MERELY MENTIONED.

☞ The Philadelphia Scientific Journal says that "Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, are so well and extensively known all over this continent, that to name them and explain the nature of their business would be superfluous. No newspaper Advertising Agency has ever displayed more energy and skill in the transaction of this delicate and tact-requiring business."

☞ BARGAINS! BARGAINS!—It is a matter of no little satisfaction to all gentlemen of good taste that there is such an excellent tailoring establishment in Wilmington, as that located at 410 King street, conducted by John H. Muhlhausen, a gentleman fully up to the times and capable of suiting the most fastidious tastes, whether grave or gay. Mr. M., has had 20 years experience and has a large number of customers among our best-dressed people. At the present time he invites persons who would like some extraordinary bargains in winter goods to give him a call.

Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in market.

☞ Chapped Hands, face, rough skin, pimples, ringworm, salt-rheum, and other cutaneous affections cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the Juniper Tar Soap, made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. ☞ Extensive Furniture Store.—The attention of the public is called to the very large and varied stock of furniture of J. & J. N. Harman, No. 410 King street. There is nothing equal to it in the State of Delaware, and persons wanting furniture for office or dwelling can doubtless be accommodated by this old and reliable firm. They make their own goods and sell at prices as low as the best houses in the large cities.

—Building Felt.—We have been very much interested in examining samples of this Felting sent us by Mr. C. Fay, Camden, N. J. It is highly recommended for covering the outside of buildings, and inside instead of plaster, no tar substance so objectionable, being used. It has great strength, and resembles fine leather. Mr. Fay manufactures from this felting, floor covering painted in various neat designs. For descriptive circular, price list and samples, send two stamps.—N. J. Republican.

☞ The Almanac Publishers complain that their business is destroyed by Ayer's American Almanac. The people prefer it to any other, the Farmer's, Western, Southern or the numerous local almanacs when they can get Ayer's. It is supplied gratis by the druggists, and should be preserved for constant reference and use. SURPRISE PARTY.—Last evening a surprise party, twenty-two strong, visited Mr. B. Frank Townsend's, on the South Side, and spent a very pleasant evening. It was an utter surprise, and the state of affairs could scarcely be comprehended when so many forms alighted from McMullen & Seal's coach.

BANK ELECTION.—G. H. Wright has been re-elected President of the Farmers' Bank of the State of Delaware, at Georgetown, and James Anderson cashier. The following are the Directors for the current year: G. H. Wright, James Ponder, W. W. Dashiell, W. H. Ross, Edwin R. Paynter, Harbeson Hickman. On the part of the State—Wm. D. Waples, Loxley R. Jacobs and J. T. Moore.

FARMERS' FIRE INSURANCE CO.—At the election for Managers of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company, yesterday, the following gentlemen were elected: Jesse Sharpe, E. C. Stotsenburg, Joseph Bringhurst, Wm G. Gibbons, Samuel McClary, Jr., Samuel N. Pusey, Charles Warner, C. B. Ellison, Charles T. Fleming, Samuel Bancroft, Jr., John P. Cochran, George Z. Tybout, Wm Cummins M. D., Benjamin Burton, Manlove Hayes, John F. Williamson, Benj. F. Fooks.

SWINDLING R. R. PASSENGERS.—A party of New York or Philadelphia "sharpers" have for some time past been extending their visits down through the Peninsula. They travel around on the roads, plying their vocation of swindling any one whom they can dupe. The way it is done, is to get on speaking terms with an intended victim, get very social, then propose a game of three-card-monte, and by this means rob the deluded "innocent." Last week, a man from down the State, lost $95 by those scoundrels, and another man was only saved from ruin, on the afternoon train north, on the Delaware Railroad yesterday, by the interference of the conductor, who put an end to the gambling.

FELL THROUGH A BRIDGE.—On Saturday a locomotive belonging to the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad broke through a bridge near Bridgewater station, on the Chester Creek Road. The locomotive had been detached from a regular train for the purpose of running a freight car into a quarry, to which the track crossed Chester creek on a bridge about fifteen feet high. When the locomotive reached the middle of the bridge the truss irons broke, the rails and timbers snapped and the locomotive and tender dropped into the creek. Thomas Chandler, the engineer, Mr. Pollock, the fireman and a trackmaster went down with the engine, but fortunately all escaped with but slight injuries. The locomotive was badly smashed.

SURGICAL OPERATION.—On Saturday, the physicians attendant upon Mrs. Fritz, performed a surgical operation upon her fractured limb, to remove a piece of bone which was believed to hinder the healing of the wound created by the crushing of the bone. The operation was very painful, but the patient was under the influence of chloroform. If the wound still refuses to heal, or inflammation should set in, the limb will have to be amputated.

