WESTOVER FIELD IN MASS AIRBASE

Westover Field, Mass., July 12. (UP)—Major General Henry E. Arnold, deputy chief of staff in general, reveals that Westover field will become an important link in the routing of bombers and transport planes to be ferried to Great Britain from the west coast.

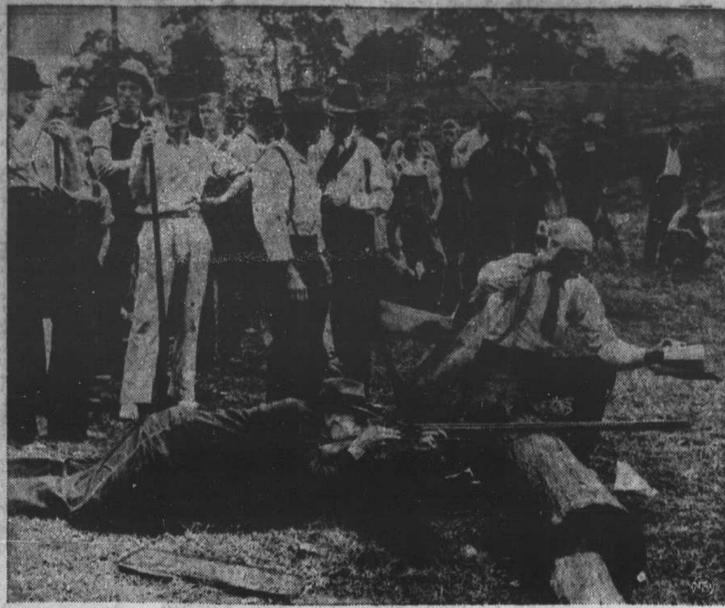

New England's chain of defense air bases, he said yesterday during an inspection tour, will be given first priority in the building of adequate defense of trained men and planes.

This field, he said, will be base of one of the strongest assemblies for defense in the nation. General Arnold termed the Panama Canal as America's lifeline and said it probably was the only defense area at present that will exceed Westover field.

New airports will be constructed at Hampton and Jacksonville on the East coast.

Henry Young is spending the weekend in Waterbury with his wife, Mrs. Margaret Young.

Mountain Shootin' Match

THE SHOOTIN'... Friend shields sight as old-timer takes aim at one-inch black square 60 yards away.

THE PRIZE... Steer is sold.

Ashville, N. C., July 11.—There may be more shooting in Europe today, but you can bet it isn't as straight as that a bunch of old-time hog rifle experts showed out at Fire Top Mountain the other day. Tale of marksmanship at muzzle-loading rifle matches years back are legend all through the Great Smokies, so Tom Alexander staged a revival of the matches for the ancient sharpshooters at his Catalouchie ranch. He and 150 others weren't disappointed at what they saw. Well worn were the traditional prizes, the four quarters of a steer. The old-timers shot boxes out of things all day and then square danced until midnight.

Red Cross Appeals For More Volunteers

Large Assignment of Garments Received—St. John's CYO to Convene Monday Evening

WATERTOWN

Watertown, July 12.—An urgent appeal has been sent out by the local Red Cross for anyone who can help to aid the workers. An unusually large assignment of garments has been received, and the need for workers to help complete these is imperative.

Although most church organizations adjourn their meetings for the summer months, some of these are continuing to meet this summer for the sole purpose of sewing for the Red Cross. Some of these women meet quite regularly at the Red Cross sewing rooms Tuesdays and Thursdays. The cutters have been most loyal in their services, and dresses, shirts, layettes and many other articles are ready for the workers to complete.

Anyone who can not come to the Red Cross rooms in the Christ Church parish house to sew, may take the articles home to finish. One need not be an expert seamstress to help, as many of the articles are done by machine. The need for help is so great that it is hoped most earnestly that anyone who can handle a needle or a machine will come forward to offer her services to our local Red Cross in this time of emergency. The rooms at the parish house are open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a. m. on.

PRICES ON FOOD ARE GOING HIGHER

Hartford, Conn., July 12.—(UP)—The cost of food has risen at least 10 per cent since June, 1940, according to a survey of Miss Catherine Campans, home economist for the Family Service Society.

Miss Campans said potatoes had gone up 14 to 20 cents a peck; eggs 12 and one-half cents a dozen; milk one cent a quart and butter four cents a pound. Meat prices advanced proportionately.

As result, she said, the food budget of a family of five, with a small income, would be increased about a dollar a week, and such families would be required to use the cheaper cuts of meat, cold storage eggs and to use canned milk in cooking.

