BROOKLYN BRIEFS

Miss Margaret Derwin of Drayer avenue spent Thanksgiving with friends in Hartford. Charles Klobedanz of Torrington is enjoying a few days' vacation with his family in this part of town.

Mrs. John Curtin of Green street has returned from a short vacation with her son, John Curtin of New Haven.

The Charles streets and the Ben Mohrs will be the contestants in a polo game to-morrow afternoon. The rivalry between the two teams is intense and a hard battle is expected.

Lawrence Robinson of John street, who has been visiting at his parents in Derby for about four weeks, has returned to this city and has accepted a position with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

The forty hours' devotion will be commenced at St. Patrick's church to-morrow morning at 6 o'clock, when a solemn mass will be celebrated. Other masses will be held at 7:30, 9 and 10:45. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening at which many strange priests will be present.

A pleasant reception was held at the home of Miss Nellie Devine of Bank street last evening in honor of her guest, Miss Della G. Sullivan of New Haven. Mirth and enjoyment prevailed during the entire evening. Instrumental and vocal music were features of the evening. Among those who contributed to the evening's entertainment were the Misses Louise Malone, Mary Kilduff, Daisy Lord and Della G. Sullivan and Bert Adams in piano solos, while the evening's entertainment was heard in a field. Lord and Sullivan were heard in excellent solos. Dancing was indulged in to the immense pleasure of the party. It was rather late when the merry jostling came to an end and the various couples ended their way to their several homes.

COMPLETED THE PURCHASE.

City Now Owns About 250 Acres at Wigwam Reservoir.

The city has completed the purchase of two pieces of property at the Wigwam reservoir fronting the old valley temple, which brings the number of acres in that tract belonging to the city up to about 250. The city had previously purchased the pieces of property, and Antoine L. Woodard, and consists of forty-six acres with dwelling house, barn and other buildings. The other addition was purchased from George H. and Cecelia Wedge, and includes eight acres, one house and barn. The only other interested person in the city there at the present time is an acre or so from Dan Woodruff, and this has been secured, but the deeds have not yet been signed.

There was nothing between most of the property and the reservoir but a road, which will soon be abandoned, and in any case the city needed the property as a sanitary precaution and for the closeness of the outhouses on these properties to the water has always been a matter of great concern to the water board. Besides this, the land had to be bought in order to raise the dam.

One of the parties interested in some of the property, Mrs. Lucinda Newton, who has passed her 98th birthday, delighted Mayor Kilduff and City Engineer Cairns, who called at the house to get the deed signed. Mrs. Newton said that Mrs. Newton appears to be in full possession of all her senses, can read without the aid of spectacles and appended her signature to the deed in a steady, legible hand, which would compare favorably with the best efforts of many people who make a living at the business. She has an abundance of beautiful black hair and eyes that dance and glitter as though they still possessed all the fire and vigor of youth. She is a brilliant conversationalist and can discuss topics of interest in a manner which shows that although in the district school at her girlhood, she is still abreast of the times, not only things of local interest, but on matters of national importance. Indeed, she displayed such knowledge of those matters that Mayor Kilduff and Engineer Cairns, clever fellows as everybody knows them to be, were confounded and some of her questions and marvelled much how one who is almost as old as this republic could be possessed of such a wonderfully retentive memory. She is full of animation and enjoys a timely joke as well as she used to in the time of her girlhood in the district school at Northfield, where she was born and reared, though the mayor and the engineer are of the opinion that Mrs. Newton must have received a higher education than one would expect could be obtained in the village schools of that day.

The people about the reservoir are averse to the city of Waterbury of converting that place into a wilderness and claim that a human being will be soon a rare bird in that section. Already, they say, almost all the old neighbors have disappeared and the place has become so lifeless that the birds, foxes, squirrels, rabbits and other denizens of the woods appear to be monarchs of all they survey and look upon the occasional wayfarer who happens across there as an intruder, so that soon man will walk the city's forests at the Wigwam reservoir at the peril of his life.
