

AROUND WORLD FOR WAGER.

Passed Through Waterbury Yesterday On His Way to Boston. Alfred James Montaigne Trevillyen, who is walking around the world on a wager of $20,000, $10,000 a side, and is backed by the London Times and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch against William J. Shults, a medical doctor, reached Waterbury Saturday night and remained here until noon this morning, when he left for Bristol. Both men left Waterbury, Monday, July 13 of the present year, at 1:13 o'clock in the afternoon and must show up at that place on July 13, 1905, after making a trip around the world, in order to win any of the money. Trevillyen soon outdistanced Shults and his present 1,817 miles ahead of him. Shults became sick at Sault Ste Marie, Mich., with typhoid fever, and is still confined to a hospital there. He is backed by the Lesving German Times of Berlin.

Trevillyen is heading for Boston, where he intends to work his passage over to London and then take shank's mare again until he runs afoul of another body of water, when he will work his passage again, and so on until he returns, having completed his 25,000 miles. He has made the trip four times and appears to be confident that he will come in a winner this time, too. He is 49 years old, a native of Washington, D. C., and a telegraph operator by profession. He said his parents were born in Ireland.

One of the conditions of the agreement is that the men must not beg, steal or borrow, but they can work a little, provided they travel twenty miles a day; that is, of course, unless they are taken ill, as in the case of Shults, who will start out as soon as he is fully recovered. An agent of the parties footing the bills follows the men and keeps a close eye upon their movements. Trevillyen said he was very much annoyed by dogs in New York state, but found things pleasant for roughing it in Connecticut, dogs being less vicious than in New York and the people far more hospitable. Bully for the Nutmeg state. The man carried a pack on his back which contained blankets and other things which he found it convenient to use when he camps his camp fires on the lonely heights where he often cooks his meals and sleeps over night.

FIGHTING RESUMED.

End of Rainy Season Permits Action in Philippines.

MANILA, Nov. 19.—Last week witnessed a very considerable increase in rebel and American activity in the field. Many skirmishes occurred and several small engagements in northern and southern Luzon. The termination of the rains permits a resumption of operations on both sides.

The Americans are undertaking a series of aggressive movements against the insurgents, notably upon the island of Samar against General Lukban, whose forces hold the entire island with the exception of three centers, each of which is garrisoned by two companies of the Twenty-ninth infantry and a platoon of artillery.

The rebels are continually shooting into the garrisoned towns, and our forces have not been sufficient to retaliate effectively. Commerce in Samar has been at a standstill, and most of the influential inhabitants have departed. General Hale has arrived there with 250 men. He will bring eight companies of the Second infantry from the north of Manila, and they may be needed, and will proceed energetically to crush General Lukban. Meanwhile United States gunboats will patrol the coast to prevent the escape of the insurgent leader. Lukban still holds three members of the Forty-third regiment prisoners.

The Fourteenth infantry, which recently arrived from China, will relieve the Twenty-first infantry from Manila, and the Twenty-first will relieve the Thirty-eighth infantry from southern Luzon. The Thirty-eighth infantry proceeding to the island of Panay to re-enforce the troops there.

The Twenty-eighth infantry will re-enforce the garrisons in the island of Mindanao, particularly at Kagayan, where an armed truce between the rebels and the Americans has existed for months past.

General Wheaton, commanding in the department of northern Mindanao, re-enforcements to General Young's province, where the natives, under General Tinio and Aglipay, the excommunicated Filipino priest, are showing signs of restlessness, deserting the domiciles they have occupied during the rainy season and joining under compulsion of fear the insurgents in the mountains.

Notable among the week's engagements was General Grant's advance, with Macabebe and American scouts, upon a rebel stronghold 35 miles north of Manila, which was defended by 200 insurgents armed with rifles. After skirmishing and fighting for the greater part of a day and night, the enemy was dislodged from the mountain fastness, and immense quantities of rice and stores, with considerable ammunition, were destroyed. Fifty Filipinos were killed and many others wounded. The insurgents carried off their dead. The American losses were 11 privates and one officer wounded and one Macabebe killed.

Lieutenant Frederick W. Alstaeter of the engineers, who was captured by the insurgents in Luzon last September, has sent, with the permission of his captors, a letter to Manila asking for food, money and clothing, which will be forwarded to him by a native runner. His health is broken and his release problematical.

General MacArthur has gone to Subig bay with Admiral Remey on the United States cruiser Brooklyn for the purpose of examining the locality. It is reported that 1,800 marines now in Philippine waters will be used to relieve certain army posts, rendering the relieved soldiers available for other and more urgent duties. It is understood that General MacArthur is considering the question of establishing more marine bases in the vicinity of Subig. He is expected to return here today.

Captain Bowman H. McCulla of the United States cruiser Newark is undergoing trial by court martial convened by Admiral Remey. He is charged with "irrational and bad management and lack of discipline" on board the cruiser.

