The Old Beecher House Burned This Morning.

Fire broke out in the old building known as the Beecher house on the corner of Main and Maple streets, at about 3:30 o'clock this morning. The fire was discovered by a young lady who is employed in the hotel and she went out and informed Officer Malone, who, after some difficulty, sent in an alarm from the box at the street hall, but even then the alarm did not sound right, so he had the Gloop shop whistle blown. When the firemen arrived at the hotel they found a hard struggle of about one hour and a half they got it under control, but it is supposed to have started in the kitchen but the writer could find no one who knew just how or where it started. The south side of the hotel is pretty well buried up to the point in the back which was used as a kitchen in all gutted. The hotel is the property of a Mrs Perry of New Haven, but it is rented by Charles Connors. The loss to the property will be large, considering the damage by fire and water, but it is thought that the loss is fully covered by insurance. There was something the matter with the alarm boxes last night. When Officer Malone started to ring in the alarm at the Phoenix shop tower there was no alarm sounded, although he pulled the lever. He then went to the box in front of the town hall, but instead of giving four blasts, as is usual, only three were sounded, showing that the system was out of order somewhere.

There were about thirty guests sleeping at the hotel at the time the fire started, but all escaped safely. The loss is estimated at about $5,000.

WATERTOWN JOTTINGS

Watertown People Want Trolley Extended to Their Town.

Now that the Oakville people have the trolley running into their little village, Watertown thinks the line should be extended here. The traffic on the Oakville line is increasing rapidly, while the number of passengers on the train from there down is decreasing. The question is if the trolley comes here whether or not it will run through the town or stop near the brick store is the one the people wish to know about at present. What we want is the trolley through the principle streets, so as to save the mile walk which we have now to get to the railroad station.

A DEADLY EXPLOSION.

Five Killed and Thirteen Injured in Chicago. CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Four men and one boy were instantly killed and 13 persons injured by the explosion of a boiler in the power house of the Chicago and Northwestern road last evening. Several of the injured are hurt so badly that they may die.

The power house was a two story structure which stood west of the passenger station and north of the tracks leading into it. On the first floor was the boiler room containing a battery of four boilers and the dynamo room, which held nine dynamos. Twelve men were employed around the building, and in addition to such of these as were present at the time of the explosion were four standing around watching the dynamos. Four of those killed were people not employed by the road, and all four bodies were taken to the morgue unidentified.

It is not known who caused the explosion, or whether the boiler room seemed in excellent condition, according to the uninjured men who worked in the place. At a few minutes past 5 o'clock one of the boilers in the center of the row of four burst with a detonation that was plainly heard at points a mile distant. The end of the boiler nearest the tracks was the weak part of the structure, and it flew toward the depot tracks and landed fully 70 feet away from its starting point. The boiler itself, which weighed ten tons, lies 60 feet from the boiler house.

Just as the explosion occurred the Ashland limited train was pulling out of the station. The greater part of the train had passed, and, though the cars were all heavily battered with falling brick and debris, none of them was badly damaged, and the passengers within them escaped unhurt.

The last two cars, a Pullman sleeper and a drawing room car, were not so fortunate, and the boiler head and the boiler itself caught them. The boiler struck the car in the rear, while the boiler head plowed through the one immediately in front. Fortunately both flew high and struck the cars above the windows, carrying away portions of the roof and vestibule. But few of the passengers happened at the time to be in the ends of the two cars hit by the flying metal, and such of them as were hurt were struck by flying splinters or suffered from being thrown violently to the floor.

The property loss to the road will not be far from $100,000. The boiler house was practically reduced to a ruin, two sides being blown completely out, and the costly electric plant was nearly torn to pieces.

A MISSION WIPED OUT

Fearful Slaughter of Christians in Shansi Province.

TREACHEROUS GOVERNOR THE LEADER. Bishops, Priests and Nuns, With Two Hundred Orphans, Put to Death by Chinese Fervid Fanatics.

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—A special dispatch from China by the Asiatic Express tells reports a fearful mission slaughter in the province of Shansi. The first victims were a Catholic bishop and four European priests, franciscans, Italian and French.

The governor invited them to his house, pretending to give them better protection, but when they arrived their hands were bound, then the governor himself poisoned them all.

Then the governor went to the bishop's residence with a number of soldiers and seized six Marselles sisters. He promised them money and distinguished honors if they renounced Christianity, which they unanimously rejected.

Thereupon the governor poisoned them and also a number of Chinese priests, 30 Chinese sisters and 200 orphans from 3 to 19 years of age.

Fifteen seminarists who had hidden themselves in a cistern were, the dispatch adds, tied to stakes and forced to watch the blood of the first victims. They were then killed.

A Chinese priest and two Christians who attempted to escape were cut to pieces and put in a small hut, where they were burned.

All the foreign envoys have now heard from their governments regarding the joint note to the Chinese plenipotentiary, and a meeting will be held to-morrow. The envoys are not communicative, but each knows with reference to the objections of different governments to make it seem doubtful that the meeting will have a satisfactory conclusion.

Prince Ching and Lord Roberts, both say that they are anxiously awaiting the demands of the powers. They declare that China desires peace at any price commensurate with the dignity of an independent nation, and that she will not so long as a large foreign army occupies the province of Chi-li the problem will be harder to solve.

The missionaries and others who went through the siege protest bitterly against any suggestion of leniency. They urge particularly that those who are high in office and who were really responsible for the outrages to foreigners should be executed, and that the Chinese plenipotentiary force should be kept in China to guarantee order and to keep foreigners independent of the Chinese, declaring that if this is not done a repetition of the troubles is inevitable.

NO DEWEY ARCH.

Committee For a Permanent Structure Disbands.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—By a vote of 10 to 3 the executive committee of the citizens' committee for perpetuating the navy arch, or Dewey arch, as it was originally called, decided to disband and to return to the subscribers the money collected for the project. The abandonment of the plan is due to the lack of interest displayed by the public.

The committee considered and rejected three propositions which had been submitted. One of these was from the Henry-Bonard Bronze company, which made an offer to build the arch at its own responsibility under the supervision of the committee. The funds necessary to carry on the work would be collected by the committee under a special contract with the committee. The committee estimated that it could be raised in 10 per cent of the money collected other than the amount which had been raised by the committee.

It was estimated that to build the arch and to erect a monument of suitable and perpetuating the avenue columns cost $200,000 without the figure sculpture work. This latter work would cost $100,000. The committee estimated that it could be raised in 10 per cent of the money collected other than the amount which had been raised by the committee.

One of the members of the general committee suggested that miniature models of the temporary arch be molded and sold at $1 each, these models to be made from the material of the arch itself. It was argued that enough models could be raised in this way to build the proposed permanent memorial. This was also frowned upon by the executive committee.

Vigorous opposition greeted a proposition that the arch be forwarded to the home instead of stone. This, it was said, could have been done with the money already collected. The committee then voted on the proposition to disband, and this was carried, it having been decided to return dollar for dollar the money which had been subscribed.

Chronic Kickers.

That's what the kidneys are—when they're sick. What makes the kidneys sick? A simple thing—They have too much to do. Must keep up their work, they never rest. They can't be blamed for kicking. Ever have your kidneys kick? Ever have a bad back, a lame, a weak or aching one? Know it's the same thing? The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with the work—keep them moving. And the back will ache no more. There is proof that DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS do this. And it's proof that can be proven. It's the experience of Waterbury citizens. Read the case in point;