We may state in this connection, that Mr. Chas. E. Fritz will be permitted, it is expected, to arise from his bed, which he has not left since the accident, sometime this week. He has been lying flat upon his back ever since the day after he was injured, except when he was lifted from his bed to set his hip. All statements regarding his lameness or eventual recovery are mere conjectures. Nothing definite can be determined until he gets out of bed.

COMMISSIONS APPOINTED.—George Richardson, E. Tatnall Warner, George Thompson, George Ball and Jason Davis have been appointed on three seperate commissions, to assess the damages on opening and widening Pennsylvania avenue, from Van Buren to Scott streets. The property holders are as follows: First commission, James Bradford, James Smith, John Walker and Simon Rowe; second commission, Wm. H. Naff; third commission, Wm. H. Naff, John B. Newman, Leander F. Riddle, trustee. Three commissions, meet on the 16th at 10 o'clock A. M., and make returns on or before the 18th.

Wm. S. Hilles, Wm. H. Pierce, George C. Hanson, Dr. Jacob Derrickson, and Giles Lamborn, a commission to assess damages on widening Vandever avenue, from Market street to the line of Wm. Thatcher's property. The property to be assessed belongs to H. M. Granville and Wm. H. Baldwin. Meet on the 16th and make a return on the 18th.

AFTER A BURGLAR—AN EXCITING CHASE.—For some time past, the vigilance of the police has not been equal to the emergency of arresting the burglar or burglars who have been operating so extensively around the city. A few nights since a shoe store, kept by Mr. Lafferty, at 6th and Tatnall streets, was robbed, and yesterday the perpetrator was discovered and a chase ensued, which ended in the escape of the party. The search was not to be given up so readily, and four officers went out on the New Castle train, yesterday afternoon, to a farm house along the railroad, just below the Christiana bridge. As the officers left the train, the thief left the house on a full run across the swamp, the policemen following. A shot from a revolver only had the effect to increase the speed of the refugee. It was an exciting chase as witnessed from the train; made more so, by two gunners joining the officers in the pursuit. The burglar led the way across the creek, through Folly Woods, on past Newport, and around by Fell's spice mills, near which point the officers lost sight of him, and the chase ended for the time. The burglar is a colored man, and is considered the most expert in his line of business of any one ever coming under the notice of our officers. In his escape, yesterday, he was barefooted and when out of sight was tracked by the bare foot marks. Of the sixteen pair of boots and shoes stolen from Mr. Lafferty, some five or six pairs were found at the house out the railroad, known as New Liberia.

Sale of Silver Plated Ware and Cutlery, at Ogle & Miller Rooms, will continue for three days longer, and will positively close on Thursday evening, January 16th. Those desirous of securing bargains, would do well to attend the sale. Among the goods there are some beautiful designs of the very latest patterns. The sale has been very satisfactory and well attended throughout. Sales commence at 10, 2.30 and 7½ P. M., each day. Seats arranged for ladies who wish to attend the sale.

Letters from the People.

AN INSURANCE INQUIRY.

To the Editor of the Commercial:

Being a member of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Wilmington, whose policies are duly advertised to expire on Monday, 13th inst., unless renewed, and having received an Annual Statement of its finances for the year 1872, ending Dec. 31st, I wish to ask a few questions of the Managers, through the COMMERCIAL.

1st, Since they advertise an error of $360,152 in their cash statement, how are the member not accessible to the books to know the present statement is correct?

2d, If the value of Insurance notes is $738,-221, at what rate of interest do they reach the annual payments of members to be $35,672,91?

3d, In making up the Expense account, could they not, instead of lumping the matter, as usually give to the public actual amount of each officer's salary, number of agents and their commissions, cost of printing, &c., taxes, pay of managers, &c.? It would be far more satisfactory to us country people than this lumping the thing.

Another item: Amount loaned on endorsed notes $17,452.01. About one year or eighteen months ago, a gentleman from Newark, who has been a member of the company since its commencement, called at the Company's office, asking a loan of $2000 for 60 days, to be continued on call, requiring but two weeks notice to pay back, offering an endorsed Judgment Bond. The parties represented nearly $100,000 of actual property. The Officers of the Company told him they did not do that sort of business. If so, from whence comes the amount loaned on endorsed notes, less two doubtful notes, and who are the parties with whom the Company do this sort of business? Are they the paid Managers?

Moral Reform—To All Lovers of Good Order.

To the Editor of the Commercial:

I would, through you, especially address myself to those who have sons and daughters, and not to those only, but to all lovers of their race and to all lovers of good order. Indeed, the whole community are interested in the subject I am about to bring to the in notice—fathers who have sons, sons who have brother, brothers who have sisters, and wives and daughters, perhaps more than all others are interested in the suppression of intemperance.