FINANCIAL AID ASSURED CITIES

New Legislation Provides Support for Dependent Children

Storrs, Conn., July 12.—Every town in Connecticut will eventually obtain financial relief through the operation of the Aid to Dependent Children plan adopted by the 1941 general assembly. State Welfare Commissioner Robert J. Smith said in a radio discussion today.

Commissioner Smith said that "three or four times as many" children will receive support through this program as now are benefitted by the Connecticut Widows' Aid payments. These children, in large part, will come from town relief rolls.

The welfare commissioner, with Assistant Professor Rex J. Morthland of the University of Connecticut and Richard Martin of the staff of the Government Research Institute of Hartford, took part in a radio discussion over Station WTIC on "Town Financial Problems." Frank Atwood, director of the weekly radio programs of the University of Connecticut Extension Service, led the discussion.

General relief in Connecticut is now down 80 per cent from a year ago the welfare commissioner said, and is about one-third of what it was at the depth of the depression. This fact alone means a large saving in the town budget.

On the other hand, Mr. Martin pointed out, the defense program means increasing demands for services in those towns where defense activity is concentrated, and means higher costs for materials purchased by all towns. There is also considerable demand for increased wages of municipal employees, he said, and some towns and cities have granted increases.

Professor Morthland announced plans for a discussion of "Town Financial Problems" as part of the University's Farm and Home Week program, Tuesday, July 29.

NAVAL RECRUITERS TREBLING REPORTS

Weekly Quota of Connecticut Increased to 32; Opportunities Stressed

Doubling its weekly quota of recruits, officials of the Navy Recruiting Service are combing every town, village and hamlet in Connecticut for young Americans over 17, who have not yet learned that there is a National Emergency upon us and that they are sorely needed at the point of thirty-two men a week to fill the billets in ships, stations and at bases which are cropping up like mushrooms after a heavy rain.

Recruiters stationed in New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport, New London, South Norwalk, Waterbury, Danbury, Torrington, Norwich and Willimantic, have trebled their efforts in the past few days in bringing home the point to the youth of Connecticut that they not only can serve their country, but also prepare themselves for a livelihood in civilian life when this emergency is passed.

Lieut. Walter F. Hincley, the officer in charge of the advance naval reserve recruiting activities in Connecticut declared today that, now, more than ever before, young Americans must hear and answer the call to serve in our armed forces. It is common knowledge that the navy is always in the advance guard extending its strong arms beyond our continental shores to see that any prospective foe shall be kept away from the Americas.

"Join the Navy and See the World" is no longer a mere catch word. Young Americans should realize that when they enter the naval service they are defending their homes, their parents and all the things they love and cherish, against any future invader who might attempt to gain a foothold here in the United States.

Young men 17 years of age or over may enlist now either in the naval reserve for the duration or in the regular navy for six years. There is also a place for men under 50 years, who are skilled in a trade or who have yachting experience. They must all naturally be physically and in all other respects qualified. The best way to find out, concluded Lieut. Hincley, is to call at one of the navy recruiting stations.

DEVENS TROOPS GONE SOMEWHERE

Fort Devens, Mass., July 12.—(U.P.) Approximately 6,000 soldiers, members of the 16th and 28th infantries, were enroute from Fort Devens today for an unannounced destination in the largest troop movement from this fort since the present emergency was declared.

The mass movement was begun unexpectedly at dusk last night. The men left in special trains. Army officials refused to reveal any information regarding their departure. It was believed the troops were bound for southern maneuvers, but it also was reported the soldiers were off for Puerto Rico or Iceland.

Jehovah Witness Arrested Here By FBI Agent

John Ericchetti, 25, of 179 Hill street, local member of the Jehovah Witnesses, religious sect, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman James Magner and Mr. Skeffington, a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New Haven.

The local man was taken into custody on a charge of refusing to take the physical examination for selective service requirements. He has given as reasons for his refusal the explanation that members of his cult are "duly ordained ministers of religion," although local draft board U.S.A. has maintained that no certification of his ministerial status exists.

The arrest took place yesterday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 2, and the object was taken to city jail, where he awaits a hearing either before U. S. Commissioner Milton Goss in Waterbury, or the Federal authorities in Hartford.

If he is found to be available for military duty, and still persists in his refusal, he will probably be transferred to a camp for conscientious objectors.

FARMER'S BUYING POWER UP IN '41

Gain in Farm Income Offsets Increase in Prices He Buys At

Government benefit payments to the farmers in April dropped to $50,000,000 from $65,000,000 in the same month last year. The reduction in benefit payments, however, was not sufficient to offset the gain in
