke early, but reformed a mile below the city, flooding the lower portion of the town. A number of horses and other animals perished in the flood. Nearly all manufacturing concerns have had to close down.

The water is rising very rapidly again and many families at Spraker's, who live near the river, are moving out.

The Susquehanna Rising.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 27.—The Susquehanna River is seven feet above the low water mark, and the highway is inundated about three feet. This is the fifth flood of the season. It came very suddenly and is still rising. The lumbermen have calculated that there would be no more floods this season, and have been preparing their product for market. Great damage will be done to their stock by the flood.

Mills and Houses Carried Away.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The towns of Canton, Raymondsville and Norfolk in St. Lawrence County, and Copenhagen in Lewis County, are suffering from floods caused by the rising rivers. Several mills and houses have been carried away and considerable damage done to bridges and railroad tracks

The Flood in Arizona.

YUMA, Ariz., Feb. 27.—The water at Adonde, 30 miles east of Yuma, is rising one foot an hour, and is higher than ever, running into the telegraph office. The water is expected to reach Yuma today. The relief committee is kept busy assisting the sufferers.

May Settle the Big Coke Strike.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Secretary McBride of the United Mine Workers had a conference with Superintendents Lynch and Brennan and it was decided to have a conference of the scale committee and coke operators on Monday next, at which an attempt will be made to effect a settlement of the great strike in the coke regions. The situation is growing more alarming hourly.

The National Pool Tournament.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The fourth day of the National Pool Tournament witnessed some close and exciting play. Interest in the event is increasing. The results were: First series—Kuntzsch, 150; Saborido, 117. Second series—Ward, 150; Buddington, 124. Third series—De Oro, 150; Sherman, 112. Fourth series—Clearwater, 150; Struwe, 88.

The Ill-Fated Mine and Miners.

JEANESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Coroner Buck, of Carbon County, and his jury, accompanied by guides, entered the ill-fated mine during the morning on a tour of inspection. The coroner has begun taking evidence. All the survivors are doing as well as can be expected. The men will probably be removed to St. Luke's Hospital Sunday.

Morris Will Appoint Them.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 27.—Governor Bulkeley's executive secretary has been informed that Judge Morris will soon send in nominations for the four commissioners—insurance, banks, labor and railroad—whose nominations must be forwarded to the General Assembly within 60 days after the meeting of the Legislature.

Goes to Join the American Colony.

TROY, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Andrew M. Kein, the trusted manager of the Troy branch of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, has joined the American colony in Montreal. His accounts are badly tangled, and his wife is distracted.

A Wife Cuts Her Throat.

MATAWAN, N. J., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Joseph Black committed suicide here during the morning by cutting her throat with a razor. It is believed she was insane.

EC AP S AFTER HIM.

They Call on Deacon Buck and Warn Him to Mend His Ways.

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 27.—The bitter rivalry that has been going on in East Harwich between Deacon Smally and Deacon Buck for the affections of Deacon Smally's pretty wife shows no signs of abatement. Since publicity was given to the scandal the popular sympathy is all with Deacon Smally.

A night or two ago a band of White Caps armed with stout switches and carrying a pail of tar and a bag of feathers, visited Deacon Buck, but he was not at home. The unwelcome visitors left word that they would call again unless the deacon mended his ways.

The trouble in Deacon Smally's house hold assumed a new phase yesterday, when Mrs. Smally ordered her sister out of the house. This sister is as fair a maiden as her married sister, and Deacon Smally is authority for the statement that Deacon Buck was smitten by the sister's charms. This made Mrs. Smally very jealous, and after Buck had taken her sister to ride a few times Mrs. Smally sent her home, thus having Deacon Buck all to herself.

Deacon Smally says he has frequently caught Deacon Buck kissing his wife, and she told him that she cared more for Buck than for him. There will probably be a church investigation.

THE BISHOP KEPT OUT.

Trouble Feared Between the Church Factions at Allentown.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 27.—The Eastern Pennsylvania Evangelical Conference convened in the Ebenezer Church at 9 a. m. with presiding Elder Heil in the chair. During the night the church was guarded by officers, who were employed by the trustees, and authorized to keep Bishop Bowman from the building. It was feared that the Bishop would attempt to enter during the night.

At the hour for calling the meeting Bishop Bowman attempted to enter the church but was refused admission. Shortly afterwards the Bishop offered prayer from the steps leading to the church and a hymn was sung by those assembled, who numbered at least a thousand.