It is said that Temperance is a hackneyed subject, and well may it be said. It has been preached, written, and sung, for over forty years, to my knowledge. Temperance societies have risen and declined, and the veterans that organized them have died in the harness and gone to their reward. Other organizations have followed and we are still preaching and praying for the millenium when drunkenness shall cease. But drunkard making goes on. The old organizations were followed by the Sons of Temperance, who have rescued thousands from a drunkard's life, and a drunkard's death. Then we have the Good Templars, who have also reclaimed thousands of inebriates, and have interested in the career of humanity other thousands who did not particularly need such influence, but united in the cause for the benefit of others, giving their precious time and money that other men's sons might be saved from the blighting influence of the intoxicating cup.

And yet, with all this influence, labor, and treasure, the rum mills can manufacture drunkards faster than we can reclaim them. So say our Courts and Juries. The Grand Jury at the last session in New Castle county, says that crime is fearfully on the increase, and that they attribute it solely to the licensed and unlicensed sale of intoxicating liquor. Crime seems rampant, and criminals go unpunished. No man's life is safe. The most peacable citizen is liable to be assaulted by some vagabond, crazed with strychnine whiskey. But a few days ago, an officer in the discharge of his duties in the streets of Philadelphia, was assaulted by a vagabond, who procured a pistol and shot him down as though he were a dog. Immediately the man that sold him the whiskey testifies that he was at that time drunk, and half a dozen others of the same ilk testify that when drunk he acts queer, and forsooth, is "insane." And if he or his friends have wealth and influence, some legal gentleman will prove to the jury that he was insane, and the jury so convinced, will turn him out, to get queer again and kill some other good citizen. And so we have one continued succession of crime, which may about all be traced to its origin in drinking.

And must this infernal traffic forever continue? Must this be the inheritance of unborn generations, who must, under such influence, of necessity degenerate, and go on the back-track of Darwinism, until they become pigmies, or apes, or baboons, or worse than that? Some brutes in men's clothing, of the present day, are more fitted to associate with hyenas, than respectable apes. The criminal calendar of every city in the Union will furnish samples of the insane brutes, almost every day in the week.

Now if a man who is sane when sober becomes insane when drunk, the responsibility rests somewhere for making him drunk. If he is irresponsible, the person who sold him the liquor should be placed in the dock, and tried for making him insane. "But," says he, "I have a license for doing just that thing. Those who gave me the licence knew the result that would follow, when they legalized my business, and it would be a queer law that would give a man authority for doing a certain thing and then punish him for doing it. I plead innocence and so plead the whole fraternity."

Now what right, (morally, at least,) has one set of men to license another set of men to make your son, my son, and the sons of all other men drunkards? I maintain that such a system is wrong, and being wrong we ask that it be righted.

It is said that there is a point when forbearance ceases to be a virtue, and this then is a time in the history of men and nations when revolutions are justified. Now, we do not propose a revolution at arms, but we want this whole business revolutionized in a legal way; we want crime repressed, murders less frequent, life and property better secured. To do this, the liquor traffic, if not entirely prohibited, must be greatly reduced.

The Moral Reform Association, at their meeting in July last, passed a resolution, the substance of which was—That we petition the next Legislature, for the passage of a law which would require every person applying for license to sell intoxicating liquors to have attached to his petition a majority of the legal voters residing in the town, ward, or district where such petitioner wished to sell liquor, and that the name of the petitioner and the names of those signing the petition should be published sixty days before the sitting of the Court from which the license is to be granted, when all the requirements of the law had been met. This would allow the majority to rule, and although we might wish a more radical law, we would be satisfied to give it a fair trial, with suitable machinery for its execution.

The present seems to be a propitious time to ask for such a law. The Legislature is composed of men from both political parties. Let us have petitions out and numerously signed, and laid before the Legislature, and ask that there be a committee appointed, composed of members of both political parties, to draft a bill embodying the above, or some more stringent feature, and then we hope that enough would vote for it to make it a law, with penalties attached for its violation, and machinery for its execution.

Why should not our leading men of all parties give their influence to the passage of such an act? If they have no sons or daughters to be injured by intemperance, other men have, and it is the duty of every good citizen to do all that he can for the good of all classes of the community, and there is nothing in my opinion, they can do, that would more promote the happiness of thousands, than by the suppression of Intemperance, either by law or otherwise.

I am glad in my heart that one of our U. S. Senators so clearly condemned the use of liquor by banishing it from his board, at his reception. It gave no offence to any. He should, and I hope will, as emphatically condemn its legalized sale by using his influence with the Legislature, for the passage of some good and wholesome law. He should do this, for he owes his seat in the U. S. Senate to his temperance principles. I was at heart one of the men, if not the man, who started him on the political ladder, by nominating him as a representative of the temperance men, in the Legislature. He was elected as such and could not have been elected, as a Democrat, on any other issue. I hope he will remember this.
