Boy Employees at Sargent's On Strike.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 27.—Six boys employed by Contractor Sargent, in the lock department of Sargent's factory, struck work yesterday afternoon and have not returned. The strikers are employed in fitting the locks and claim they are poorly paid. Yesterday they demanded an increase of 10 per cent which Contractor Sargent declined to grant. The boys tried to persuade the remainder of the help employed in the department to join in the strike but without success. Contractor Sargent says he will not take the boys back and will be able to fill their places without any trouble. He is certain the dissatisfaction will spread no further.

He is now employed as flagman on Conductor McFarland's train. All arrangements have been completed for the benefit concert of the American band in City hall to-night. There has been a large advance sale of seats and the success of the concert is already assured. At to-night's meeting of the stockholders of the Mercantile Co-operative bank a delegate will be elected to represent the local branch at the annual meeting to be held in New York, March 24. A public school class will contest for a Demorest silver medal, on Monday evening, in the Sunday school room of the Methodist church. Songs and other attractions will be introduced to make the entertainment an enjoyable one. Edward O'Connell, aged 32 years, died of pneumonia, on Jackson street last night. He was visiting friends in this city and contracted the disease less than a week ago. The remains were taken to Norfolk this morning for burial. Gus Zills, well known here, who has done a thriving business in running a policy shop in Springfield for a number of weeks, was arrested yesterday for violating the law governing gambling. He is an agent of a Hartford man and many gambling appliances were found in his room. Mayor Taylor and the Chicopee aldermen signed a warrant Wednesday night authorizing the city marshal to kill all dogs that are allowed to roam the streets without muzzles. There's a pointer for the Waterbury authorities. This city is overrun with worthless, vicious curs. Steinhilber, William Hubbers; deacons, Jacob Wonn, John Roeder; auditors, Richard Linde, John Miller, William Boehm. Since Friday his whereabouts have been unknown. He was once a sailor and it is thought he may have returned to a sailor's life again. Judge Thayer yesterday gave a decision that makes a precedent. In a suit against the New England road for damages for the death of Edward H. Herd, the defendant entered a plea in abatement on the ground that the suit was not brought within a year from the date of the injury. The plaintiff demurred and Judge Thayer sustained the demurrer. The preliminary steps toward organizing another brass band were taken last night at a meeting held in St. Patrick's hall. Owing to the inclement weather only ten members were present and it was decided to hold another meeting tomorrow night when a large attendance is expected. Those present at last night's meeting were enthusiastic over the project. More help is being employed at the Brownstone quarry in Cromwell for the spring work, and shortly the full complement of men will be returned. A new stone has been uncovered during the winter, and quantities of the refuse stone has been carried away by the Meriden, Waterbury & Connecticut River railroad company and used to dump along the line of tracks, more especially through the narrows, where the tide washes the banks. The Connecticut board of agriculture and the Connecticut Dairymen's association convened in Grange hall, yesterday afternoon. Dr. E. H. Jenkins, of the Connecticut experiment station at New Haven spoke on winter feed for dairy cows. The address was chiefly devoted to the cost of various kinds of feed and the value of each as food and fertilizers. Professor C. D. Woods, vice-director and chemist at Storrs, an agricultural school also read a paper. The board of directors of the Odd Fellows' Mutual Aid association held a regular meeting in New Haven last evening and accepted the applications of nineteen members of the order and passed favorably upon claim of $1,500 on death of Joseph Miller, late of Meriden. Notice of the death of a former member of the association was given. This member had dropped his membership after paying $46. If he had continued his payments the sum of $19 more would be all that would have been required to allow his family a benefit of $3,000. There are at present 210 locomotives in constant use upon the Consolidated road and its branches. Ten of these are undergoing repairs in the shops of New Haven at Harten and Hartford. Superintendent of Motive Power Henney said yesterday morning, that even with this large number of engines, the road is badly cramped and that more could be used if the company had them. Fifteen new locomotives have been ordered and when completed there will be 225 of them in use. The police of the various cities have been notified through Superintendent Bolman of New Haven to arrest Dr. Charles Lewis, who has been raising money by means of false pretences from colored people. On February 10 he succeeded in getting $192 in money, a black overcoat and a gold watch from a colored family in New Haven. The matter was not reported to the police until February 23, although Lewis went away on February 18. He is from 80 to 40 years of age and looks like a West Indian. The way he obtained the money was by depositing a bogus check with the banker, saying that he was temporarily ill.

Charles Fardon will be released by the police authorities of New York to-morrow. To a World reporter Fardon said last night that he will return to Waterbury and sue the town and that several prominent lawyers have offered without a fee to take the case to the highest courts. The storm last night had considerable variety, and was very severe. First it was rain, then snow, and at last there came a fall of clear ice. A strong wind added to the disagreeable effect, and anyone out of doors suffered. The roads were in a wretched condition, especially on the outskirts of the city, where the mud was deep and the traveling bad. SENATOR CLEVELAND PLEADED. Has a Better Opinion of Waterbury Democrats Than Ever. Senator Cleveland of Hartford, in a conversation with Representative Root of this city yesterday, referred to the telegram he received a week ago from fifty indignant Waterbury democrats. Senator Cleveland declared that he seldom if ever experienced such feelings of delight as the reception of that telegram brought to him. It showed, he said, the zeal and watchfulness of the democracy of Waterbury. It disclosed the fact that the plaintiffs in Waterbury were aware of the situation and allowed not a point to escape them. Senator Cleveland was earnest in his expressions and did not feel at all displeased at the telegram of rebuke. POLICE COURT. A Number of Minor Cases Passed Upon by Judge Bradstreet. In the police court to-day two young men were charged with assault on an Italian residing in the Brooklyn district. The Italian was in court this morning with sufficient evidence to convict both. They were fined $10 and costs each and took an appeal. Matt Kavanagh engaged in an altercation with Robert Rourke the day before yesterday and this morning he was charged on to pay $7 and costs. COURT NOTES. A Suit For Damages For Injuries Brought Against the Town. The case of Edward Longworth vs James Brown was concluded today, before Judge Bradstreet. The plaintiff sued to recover damages for a team, hired from him by the defendant, which was broken in a trip to Southington. Decision was rendered for the defendant to recover costs. The case was tried once before Justice Griggs and decision was rendered for the plaintiff when an appeal was taken to the district court. In the case of Joseph Corr vs Joseph Sabovich, tried yesterday, the defendant introduced no evidence and judgments were rendered for the plaintiff to recover $15.35 on the first count and $35 with costs on the second. An appeal was taken to the jury term of the district court. Russell brought suit to-day against the town of Waterbury in the interest of Benjamin S. Wedge and wife. On December 22, 1890, the plaintiffs were driving over the Doolittle road and while crossing the bridge over Baldwin's brook, the bridge being unprotected by railings, the team was thrown into the brook. COMPANY G'S ULTIMATUM.

