No Strike Settlement. A despatch yesterday from Indianapolis stated that Simon Burns, Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, had returned to that city, and announced that the plan of arbitration to settle the steel strike had been rejected by President Schwab.

The New Zealand Arbitration Law. The grave injury to the general business of the country, and to labor which has resulted from the steel strike, has led to a discussion of means to avert such conflicts between capital and labor not only timely, but almost necessary.

That Undecided Philippine Case. There is considerable speculation as to what the decision of the Supreme Court will be in the Philippine case, which the law officers of the Government have at all times claimed is exactly parallel with the Downes case.

Dr. Andrews on Veracity. Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, has been lecturing on "Veracity," and giving voice to arguments which are so ethical in character.

PERSONAL. Queen Alexandra has ordered a special "voiturette" to be made for presentation to the Dowager Empress of Russia.

PERSONAL. The Russians have always been celebrated for their courtesy and hospitality. A curious example of this is furnished by a lady who has just returned from Constantinople.

PERSONAL. The Steel Trust may feel more like conferring again, when it has worked off its products on the riding market. So far, probably, it has not lost much—Indianaapolis News.

PERSONAL. An unfortunate fact in that connection is that Mr. Knox stands for the Administration in an exceedingly unfortunate attitude. The probability is he will never be appointed to the position which he holds.

PERSONAL. The tariff outlook. President McKinley is expected to return to Washington early in September. There are many demands requiring attention. Unless a diversion can be effected by the roundabout method of reciprocity treaties there will be a serious effort to revise the Dingley tariff.

either justifiable or necessary, but there can be no dissent from the view that the story of Maximilian and "poor Carlotta" is one of the saddest and most touching to be found in the pages of all history.

Maximilian was a kindly and well-meaning man, and when, in the midst of our own great civil war, Louis Napoleon determined to set up an Empire in Mexico, the Austrian Archduke was selected as the first Emperor.

But with the close of the American war the United States asserted the Monroe Doctrine in a manner that amazed the world. The French Government was advised that the longer continuance of its army in Mexico would be regarded as an act of hostility to the American Republic.

The execution opened a diplomatic rift between Austria and Mexico that for a third of a century was never closed. But as the years have come and gone they have had their softening influence.

Perhaps the easiest way to stop it would be to make a grocer liable for selling adulterated goods, and send a food inspector around at intervals to test his wares.

The late Bishop of Oxford was generally recognized as a very serious man. Only his intimate friends know that he had a fine sense of humor, though some stories are best left to the collector.

There will shortly be unveiled at Edinburgh a monument to the famous Russian heroine, Nadzhda Dourova, probably the only woman who bore an officer's commission in arms.

Uncle Sam's receipts from the sale of lots in the new town in Oklahoma will amount to $700,000. The way to the money in the real estate business is to grab land by the square mile from the Indians by the foot.

Whatever else it may do, the Hanna boom in Virginia will not be likely to break the solid South—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Gen. Fred Grant says the Philippines are quick to see a joke. As the principle of surprise is surprising, considering the fact that they have had and they are still using the faculty—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Steel Trust may feel more like conferring again, when it has worked off its products on the riding market. So far, probably, it has not lost much—Indianaapolis News.

An unfortunate fact in that connection is that Mr. Knox stands for the Administration in an exceedingly unfortunate attitude. The probability is he will never be appointed to the position which he holds.

Adulterated Foods. There is an interesting display of pure and adulterated food products at the Pan-American Exposition. It is the work of the Department of Agriculture, and shows the dyes, impurities, and poisons used by unscrupulous manufacturers.
