DETROIT, Mich., July 19.—Roscoe Miller changed his mind and Manager Manning is very sorry for it. The big pitcher swore that he was done with the Detroits because he was yanked out of the game Wednesday and Yeager sent to bat for him, but he changed his mind last evening and was as meek as a lamb when he stalked out to the slab this afternoon in the presence of a grandstand full of ladies.

He had patched up his differences with the club and it seemed to lend new energy to his work, as he has seldom pitched a finer game. His change of pace was in fine working order and the Senatorial sluggers did not do much besides knock grounders to the infield and then retire, in marked contrast with Miller's work was the ineffectiveness of Carrick, who was hit hard and often by the Tigers, so that four innings were enough for them to cinch the victory.

Farrell and Foster hit Miller hard, but they were the only ones. The fielding was all right, excepting that of Carrick and Dungan, who contributed their share to the disaster. Barrett, Gleason, Casey, and Nance did the batting for the home crowd and Gleason and Elberfeld were careful guardians of things on either side of second.

In the fourth Crockett hit Miller over the right eye by a pitched ball and badly cut. He was some time stanching the flow of blood, but went back and played the game out as though nothing had happened.

President Johnson was in the stand looking at the game. This morning he had a long talk with President Postal and Manager Manning, but it was only on general matters.

Detroit did not wait long. Casey starting with a three-bagger and scoring on Barrett's out, in the third Gleason and Elberfeld hit safely, and Nance lined out a two-bagger, scoring both and getting on Crockett's hit. The next was also productive, Casey going to third on Dungan's hit and Barrett scoring when Carrick fumbled Barrett's bunt. Gleason singled and Elberfeld walked, filling the bases. A run was forced in when Carrick hit Crockett on the head. The last one was made on a force play, which gave Holmes a base. He stole another, and Barrett hit safely.

Washington got going in the fifth when Foster hit the three sacks and scored on a play. In the seventh Foster, Coughlin and Quinn hit in succession, filling the bags with nobody out. Clingman forced Quinn, scoring Foster, and Carrick sent one to Elberfeld, who worked in a fast double play, and put the Senators out of it. Farrell's three-bagger in the eighth was followed by Dungan's out, scoring him. The score:

PLANK WINS HIS GAME.

Out-Pitched by Husting, But Received Better Support.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—The Philadelphias took the third in the series from Milwaukee this afternoon. It was a pitchers' battle between Husting for the local team and Plank for the visitors. Husting pitched and fielded the better game, but poor playing on the part of the Brewers in the sixth inning lost the game. With the exception of that one inning, the Quakers made few chances to score, but Gilbert's step off Plank's bit over the second base being the feature of the game. The score:

A HOT TIME FOR EMSLIE.

Pittsburg Fans Take Exception to the Umpire's Ruling.

PITTSBURG, July 19.—An exciting game which Brooklyn won through the stupidity of Poole in the second inning ended in a noisy denunciation of Umpire Emslie. In the ninth inning Clarke tried to steal second and the umpire, who was standing near the base, called an out, ending the game. After that Chappell, for the Potomacs, was invincible, allowing but one more hit and striking out fourteen men. The features were a great catch, after a hard run, made by Taylor, a sensational catch by Madden in left, the playing of McGraw on first, and the phenomenal playing of Rixton at third, having nine chances accepting them all, and figuring in two double plays. The Potomacs would like to arrange a game with all teams of importance in and about Washington. Address Michael Sexton, 218 N Street southwest.

CHAMPION BEATS NELSON.

Following the Black Demon Motor, the Frenchman Wins by a Lap.

His Opponent, a World's Record Holder, Unable to Use Pacemakers to Advantage—Spectators Greatly Enthused—The Amateur Contests.

Fournier's big black motor machine and bad judgment on the part of the little Swede last night combined to defeat Johnny Nelson in his twenty-mile paced race with Albert Champion, the speedy Frenchman. The contest was won by only a few hundred yards, and until the thirteenth mile was a magnificent struggle, both men gaining and losing by inches. In the fatal thirteenth Nelson seemed to dislike his pace and after losing it several times compelled the machine to slow up until he had a chance to sex himself at his leisure. The bad work of the motor seemed to annoy the rider, who holds several world's records, and in a seeming spell of huffiness he permitted Champion to gain a whole lap. This lost him the race, as he never passed the Frenchman's machine by more than three lengths at any stage of the balance of the contest.