Engineer Killed. ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 19.—A passenger train on the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad ran into an open switch here, badly wrecking the engine. The engineer, John Somers of this city, jumped, but fell under the wheels and was killed. Four trainmen were hurt by jumping, and Mrs. Sarah Schaing of Louisville was thrown over a seat and badly injured.

Condition of the Casar. LIVADIA, Russia, Nov. 19.—Empress Alexandra, according to the best information obtainable, had a favorable day. She slept for some time and felt at ease. Her temperature at 9 a. m. was 101.6 and his pulse 64. Saturday night he slept well and on waking yesterday morning was in a better condition than he had been for some time.

CITY NEWS.

M. F. Fitzpatrick of Mill street left today to accept a position in New York city.

The bridge crossing the brook on Bronson street is in a dangerous condition. This morning a hole about eighteen inches long and three inches wide was in one of the planks.

Charles Albertson, who has been living on his farm in Middlebury for some time, was in town today. He drove behind a young colt that was the admiration of all who saw it. Mr. Albertson now wears a beard about a foot long, but no longer takes any interest in politics.

William White, aged 42 years, died in the hospital last night. The deceased was a native of South Britain, where his parents, a sister and brother reside, and had been employed at Benedict & Burnham's for some time past. The remains will be taken to his former home to-morrow for burial.

Prof. Alexander Wilder of Newark, N. J., will lecture on "China and the Chinese" at Friendly league hall, Thursday evening, November 22, under the auspices of the Waterbury Scientific society. He will give a historical and the original religion, habits and customs of the Chinese. Admission will be 50 cents.

Aloysius J. Condon, of New York, and Miss Marie Murphy, of Baldwin street, were married this morning at the immaculate Conception church by the Rev. Father McMahon. Thomas P. Casey was best man, and Miss Katie Laddy was maid of honor. The bride wore a costume of steel gray material, trimmed with white satin and silk chiffon, and hat to match. She carried chrysanthemums. The maid of honor was attired in a gown similar to that of the bride, trimmed with gold and carried chrysanthemums. The couple will reside in New York.

Deviotions will be held in St. Cecilia's church each evening this week at 7:30 o'clock, up to and including Thursday, in honor of the patron saint of the church of St. Cecilia. The Rev. Father McMahon of Middlebury will preach this evening, and the Rev. Hubert Bahme of Bridgeport will give the panegyric on St. Cecilia on Wednesday evening. At the close of devotions on Thursday evening a reception of the Children of Mary and Holy Angels society will take place, at which devotion, selections from the cantata St. Cecilia's day will be rendered by the full choir.

A very large crowd attended the closing of the Concordia fair last Saturday evening, and presents were given away to the following ladies and gentlemen: Viola Keel, Mary Kieger, Mrs. A. D. Castle, Mrs. A. Windelach, Miss M. Reichenbach, Mr. Leonard, 934 Broadway; Clarence Robinson, 971 Bank; Frank Kleimert, 953 Bank; F. Hudner, 575 North Main; W. Cassin, C. Armbruster, 125 Spencer avenue; Adam Oehlschlaeger, Torrington; F. Assel, Waterville; C. F. Eckelson, Waterville; Koegel, Thomaston; Lutz, Union City; L. Schwarz, New York. The presents are to be called for before Saturday at Concordia hall.

Two dapper young fellows seated in a handsome phaeton, drawn by a beautiful bay horse, drove up Luke street last night, and stopped on Sylvan avenue, where the city is widening the street, and inquired from one of the neighbors where they were at, stating that they had had friends in that street, but owing to the changes that have been made there the past few weeks they had lost their bearings, and wanted to be directed to the residence of Miss —. They happened to meet just the person who could impart such information as they were looking for. After a few minutes' chat all was well and then they could not see how they got mixed up so near home and tried to make out to the girls that they were only fooling with a "jay" they had met up the street.

The school officials should call the attention of the Standard Electric Time Co. to the illuminated clock in the tower at the Washington school and find out if they intend to keep it in running order and if not other arrangements should be made to have a clock in the tower. The clock is not that there is a nuisance and a public laughing stock and that is about all it has been for some time past. It should be kept going no matter who foots the bills or taken out of there altogether. More than one person is talking of suing the time company, caused by not reaching certain places on schedule time simply because they relied upon the old clock at the school, which is running at a pace to suit itself half the time and once in a while it takes a notion to have a rest and doesn't stir hand or foot for several days.

Edward McManus has commenced operations at the new road on the Valley turnpike, and the work will be pushed with all possible speed until the place is put in shape for public travel so that the old road can be closed and the raising of the dam commenced. The old road runs alongside the basin of the reservoir and would be flooded and rendered impassable in case the dam should be raised and that is why the city is building a road farther up on the hill where it will accommodate the public and stand in no danger from being submerged no matter how high the dam might be raised. It is a good place to spend the winter and men who are able to do that kind of work in all kinds of weather should have a chat with Mr. McManus, who declares the Branch the healthiest spot in Connecticut and says that after a man is there a week he could eat the head off a horse. Several men went up there today and it is likely that they will be going and coming until the job is finished.