Will Allow the King Brothers $20 Bonus to Pull in this City. So many fakes have been published in regard to the Co G tug-of-war team and their acceptance of the King brothers' challenge, that a true statement of the facts is in order. The papers in New Haven, Bridgeport and Meriden evidently think that the Co G team have an attack of "large head." Well, it is but natural that a team after having won so many victories should feel somewhat proud. Co G's team never issued a challenge to the King brothers. L. P. Bristol wrote from Bridgeport, challenging the Co G team to a match for $100 a side. To show that Co G meant business, a purse of $50 was offered Mr Bristol to bring his team to Waterbury to have the pull. It was generally understood that the team was composed of Bridgeport men. The concluding arrangements of the match were left in the hands of Ed J. Maloney, who drew up a set of articles which proved the cause of the hitch and disclosed the identity of Bristol's team. There are only two men even then, but it was at the team's discretion whether to offer a bonus or not. The King brothers have the reputation of being the best team in making a disturbance on a train to the pull in Waterbury. If these terms are not accepted the matter must drop here. Let it be generally understood that Co G does not issue a challenge to pull any team in the state for $100, notwithstanding reports to the contrary in state papers.

BAN AMUCK ON A TRAIN.

Adventures of a Waterbury Man Away From Home. The man giving his name as Theodore Beck, who was arrested Wednesday for making a disturbance on a train to the Consolidated road, was arraigned in the police court at Hartford, yesterday, charged with drunkenness and breach of the peace. Conductor Holcombe and brakeman Ford told how Beck was drunk and attempted to clear out the train. After frightening the passengers from the car, he grappled with the train employes, but was finally thrown into a cage upon until the train arrived at Hartford. As he promised to behave himself, he was then released, but immediately pulled out a pistol and ran amuck through the station. Officer Johnson testified that Beck drove everyone before him, and that he shouted to the officer, "I'm going to lick someone." His evident intent was to whip Officer Johnson, but that gentleman, with the assistance of Officer Mulcahy and others overpowered the wild man, and he was carried in triumph to the station house. Beck, who says he is a foreman in a livery stable in Waterbury, went to the Concordia hall at Bridgeport, Tuesday night, to get a drink, and was drunk hence his trouble. He was fined $1 for drunkenness and $10 for breach of the peace. ACCIDENT AND INCIDENT. Bernard Gaynor Drowned Yesterday at Ansonia. Bernard Gaynor was drowned in the Hoosatic river at Ansonia, yesterday noon. In company with Edward Gillon he attempted to go the east shore across the trestle in the gap in the dam. Upon this trestle the engine struck him and the planks. They passed over and by the engine and wanted to return when Contractor Rivers interfered to prevent because of the danger, directing that they leave by the west side of the river. When Gaynor had gone about thirty feet west of the engine he lost his balance and tumbled over into the river, falling between the trestle and the dam. The current at this point is swift and full of eddies. Gaynor was swept on down through the gap and attempted to grasp a guy rope in his path but could not hold on to it and his body was carried on toward the bridge. When last seen it was three hundred feet below the dam. Gaynor was a moulder, 28 years of age. A man by the name of Reef, a restaurant keeper of Bridgeport, was killed about 8:20 o'clock last evening at Norwalk. He was accompanied by a woman and they had just alighted from a train when the accident happened. Reef started out to cross the track of the Danbury & Norwalk road for a horse car and did not notice that a train was coming. The engine struck him and threw him a considerable distance, cutting his head open. He lived about ten minutes. Up to a late hour last night no trace of any kind was found of the whereabouts of John Phend, otherwise known as "Dutch" John, who disappeared so mysteriously Wednesday. After leaving all his valuables at the Waverly Grove house he went out towards Savin Rock. The last seen of him was in the afternoon, when he was sitting out on a rock overhanging the water. It is thought that he has drowned himself. Farmers Organize. WINSTED, Feb. 27.—A large delegation of farmers from Litchfield county assembled in Town hall building here this afternoon for the purpose of organizing a Farmers league in Litchfield county. John Doran, the promising left-handed pitcher of last year's champion New Haven ball nine, signed a contract, yesterday, to play with the Louisville base ball nine of the American association the coming season. He had a slight misunderstanding with Manager Burnham just before the close of last season, and left the team at that time. He signed a contract to play with Ward's Brotherhood team this year, but at the dissolution of that organization was notified by Mr Burnham that his name was on the reserve list of the New Haven club. Lally of the New Havens has sent his terms to Manager Burnham, which made him jump when he read them. Lally wants double the salary he received last season.