Nearly 3,000 persons witnessed the race and made such a demonstration as might convince the most skeptical that paced racing had gained a big hold in this city. Both of the contenders in the big event had bad luck at the outset, as a chain snapped on the Fournier motor and a pin came loose on the machine which paced Nelson. While no records were broken, the time made was good and an average gait of 1.35 per mile was maintained throughout the race.

Nelson caught his pace first and the two fast riders fought for position without changing place for thirteen miles. After Nelson had lost a lap he went after Champion and caught him. He even passed him, but only to set the pace. Fournier, who operated the contending motor, seemed to be able to get less than one mile a minute out of the 'black demon" any time he turned a spigot. He refused to let the struggling Swede get away from the front wheel of Champion's motor. It was a grand struggle, but without effect, as the contestants finished almost abreast and Nelson had not regained the lost lap.

The big crowd cheered both men again and again, and excitement reigned while the daring motor operators took chances and made hair-raising turns. It seemed to be a fact that with an even break Nelson would have won by a few inches, as he seemed able to hold his place until he changed his pace. Champion rode a splendid race, but it was Fournier's pacing which carried him through. The Frenchman is unique in that he rides a wheel with the front forks reversed. This enables him to lay his head on the shoulder of the rear man on the machine. The amateur events were all well contested and aroused much interest. The fields were all large. There were several spills, but no rider was injured. The summaries:

SURPRISES FOR OARSMEN.

Westerners and Canadians Triumph on the Schuylkill.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—Canadian and Western oarsmen triumphed on the Schuylkill today in the first half of the twenty-ninth annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. A slice of the glory went to New England through the efforts of Ten Eyck and Lewis, while the Vespers managed to win the senior pair race after a hard fight with a plucky pair from Detroit.

New Yorkers gathered in final heats, some of which are to be decided tomorrow, but in the intermediate eight-oared race the New York Athletic crew that managed to squeeze in the final heat made a poor showing against the three other competitors.

It was a day of surprises and sensations, the greatest being the defeat of the noted Vesper four-oared crew by the Western Rowing Club crew of St. Louis. The Western eight gained a decisive victory in the intermediate race. They received columns of cheers from those on board their many craft.

THE MISSING FROM THE ASYLUM.

Anthony Mesner's Disappearance Causes His Mother Anxiety.

No trace has yet been found of Anthony Mesner, forty years old, who disappeared about a month ago from St. Elizabeth's Asylum for the Insane, where he was at one time a patient. Just prior to his disappearance he was employed about the grounds at a small salary. It is now thought he may be demented and have wandered away from the city or possibly have met with an accident.

Mrs. Mesner, mother of the missing man, who keeps a small grocery in Southeast Washington, called at Headquarters late yesterday afternoon for a second time to ask that the police press the search for her son. She said she had heard that he had been down the river about ten days ago, but had since been unable to hear of his whereabouts. Mesner, as described to the police, is five feet six inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, and has light hair and blue eyes.

AMATEUR BASEBALL PLAYERS.

The Congressionals' reputation as ball players was badly damaged on Friday in a snappy and well-played game by the Potomacs, who beat them by the score of 5 to 1. The Congressionals scored their only run in the first inning on four singles. After that Chappell, for the Potomacs, was invincible, allowing but one more hit and striking out fourteen men. The features were a great catch, after a hard run, made by Taylor, a sensational catch by Madden in left, the playing of McGraw on first, and the phenomenal playing of Rixton at third, having nine chances accepting them all, and figuring in two double plays. The Potomacs would like to arrange a game with all teams of importance in and about Washington. Address Michael Sexton, 218 N Street southwest.

The War Department baseball team and the nine representing the Treasury Department will cross bats at 4 p.m. this afternoon. The impending contest has aroused a good deal of rivalry between the two departments and rooters for both teams are expected to be out in force.

The Orioles, who claim to be a strong team, were yesterday defeated by the B. & O. Stars by the score of 5 to 2. The features of the game were the fine pitching of Callan, whose fantastic curves struck out eight men, and the fine batting of the Stars. The B. & O. Stars would like to hear from all teams averaging sixteen years. Send challenges to H. Penchun, manager, 806 New Jersey Avenue northwest. The score by innings:

B. & O. Stars ... 2 0 2 1 3—R. H. E.
Orioles ... 1 0 0 0 1 0—2 3 4
