

Johanna was lying on her back, knees drawn up a little, hands under her head. He could not turn his eyes away