The meeting outside was then adjourned and the Bishop requested those who desired to attend the session to proceed to the Emanuel Church, where an organization would be effected.

The feeling existing between the two factions is great and the fight is not yet ended.

AGAINST THE ELLIOTTS.

The Coroner Finds Them Responsible for the Columbus Murders.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27.—Coroner Egan returned his verdict in the inquest on the two men shot by the Elliotts on Monday.

He finds that W. L. Hughes, the innocent bystander, was killed by a ball fired from Editor W. J. Elliott's revolver, while the latter was with premeditation engaged in shooting at Osborne. He also finds that Osborne was killed by P. J. Elliott, aided and abetted by W. J. Elliott.

The feeling is still strong against the prisoners, and if justice is delayed by legal quibbles a lynching is not at all im probable.

Verdict in the Shay Case.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Feb. 27.—An inquest was held at Red Bank in the case of Mrs. Norah Shay who was beaten to death by her husband, John Shay. Witnesses testified to seeing Shay jump upon his wife and otherwise beat and maltreat her. Dr. A. A. Armstrong testified that he had performed the autopsy and found the right breast crushed in upon the lungs and six ribs broken. The jury rendered a verdict that the woman's death was caused by her husband's violence.

Death of Colonel McKibbin.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—Col. Chambers McKibbin is dead at his home here, aged 92. Colonel McKibbin was postmaster of Pittsburg from 1845 to 1850, and owned the Exchange Hotel of that city in 1848. Subsequently he became proprietor of the Merchants' Hotel and the Girard House at Philadelphia, and Assistant Treasurer of the United States at the same place. In politics Mr. McKibbin was a Democrat.

Indicted for Murdering His Brother.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Feb. 27.—James Morrissey, who caused the death of his brother Joseph last October by setting fire to the bed in which the latter lay sleeping, was indicted for murder. His counsel has entered a plea of insanity. The prisoner is worth several thousand dollars and is strongly addicted to the use of intoxicants.

Death of a Rich Hermit.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 27.—Henry Beck, the Watsessing hermit, who was found dead in bed, owned a great amount of real estate both in Newark and Bloomfield, and was worth fully $600,000. He has no relatives living, and was 70 years old. It is not believed that he left a will, and if not his property reverts to the State.

Rhode Island's Bribery Bill.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 27.—The Bribery bill that was passed by the House a year ago and defeated in the Senate has been enacted again. A lively debate occurred over an amendment striking out the provision permitting a bribe taker to escape prosecution by turning State's evidence. It was struck out.

Miss Florence Birch Acquitted.

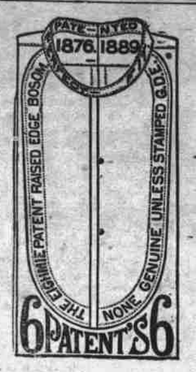
ISLIP, L. I., Feb. 27.—Justice Clock discharged Miss Florence Birch from custody on the charge of arson. He came to the conclusion that the young woman was insane. Everyone in the village is pleased with the verdict. Miss Birch will probably be sent to an insane asylum at once.

Dropped Dead on the Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—James B. Cross, General Supply Agent of the Adams and West Lake Railroad Company of Chicago, dropped dead at 111 East 30th street last night of apoplexy. He was 70 years old. His family resides in Chicago.

A Centenarian Dies While Laughing.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Feb. 27.—John Pindar, colored, believed to be over 100 years old, died here last evening of heart disease. He fell dead on the sidewalk while laughing with friends.



The New Eighmie is the best shirt you can wear. There is no shirt made that can equal them for fit, and they are easy to launder. The New Eighmie has many improvements over the original shirt which in its time was superior to all others. Men's fine shirts are our specialty. We have them at 50c each, made from heavy, strong cotton, linen bosom. 75c buys a finer shirt and $1.00 buys an extra fine laundered shirt. Our Paris dress shirts embroidered and pique bosoms, cost $1.50. They are the shirt for weddings or full dress. If you want the best shirt your money can buy go to

THE WRONG MAN.

A wicked man out west, who had neglected to insure his life, being on his deathbed, wished to consult some proper person regarding his future state so his friends sent for an insurance agent. As soon as the latter called, he recognized the man as one whom he had often tried to insure for his family's sake, but who was obdurate and deaf to his appeals, so he said to him, "My friend, it is is to late: What you want is a Fire Insurance Agent." "Moral:" Don't let this be the case with you, but come to my office and get a Fire, Life or Accidental Insurance at the lowest figures.
