

MISSING GEMS RECOVERED

Diamonds Stolen Here Found in Baltimore by Local Detectives.

Arrest of the Alleged Thief, Reported to Be the Son of a Pittsburg Millionaire—His Companion Detained—A Trangle Unraveled by the Police.

The theft of $2,000 worth of diamond jewelry last Tuesday morning from the house kept by Kate Anderson on C Street northwest was cleared up yesterday.

The arrests were made by Detectives Horne and Browne, of this city, assisted by Detective James Dick, of Baltimore.

Acting upon this clue, Miss Stuart was taken to accompany Detective Sergeant Keweenaw to the headquarters of the police.

At first Snyder denied his identity, but the room was thoroughly searched until the gems were discovered hidden beneath the springs of the bed.

White at the Hotel Johnson he represented that he was the promoter of the Hotel Supply Company.

AN ENQUIRY INTO THE PROTOCOL

Mr. Hay Wishes to Know the Exact Date of the Signing.

Secretary Hay sent a cablegram to Commissioner W. W. Rockhill, in Peikin, yesterday afternoon, requesting him to advise the State Department of the exact possible moment of the date fixed upon for the signing of the final protocol.

The date at first agreed upon was August 11, the anniversary of the relief of Peikin by the allied armies.

Shortly after the start the breeze freshened, but soon got fluky and heeled and backed a couple of points each way.

At first Snyder denied his identity, but the room was thoroughly searched until the gems were discovered hidden beneath the springs of the bed.

White at the Hotel Johnson he represented that he was the promoter of the Hotel Supply Company.