City Attorney Kellogg was asked today if the committee appointed by the board of aldermen and of which he is a member, to take action upon the proposed consolidation of the city and town, had yet done anything in that direction. He said that so far as he knew no action had been taken. Being asked if the committee would invite any prominent citizen of the town or representatives of the town government to their councils, he replied that he did not know, but thought that such a course ought to be taken. Until after the superior court adjourns the committee will not be able to do anything in the matter, and Colonel Burpee, another member of the committee, has considerable business in that court. The Parsons bank case comes off some day this week, and that, he thought, will keep himself and Colonel Burpee busy for some days, if not a week. Other cases in which they are engaged follow the bank case, so that it will be some weeks anyway, if not more, before any action regarding consolidation can be taken.

MAY GO TO COLONEL BURPEE.

Appointment as Adjutant General of Connecticut National Guard.

Unless there is an unforeseen interruption of the present program, the most important appointment in the gift of Governor-elect McLean, that of the adjutant generalship of the Connecticut National guard, will go to Colonel Burpee, who was adjutant of the Second regiment, formerly commander of the Second regiment, says the New Haven Union.

A movement has been on foot for some time in military circles in favor of the appointment of Colonel Burpee. Colonel Burpee was very popular with the officers and men of the Second regiment, as evidenced last summer in camp Niantic, when he was presented with a beautiful statuette of a soldier, the gift of the company. This evidence of the esteem of the Second regiment was very pleasing to its ex-colonel.

Under the circumstances, it is no wonder the officers of the regiment are in favor of presenting Colonel Burpee's candidacy for the position of adjutant general, one of the highest positions in the gift of the governor. The matter was discussed informally among the officers a few days ago and it was the consensus of opinion that the ex-colonel should be favored for adjutant general. Accordingly, Adjutant T. T. Wells was delegated to prepare a petition addressed to the governor-elect, for circulation for signatures among the officers of the regiment, favoring Colonel Burpee for adjutant general. It is understood the petition is being liberally signed. One officer this morning said that he did not know of an officer in the regiment who was opposed to the colonel; and it is believed the petition will be sent forward bearing the names of all the officers.

Captain Wells, the regimental adjutant, says that he does not know a better adjutant general than Colonel Burpee. He has had long experience in the military affairs of the state, and his friends say he would be able to administer the duties of adjutant general in an admirable manner.

After the close of the centennial parade in Bridgeport, Monday, the officers of the Fourth regiment signed a petition in favor of Colonel Burpee for adjutant general.

It was thought by some that Brigadier General Frost would be a candidate for adjutant general, but for some reason his ambition does not seem to run in that direction. He evidently would prefer to retain his present position in the G. N. G.

Colonel Burpee became a private in Company C, First regiment, at Rockville, April 10, 1874; corporal of the company June 15, 1874; was discharged November 22, 1878.

He became second lieutenant of Company A, Second regiment, March 22, 1886; first lieutenant January 21, 1886; captain June 13, 1887; major February 3, 1889; lieutenant colonel May 3, 1893; colonel July 11, 1895.

He secured a leave of absence and became lieutenant colonel and judge advocate of the United States volunteers January 1, 1899. He served in the Porto Rican campaign and was the first judge advocate of the first military commission ever held on foreign soil. He was assigned to the staff of General James H. Wilson of the First Artillery corps and later served in Kentucky and Georgia and resigned January 1, 1900. A few months after his return to the state he resigned from the colonelcy of the Second regiment.

From the present indications it seems quite probable that Colonel Burpee will land the prize of the adjutant generalship. His past military service to the new governor at an early day and his friends will use their earnest efforts in behalf of his candidacy.

If he is not appointed, it is believed the position will go to Major James K. Croft of Simsbury, the first military commissary on the staff of General Frost. Major Croft resides in Mr. McLean's town and the two men are personal friends and some believe that the governor-elect would be favorable to his candidacy.

A Fight With Apaches. PASCHICO, Mexico, Nov. 19.—In the attack on the Mormon colony here on Friday by Apache Indians four white men and ten Indians were killed and many wounded on both sides. The Indians were attempting to drive off stock belonging to the colony. They were pursued and a running fight lasted two hours. The governor of Chihuahua has ordered out the Mexican troops and rurales. A squadron of cavalry has been dispatched from the military post at Ascension, 50 miles distant, but it is feared that force will be too small to cope with the Apaches, who appeared in great numbers.

Steel Mills Start Up. JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 19.—The billet mill and converters of the Illinois Steel works resumed operations after a three week's shutdown. About 1,000 men resumed work. The outlook is good for a long run.

Killed by a Manhole Explosion. NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Anthony Bono was killed by an explosion in Brooklyn, a manhole cover striking him and practically cutting his head in two. No cause is assigned for the explosion.
